

More Murders Laid On Nazis

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Evidence that approximately 200 American prisoners of war were murdered by nazis in a hitherto unrecorded incident of the 1944 battle of the bulge was reported today by army officials.

Members of the civil affairs division war crimes branch said the Americans were slain December 23, 1944 at Le Gleize, Belgium. This was 10 miles west of Malmédy, where 115 American soldier prisoners were massacred six days earlier.

Officials said evidence of the newly-discovered war crimes was uncovered during preparations for the trial of 74 Wehrmacht veterans at Dachau, Germany, for the Malmédy slayings.

Some of the evidence resulted from work of American graves registration companies searching for the bodies of American soldiers who were killed when the nazis smashed through the Ardennes in a vain attempt to break allied lines.

Those tried at Dachau are accused specifically of slaying 76 Americans, although allied headquarters announced at the time that 115 unarmed prisoners who were members of a field artillery observation battalion were shot down at Malmédy.

The nazis facing trial at Dachau include General Josef Dietrich, commander of the 6th SS Panzer army, and Maj. Gen. Fritz Kramer, his chief of staff.

L. A. Warren, appraisal engineer for the veterans administration, has just completed another examination of proposed sites for a veterans hospital in Klamath Falls. Late material compiled by the veterans affairs committee of the chamber of commerce and the city planning commission was also examined by Warren.

He was a guest Wednesday of the chamber board of directors at their luncheon meeting and following the dinner visited the Weyerhaeuser Timber company with Charles R. Stark, chamber manager. T. S. Durment, public relations man for Weyerhaeuser, served as guide, showing the party about the mill.

This is the third trip Warren has made within the past three weeks to Klamath Falls in connection with this business. He was accompanied on this trip by his wife and son, Billy. They left Wednesday evening to return to their home in Sheridan, Wyo.

Potato Men Seek Factory

reported favorably at a meeting held this week.

An escrow agreement is in effect at the First National bank here, and when growers have deposited $100,000, the funds will go to a trustee, who will disburse them for the construction and equipment of the factory.

The local men said that the Northwest Chemurgy is agreeable to the appointment of a trustee to be selected by the Klamath groups.

All who subscribe will become stockholders and members of the Northwest Chemurgy Cooperative. It is not planned to form a separate cooperative here.

Purpose of the starch factory enterprise is to develop a profitable method of disposing of lower grades of potatoes in the Klamath basin area. Not more than 15 per cent of the purchases of potatoes for the plant can be from non-members of the organization. In a year of excess low grade potatoes, growers will dispose of their potatoes through the plant in accordance with the amount of stock purchased.

The Klamath plant will have a capacity of 200 tons of potatoes a day. Merrill and Hatfield are being considered as locations for the plant.

Next step after development of the starch factory will be the addition of a glucose plant, to be moved from Linden, Wash., to the Klamath area. Starch will be converted into glucose, weight for weight.

The local committeemen said they had been advised by officials of Northwest Chemurgy that there is an unlimited market at this time for glucose, which is widely used in candies, soft drinks, beer, syrups, etc.

Malin Scholars Win Essay Prizes

MALIN, May 16—Awards in the essay contest sponsored by the auxiliary of Malin post, American Legion, were presented to winning students of Malin schools Monday by Mrs. Elzie Roberts, Americanism chairman. Medals were presented to Dorothy Loosley, winner in the junior-senior group and to Marjorie King, winner in the freshman-sophomore division. Marjorie's essay was also entered from Malin in state competition.

Two dollar awards went to Mary Ruth Bay and Ronald Hawkins for second place and $1 checks went to Emily Elzner and Larry Johnson for honorable mention.

Essays were on American citizens, our privileges and responsibilities.

Col. Dubel Back From Overseas

Colonel Bernard Dubel, the first commanding officer of the Marine Barracks, arrived back in town from overseas yesterday, prepared to spend a 30-day leave in Klamath Falls.

His wife and daughter, Rue Ann, have remained here since the colonel left for duty in the Pacific with the fifth marine division early in November, 1944.

He went from Klamath Falls to Hawaii, where he joined the fifth division as deputy commander and commanding officer of service troops. From Hawaii Colonel Dubel moved into Japan with the division when it occupied the island. He was overseas 19 months before returning to this country.

Colonel Dubel, after his leave, will report to Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif., for further assignment.

The colonel, with Captain Lowell T. Coggeshall, medical officer, founded the Marine Barracks for the care of marines returned from overseas with tropical ailments, and was responsible for the inauguration of many of the fine facilities of the marine post.

Roof Climbers Fool Police—This Time

Two weeks ago city police were called to work on a case in which two young girls climbed to the roof of a 6th street hotel, apparently ready to leap off.

Those girls, when a patrolman spotted them on the roof, went back down through the hotel and disappeared from the building and from town. They were later located at Pendleton and that, police believed, washed up the case.

But this morning the police desk sergeant received a hurry call to have a car come to the Pelican theatre where two young girls had been seen climbing to the roof of the theatre building.

Investigation showed that a couple of usherettes had scaled the building, not with the idea of jumping off—but of taking a sun bath.

ACT, instead of merely talking. Besides, what good would it do if I starve myself alone? Unless EVERYBODY helps, nothing effective can be done. The thing for our government to do is to TAKE the food that is needed and transport it to the starving and apportion what is left among all of us."

That is pretty sound reasoning.

Head-On Crash Injures Logger

Elmer Nasi, about 35, employe of the Finney Logging company at Tionesta, Calif., is in a serious condition in Hillside hospital as the result of a head-on collision between two cars on the Tionesta road between the highway and Finney's camp.

The crash occurred at about 6:30 last night and Nasi was rushed to Klamath Falls by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hopkins of Tionesta. Driver of the second car is said to have been Bethel Newsum, also of Tionesta. Newsum was accompanied by his wife and two children, Maydean, 14, and Bob, 7. Both Mr. and Mrs. Newsum had severe cuts on the face and Maydean suffered a broken nose. The boy has cuts and bruises. They are at their home in Tionesta.

Nasi's condition was said only fair this morning by the attending physician. He has multiple rib fractures, bruises and severe shock. He was alone in the car, it is understood.

Mayor Calls For Auto Check-Up

Today, May 16, through July 1, has been set aside as a period for motorists to make a special effort to have their automobiles checked and corrected for faulty mechanism, according to a proclamation by Mayor Ed Ostendorf.

The mayor asks that motorists individually and in organized groups cooperate with the police in making traffic safety more effective.
