Tree Planting Gets Underway

LAKEVIEW, April 9—Wednesday morning the forest service started tree planting with a crew of seven men, Forrest Jones in charge. About 27,000 Ponderosa pine two-year-old seedlings will be planted within the next week or two. The area being planted, about 35 acres, is southwest of the Dicks ranch in the old Dicks creek burn. This new plantation joins the 1932 and 1934 plantings. Eventually the forest service plans to get most of this old burn back into forest production. The disastrous fire of 1931 eliminated all trees from most of the area and there has been little natural restocking. Heavy brush has taken much of the old burn and made it into a waste area.

During the fall of 1941 local forest service men were busy in gathering tree seed, particularly from the Goodlow mountain and Cottonwood creek areas. This seed was sent to the Wind River nursery near Carson, Wash. These 27,000 trees were grown from the 1941 seed and so are acclimated to this particular area.
