Spur Production

Small testified the money might be used in many ways to stimulate the production of materials that go into house building. He cited "premium payments" to a plant for overtime operations as one.

"Such payments might be made to help an industry build new plants which would not appear to be economically feasible in the normal course of business," he added.

"They might be used to induce small operators to increase their production by adding new or more modern equipment which they couldn't afford to buy themselves."

Acting Chairman Barkley (D-Ky.) read into the record a letter from the national congress of parents and teachers endorsing the subsidy proposal, and also ceiling prices on existing houses.

As the administration thus applied fresh pressure to its homes-for-veterans program it ran into a republican contention that part of it is a "pork barrel" scheme.

Extension Of Draft Urged By Hershey

WASHINGTON, March 28 (P) Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey told congress today the draft law must be extended if the army is to get the 600,000 men it needs in the next 12 months.

Major General Hershey estimated that the army requires about 50,000 men monthly but can obtain only one-fifth of that number through enlistments if the selective service law is permitted to lapse on May 15.

He was the first witness as the senate military affairs committee began two weeks of public hearings, decided upon after the committee deadlocked 8-8 on the administration's request for a year's extension of the draft.

As Hershey began reading a prepared statement calling attention to mobilization of 14,000,000 men during the war and peacetime "commitments at home and abroad," Chairman

Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) interrupted.

"Let's forget the commitments abroad and get right down to the question involved," Thomas said curtly.

Thomas, who has opposed extension of the draft, said he believed voluntary enlistments would provide all the men the armed forces need under present plans.

"We've broken all records for voluntary enlistments," Thomas said.

Hershey conceded this was true but asserted the reason was that thousands of young men volunteered only because they thus avoided being drafted. That will stop, Hershey said, if the selective service act is allowed to die.

3 Escaped Oregon Convicts Returned To Penitentiary

SALEM, March 28 (P)—Three escaped state prison convicts were in solitary confinement today after Deputy Prison Warden E. C. Halley brought them from Colorado and Idaho by automobile.

The men are Allen D. Brumfield, 31, serving life for murder in Multnomah county; Harold W. Manning, 25, serving a second sentence for burglary in Clackamas county, and Charles Breeden, 34, sentenced for burglary in Multnomah county.

Brumfield and Manning sawed their cell bars and escaped over the wall in a fog on February 14. They were recaptured two weeks ago by Denver police.

Breeden, a trusty at the prison farm, walked off last December 27, and was recaptured in Idaho. Halley said Brumfield and Manning denied committing any crimes while they were free, including the holdup of Arden Farms in Spokane, Wash. Employees who witnessed the holdup met the party in Pendleton yesterday. Halley said one girl tentatively identified Manning as a participant, while another thought Brumfield was one of the holdup men. Other employees failed to identify either one of them, Halley said.

Halley said he asked them where they got their money, and they replied they won it in gambling games.

Brumfield was originally sentenced for killing a nurse while he was under guard in a Portland hospital in 1939. He was being held under arrest and got
