

Tourist Accommodations To Open In Park June 15

Tourist accommodations at Crater lake will be available June 15, Charles W. Fyock, president and manager of the Crater Lake National Park company, announced today.

J. Carlisle Crouch, chief park ranger, and Daryl Palmer, equipment operator, accompanied Fyock on a survey through the park this week. Snow measurements taken showed a 14-foot snow depth at the rim, 11-foot depth at park headquarters and nine-foot depth at Annie Spring. Crouch said snow this year is heavier and more solid than he has ever seen it during the 10 years he has been with the park service.

The north roof of the three-story bunkhouse at headquarters is reported collapsed under the heavy burden of winter snow and the pump house for pumping water to the rim is completely demolished, while some of the other park buildings are in jeopardy. It was estimated that repairs on major damage would cost between $5000 and $6000.

Thomas C. Parker, assistant park superintendent, stated that reports will be immediately forwarded to Washington by the park service, recommending that funds be provided to open roads without delay and send in a crew to make repairs.

Buildings of the Crater Lake National Park company for serving tourists, were reported in fair shape in view of the long period that they have been closed. A maintenance crew will go in June 1 to make necessary repairs and preparations for the tourist trade. July 27, 1942, was the last day any of these buildings were open to visitors.

A larger tourist season than ever before is indicated for this year, Fyock said, by the unusual number of reservations that have been pouring in from all over the United States for the past two months. A large percentage of the reservations have been accompanied by checks, he said.

The Rim lodge will accommodate 300 persons and there are 30 cottages with adjacent cafeterias. Camping grounds are available to all visitors in national parks.

The CLNP bus line will commence operation from Grants Pass and Klamath Falls, June 1, making one round trip each day. Buses will leave here daily at 8 a. m., arrive at the lodge

Paratrooper Gets 20 Years

SEATTLE, May 1 (AP)—Dressed plainly in place of the uniform and campaign ribbons he wore through the trial, Einar Olson, 22-year-old paratrooper, was sentenced today to a maximum of 20 years for the first degree murder of Mrs. Marjorie Johnson, 38-year-old housewife.

"I have nothing to say, sir," he told Superior Judge Howard M. Findley.

He kissed his mother, Mrs. Esther Olson, an ex-Wac, when he appeared in court and the two laughed, as if sharing some confidence.

Olson accompanied Mrs. Johnson home from a west Seattle tavern late last January 19, she was later found beaten and stabbed to death.

Potatoes were not known in North America until after the middle of the 16th century, when they were brought to Virginia from Peru.
