

Tule Home Board Will Meet Here

The first meeting of the Tule Lake homestead examining board has been called for May 20, at 2 p. m. in the Klamath Falls office of the U. S. bureau of reclamation.

At this session the board will make recommendations as to standards of qualifications required of prospective homestead applicants. These recommendations will be forwarded to the commissioner of reclamation, Washington, D. C., and his approval will be announced before lands are opened for homestead this year.

Applications are being considered yet for the 87 homestead farms in Tulelake area, reclamation officials announced.

Saves Child

LEIGH CAMPBELL

Former KF Boy Rescues Child

Leigh Campbell, 16-year-old Eugene youth and former resident of Klamath Falls, is credited with saving the life of Billy Hunter, two and one-half-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hunter of Eugene, whom he pulled from a slough several days ago.

The child was with a group of playmates when he fell in the water. Other children called Leigh who ran to the scene, found the child submerged and face down in the water. He gave artificial respiration and revived the little boy whose parents said this week that he was showing no ill effects from his narrow escape.

Leigh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Campbell, 81 25th avenue, Eugene, formerly resided at 4689 Broadway in Klamath Falls. Campbell was manager of Union Oil company here. Leigh attended Fremont junior high in 1943-44, and Klamath Union high school, 1944-45. In his spare time he worked at Wood's Drug store. He is the nephew of Mrs. Jack Schulze, 1511 Pacific Terrace.

Caterpillars Invade Vancouver Island

VICTORIA, B. C., May 14 (CP)—Vancouver island is fighting the worst tent caterpillar plague in its history.

The plague is worse than that of 1913. William Downes, dominion entomologist, said yesterday, adding that it will be two years before there is relief from the tent invasion.

The caterpillars come in cycles of from seven to 10 years. The current cycle began last year. This year they are worse because there were few enemy parasites or diseases last summer.

Portland Service Clubs Will Close

PORTLAND, May 14 (AP)—Service clubs here, which have served men and women of the armed forces since the war's end, will close by July 1.

A gala evening is planned to mark closing of the big George A. White servicemen's center, which will shut down June 30.

Members of Klamath Buckaroo Days committee are O. D. Matthews, president for nine years; Elmer Hosking, vice president; H. E. Getz, secretary; Bob McGhehey, treasurer; M. E. Cornett, Bill Hooper and E. P. "Pat" Ivory, directors.

Council Postpones Action On Parking Meter Problem

that one thing in favor of the meters is that during bad weather it is almost impossible for the police to chalk mark overparked cars, but the meters would do away with that problem. He added that from talking with various people he meets in his business, many favor the meters.

Higher Costs May Cancel Buckaroo Days Celebration

are six events in which the union cowhands take part which alone would amount to about $1800 as they asked more in the bronc riding than other events.

Matthews pointed out that originally the show expected to make most of its profit on dances held during the celebration and the $1500 carnival fee. This fee has in the past built up a fund which the association has maintained in the event of a loss, Matthews said. Klamath Buckaroo Days, two years ago, was refused a waiver of the fee, Matthews said, and this income was lost to the committee. The association advised today that members felt the carnival would not have come here during the summer had not the rodeo attracted that organization.

Entitled To Money "Therefore, we feel the Rodeo association is entitled to that money through our efforts in putting on the celebration," Matthews said.

Matthews said he did not anticipate a meeting between the fair board and the Rodeo association as a meeting had been held recently and "no better arrangements than the 10 per cent fee could be made."

"We feel now that it is up to the community to help get this matter straightened out," Matthews said.

The association was organized in 1936 and has sponsored shows during the Fourth of July each year since that time, including war years. The Rodeo association gave $1000 to the troop entertainment committee in 1942. In 1943, the association donated $3300 to the work of the Commandos. The next year, 1944, a check for $2500 was presented the Legion for work a m o n g returned servicemen. The 1945 surplus was retained and placed in government bonds inasmuch as the Commandos had since disbanded. Matthews said operational costs of this show this year, based on last year's figures and increases of this year, would be $14,961, and anticipated revenue would come up to around $14,000.

Jap Premier Sees Mikado

TOKYO, May 14 (AP)—Premier Shidehara reported to Emperor Hirohito today on the tangled political affairs of the nation.

The imperial audience, reported by Kyodo news agency, was held shortly after the premier learned the social democratic party had failed in its efforts to line up a coalition government. He had flatly rejected a proposal that they be permitted to form a single party cabinet.

The socialist set-back was reported to Shidehara by Tetsu Katayama, party secretary-general, who received the premier's refusal to permit the party to act individually.

The rejection was met with a quickly-published statement in which the socialists charged that the premier's "bigoted" attitude was forcing them to present to the emperor a demand for aid in relieving the nation's food situation.

The statement was well sprinkled with the words "starve" and "starvation" and concluded with the oft-repeated demand that the emperor hold himself responsible for the war and the present political impasse.

The socialist statement followed the same general line taken yesterday by communist demonstrators who burst past guards at the palace compound gates to demand imperial assistance in solving the food shortage problem.

Grange Favors Fair Changes

The Pomona grange, at its regular quarterly meeting held at the Fort Klamath grange hall Saturday, went on record as unanimously approving a resolution previously adopted at the April 11 meeting of Shasta View grange in which the farmers' organization demanded a change in the set-up, and a wider public use of the county fairgrounds.

Demands were made in the resolution that private or semi-private uses of the facilities of the fairgrounds, in which private gain should be a factor, should bear a greater share of costs of building and maintenance. The grange advocated that public uses such as the 4-H clubs should have free use of facilities, and that non-profit organizations should have use of the grounds and buildings at cost. The resolution also demands use of the grounds and buildings for young people for recreational and athletic activities, and that the unsightly condition of the grounds bordering S. 6th street be improved by parkway. The grange asked the county court to levy sufficient special taxes to carry its program into effect.

This action of Pomona grange constitutes an endorsement of a change in administering the fairgrounds by the 11 granges of the county. The Suburban league also went on record with a similar resolution.

Dull Election All Over State

SALEM, May 14 (AP)—Oregon's dulllest election campaign will close Friday, when the lightest primary vote in many years will be cast for nominees for congress, governor, secretary of state, labor commissioner, and the state legislature, state officials predicted today.

Only about 100,000 persons are expected to cast their ballots, or about 20 per cent of those registered.

The campaign really never got started. There has been almost no speech-making, and only a few political advertisements in newspapers and on the radio.

The main reason for the lack of interest in this first postwar election is that most of the candidates are unopposed.

The republicans have only one major contest, since all four republican congressmen are unopposed in the primary. That contest is between Governor Earl Snell, seeking a second term, and Henry Black, Portland painter.

On the democratic side, there are only three major contests. Former State Senator Lyman Ross of Washington county and Clackamas county assessor, are seeking the nomination for first district congressman.

The other two democratic contests are for third district congress between State Sen. Lew Wallace and Charles F. McPherson, both of Portland; and for secretary of state between Floyd K. Dover, Grants Pass, and David C. Epps of Mill City.
