

Morse Demands Action By Government To End Soft Coal Controversy

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Senator Morse (R-Ore.) called today for the government to "use such means as are at its disposal to bring about a fair and just settlement" of the soft coal strike.

He told a reporter he believed the failure of governmental, labor and business leaders to settle their disputes by voluntary arbitration was a "sad reflection" upon them.

"As I have said before," he said, "if a labor dispute in any field starts to endanger the public welfare and the parties thereto refuse to use voluntary procedures for the settlement of their differences, any government that deserves to bear the name of representing the public interests of its people, must take a hand and use such means as are at its disposal for bringing about a fair and just settlement of the controversy."

"The exercise of governmental intervention under such circumstances does not imperil the freedom and liberty of the workers of the employers but rather protects such rights because the exercise of such governmental authority becomes necessary to protect the common good which is for the good of all of us including labor."

Mayor Faces Angry Council

trupted to say that the reason the meeting had been called was to work out a more harmonious feeling and sense of cooperation between the council and the mayor. "If that's possible," added Landry, bitterly.

"It's the same old story, we aren't getting anywhere," shrugged Cantrell.

Hard Work

"I've worked harder as mayor than when I was in my own business," said Ostendorf, "and this is the thanks I get."

"And you're running it as if it were your own business," Landry declared.

Trying to inject a note of harmony into the heated discussion, Cantrell asserted that the council wants to help the mayor. "We have to put aside disunity," he stated. Ostendorf answered that the council started the argument, that he was perfectly willing to cooperate.

Cantrell pointed out the severe criticism to which the council had been subjected on matters he claimed were the mayor's responsibility for not keeping the council informed. As recent examples, he gave the parking meter question, the airport, and the ball park.

The mayor ended the discussion with the councilmen, who were little more satisfied than before the meeting, by saying that they would be invited to every committee meeting held, and minutes of every meeting would be sent to them. As a parting comment he added, "Then if you don't come and don't know what's going on, don't blame me."

Arbiter Tries Anew In Bus Deadlock

PORTLAND, May 8 (AP)—Another effort to work out a settlement in the Oregon Motor Stages strike will be made by the U. S. conciliation service, Conciliator H. H. Lewis said today.

Monday the company reiterated its statement that $1,271 an hour was the maximum it would pay over-the-road drivers. The union asked $1.30.

All differences between the company and the union relative to mass transportation within Salem and Eugene were settled several days ago but the contract also covers inter-city transportation where the wage dispute continues.

CHILOQUIN, May 8—Seven is a magic number and one's seventh birthday is something special, so Dianne Vandal of Chiloquin had several of her little friends in to help her celebrate hers last week.

CHILOQUIN, May 8—Father Peter Duignan of Baker has been the guest of Father M. F. Aherne in Chiloquin this past week. Father Duignan, a former Klamath Falls resident, has recently been discharged from the army, in which he held the rank of major. He was with the troops throughout the African and Italian campaigns.

Clair Taylor found his car not an amphibious model when he was on his way to Chiloquin from Sprague River Thursday, with Violet Morande as passenger.

The road was covered with water and when Mr. Taylor turned out to avoid a floating pole, the car took a quick dive, and the occupants an unexpected ducking. Taylor and Miss Morande waded out in water up to their shoulders and were taken back to Sprague River by passing bicyclists.

Mayor Tells Council About Swimming Site

Mayor Ed Ostendorf at yesterday afternoon's special council meeting explained to councilmen the action taken by the city recreation committee in recommending purchase of the Will Humphrey site on Main street, near the Soule property, as a location for a swimming pool and recreation center.

No action was taken by the council at this meeting. The recreation committee proposed paying $11,000 for the 2.28 acre site, which is the appraisal price set by the city appraisal committee. An artesian hot water well on the property enhances its value as location for a swimming pool, the mayor explained.

'Orphan' Fawns Must Not Be Picked Up

PORTLAND, May 8 (AP)—The state game commission issued a warning today for travelers not to pick up apparently "orphaned" fawns in the woods.

Most fawns which appear deserted are actually waiting for the mother doe to come back, the commission said. In cases which seem to require action, the game officer must be notified, according to law.

Fort Klamath

FORT KLAMATH, Ore., May 8—Mrs. Mary Lookey is visiting at the home of her son, Raymond S. Lookey.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rightmeier of Klamath Falls visited here Friday at the Frank Kendall and Jasper Nunnally homes. Mrs. Rightmeier arrived in New York on the SS Queen Mary three weeks ago from Rentfrew, Scotland, to join Rightmeier, she and her husband having met and married during the war in Britain when Rightmeier was in the U. S. army and she in the British nurses corps. Mrs. Rightmeier stated that the Klamath country scenery reminded her of her home in Scotland, and that Klamath lake and the surrounding mountains were very much similar to Loch Lomond scenery.

Visiting here Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Van Wormer and son Douglas were the following group from Klamath Falls: Mr. and Mrs. William Branham and son Danny, Miss Phyllis Branham, and Vernon Phyllis. The latter came to bid his sister, Mrs. Van Wormer, good-bye before leaving for San Diego for service with the navy, in which he recently enlisted. Branham is a U. S. army veteran and has seen much active service in the Philippine campaign with a cavalry unit.

Mrs. Bert Gray and Mrs. Donald Gray were shopping in Klamath Falls Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Blickenstaff and daughter, Yvonne, farmer local residents, called on friends here Monday evening from Keno. They have sold their Keno home and are leaving immediately for Brookings, Calif., where they have purchased a small acreage and home.

Arriving here last week after being discharged from the Waves and navy respectively, were Miss Margaret Aker and her brother, Buddy. They are the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Pate of Big Lakes camp.

Many local people attended the spring prom in Chiloquin Friday night and report a most enjoyable dance with fine music. Shipments of cattle are coming in almost daily via rail to Chiloquin, nearest railroad point to Fort Klamath, whence they are driven to Wood river valley for seasonal pasture. Nicholson brothers received a consignment on Saturday, and other cattlemen are also bringing in their stock this week. The J. P. McMillan family has returned from Cottonwood, Calif., where they spent the winter, and some of their cattle has already been shipped here for pasture.

Milo Newell of San Francisco, Calif., arrived here Friday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Van Wormer of the Sand creek patrol station. Newell and Van Wormer went through the Leyte and Okinawa campaigns together with U. S. army 7th division, and Newell was still on Okinawa when that island was visited by the disastrous typhoons in which so many lost their lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jackson were in Klamath Falls last week on business.

Weston Engle and Donald Gray are now employed in logging by the Big Lakes Box company. Both are former employees of the highway department on the Sand creek patrol.

'Not Married' Sign On Bed Of Vet's Wife Brings Suit

Welcome home. An ex-soldier, contesting his wife's suit for divorce in circuit court today, testified that when he returned home from overseas duty in the army early this year he found a streamer hanging over his wife's bed announcing, "I'm not married."

The wife testified that she was pregnant but said that she did not know who was the father of her expected child. She based her claim for a divorce on testimony that her husband had treated her cruelly and inhumanly before he was drafted, that he had often cursed and struck her and threatened her life.

She asked for custody of one minor child, a daughter born of the marriage, and $25 a month support. The husband, in his counter suit, also asked for custody of the child.

Judgement has not yet been handed down.
