MEDFORD, Ore., April 10 (AP) Mrs. Clara May Hutcheson, 40, justly faced a murder charge in the slaying of her husband today, declaring that "I was forced to do what I did."

The farm woman, grandmother of a two-year-old boy, was arraigned late yesterday on a charge of first degree murder. The hearing was postponed until she obtains an attorney.

"I was forced to do what I did—I've gone through hell for the last 20 years," the black-and-white clad woman told a reporter. She declared she had wanted repeatedly to leave her 42-year-old husband, Fred, but was afraid.

Mrs. Hutcheson asserted that when her 21-year-old son was a baby of five months her husband touched a knife to the child's throat and told her: "See what's going to happen to you if you don't do what I want you to do."

"I've taken knives and guns from him more times than I can remember," she said, "even one gun that he was holding at his own mother's head." The mother, a deaf mute, lived with the Hutchesons at their Eagle creek farm.

Sheriff Howard Gault said Mrs. Hutcheson admitted shooting her husband Monday with a gun she had taken from him and concealed in her purse. He was found dying on the highway between here and the Hutcheson farm.
