

Bomb Dispute Ends In Truce

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—A compromise today ended a heated senate committee dispute over what voice the army and navy should have in controlling atomic power.

By unanimous action, the atomic energy committee wrote into a control bill an amendment establishing a "military liaison committee" to be appointed by the secretaries of war and navy.

The liaison committee would consult with the five-member atomic energy control commission on "all atomic energy matters which the committee deems to relate to military applications."

If the liaison group failed to agree with the commission's actions, it could so report to the secretaries of war and navy. If either secretary concurred, he could refer the matter to the president, whose decision would be final.

The amendment supplants the proposal by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) which was placed in the legislation by a 10-to-1 vote over the protest of Chairman McMahon (D-Conn.).

The new section differs chiefly from the Vandenberg draft in that the liaison committee would be appointed by and serve under the secretaries of war and navy, instead of the president. Also, their jurisdiction would be limited to strictly military applications of atomic energy.

Draft Extension Hearings Slated

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The house military committee today to reopen hearings on legislation designed to extend the draft law.

Two additional days of hearings starting tomorrow were set aside for opposition witnesses. Chairman May (D-Ky.) said the American Federation of Labor probably would lead off.

After voting to reopen the hearings over the objections of some members who had sought a showdown vote today, the committee decided to start closed sessions Friday in an effort to reach a final decision.

The committee already has heard supporters of draft extension in two days of testimony.

Indications were the group would recommend a nine or 10-month extension beyond May 15. The army has asked for one year continuance.

Waterfront Dispute Arbitration Off

PORTLAND, Ore., April 2 (AP)—Arbitration of a waterfront dispute on the number of men to be employed in car loading gangs in interstate terminals was postponed today until later in April.

The arbitrator, Rev. Thomas J. Tobin, was unable to begin the case as scheduled this week.

It is separate from the other waterfront dispute involving the numbers of checkers and supercargoes to be used on ships.

Horse-Drawn Hearses Given To Klamath County Museum

By JOY BIGGS
Two ancient horse-drawn hearses, the pride of Klamath Falls in 1906, were dragged from retirement in the old warehouse of the Klamath Lake Navigation company yesterday.

The antique vehicles, covered with dust and cobwebs of over three decades, were dragged out by a cable attached to a car, their high spidery wheels put on again to be taken to the fair grounds. They were acquired from Earl Whitlock by S. B. Evans and his son, Joe Evans, about three months ago, and have been donated to the Klamath museum commission.

In their time the high elongated vehicles were elegant with large plateglass windows, fringed curtains, satin upholstery and silver mountings. Many a historical figure of early Klamath basin days, now sleeping in the Linkville cemetery, took his last ride in one of these two hearses. Earl Whitlock, believed to be the first graduate mortician on the west coast, rode the high seat in front with the driver. He was arrayed with dignity in a tall black silk hat and long-tailed "directory" coat. A team of sleek ebony steeds drew the hearse.

The silver mountings will be put back on, a gift from Whitlock to the museum, where they will be on display to the public, as a symbol of a past era in the history of the Klamath basin. It is possible they will be used in the pageant planned for this year's centennial celebration commemorating the opening of the south road into Oregon a century ago.

The old warehouse built in 1903 was below the ticket office of the navigation company which served boats on the Klamath river and Lake Ewauna, bringing freight and passengers from Laird's Landing. It is being dismantled with the old Marshall house next door, which was operated by Mrs. Fred Noel for river pilots and visitors to Klamath Falls, then Linkville. Also Major Worden's old real estate office at 14 Main will be torn down.

These ancient landmarks are being removed to make way for new modern buildings which will be the business offices of the new Veterans Memorial park. This is the first activity toward establishing the park which will be a living memorial to veterans of World War 2.

Soviet Troops Leaving Iran

TEHRAN, April 2 (AP)—Approximately 300 Russian soldiers, apparently on their way out of Iran, went aboard ship today at the Caspian port of Bandar Shah in Asterbad province.

A Kurdish chieftain who arrived from Sanjbulugh, seat of the Ghazi Mohammed "independent republic of Kurdistan," said Russian troops also are withdrawing from the Miyan-daub area in western Iran and "are returning to Tabriz," Azerbaijan capital.

The wharves, bivouacs and the regular army camp at Bandar Shah appeared from a plane to be stirring with activity. In the narrow harbor, three empty 500-ton freighters with steam up awaited the departure from the single slip of a loaded cargo transport, jammed with troops staring unsmilingly up at an American plane which circled repeatedly above them.

Subsidies Back On Housing Bill

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—A senate banking subcommittee today approved $600,000,000 of building materials subsidies and price ceilings on existing homes.

It restored these two key provisions, rejected by the house, to the administration's emergency housing bill. President Truman called the subsidies the "very heart" of the legislation, which is aimed at promoting construction of 2,700,000 new homes in 1948 and 1947.

Chairman Barkley (D-Ky.) said there was no formal vote by the seven-member subcommittee.

Wife, Daughter Join Russian Spy Suspect

PORTLAND, Ore., April 2 (AP)—Lt. Nicola Gregorovich Redin, Russian naval officer charged with espionage, had his wife and small daughter with him today.

The family arrived here yesterday from Seattle. Redin is free on $10,000 bond pending resumption of the preliminary hearing as soon as he obtains an attorney.

U. S. Will Return Cuban Army Bases

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The state department has advised Cuba the United States will return all of its army stations on the island republic May 20.

Guillermo Belt, the Cuban ambassador, announced Secretary of State Byrnes told him of the decision in a note for his government.

This, Belt declared at a news conference yesterday, should end "malicious" assertions by some political groups in Cuba that Cuba and the United States were at odds over the bases.

Tavern Wager Nearly Fatal

GALEN, Mont., April 2 (AP)—War Veteran Buck Thompson, 23, of Bozeman was in serious condition in the State Tuberculosis hospital here today, after a piece of glass which he swallowed to win a beer hall bet, was removed from his throat.

Dr. F. I. Terrill removed the one-inch triangular object in a difficult operation, the second unusual surgery he had performed within a week.

Earlier he removed a screw from the lungs of two-year-old "Butch" Peterson of Lewistown.

Dr. Terrill said he was "amazed that Thompson could swallow such a large piece of glass," friends said he bet he could drink a glass of beer without touching the container with his hands. They said he swallowed the piece which broke off when Thompson grasped the glass with his teeth.

Supreme Court Reverses Decision

SALEM, April 2 (AP)—The state supreme court today reversed a Jackson county court judgment in a dispute over attorney fees in connection with the sale of mining property.

The suit was brought by Margaret B. Lund and L. M. Curl, her trustee, against George W.

Neilson, Circuit Judge H. K. Hanna ruled in favor of Neilson, but today's decision by Chief Justice Harry H. Belt reversed the judgment and ordered a new trial.

ALBANY, April 2 (AP)—Parking meters will be in operation here within two weeks.
