Spicer is said to have stepped from his car, looked over the damage to the Balbroi machine, and then moved toward the police officer's car in which sat Sgt. E. W. Tichenor, off duty and in civilian clothes. Spicer showed a bottle of liquor to the sergeant whispering, "We won't tell that officer. Just keep it nice and quiet," and he slid the bottle under the running board. Spicer paid $5.50 for no operator's license, $100 and costs for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and was given a 90-day suspended sentence in the county jail in justice court Saturday morning.

Strike Grist Flows; RR Labor Machinery Grinds Slow But Sure

run the trains. So they're called the non-operating unions.

The big five asked for a wage boost of at least $2.50 a day. For an 8-hour day, that would be slightly more than 31 cents an hour.

The 15 non-operating unions asked for an increase of 30 cents an hour. For an 8-hour day, this would be a raise of $2.40 a day.

But this is the answer they got from the government boards:

Matter of Policy

The government has a wage-price policy to keep wages and prices in line.

Living costs have gone up 33 per cent since January, 1941. So, under the wage-price policy, anyone who has not received a 33 per cent wage increase since January, 1941, is entitled to that much.

Railroad workers during the war received wage increases totaling 15 per cent. Therefore, to bring them up to the 33 per cent allowable increase, they now should get an increase of only 18 per cent more.

An increase of 16 per cent would be 16 cents an hour, or $1.28 for an 8-hour day. That's what the various government boards said the railroad workers should get.

So this would be an increase of $1.28 a day instead of the $2.50 asked by the big five and the $2.40 asked by the non-operating unions.

The engineers and trainmen refused to accept this raise and voted to strike.

The other 18 unions—the operating brotherhoods of conductors, switchmen and enginemen and the 15 non-operating brotherhoods—decided to argue with the railroads for the rest of the raise they wanted.

But the 15 non-operating brotherhoods are getting tired of the arguments and the other day decided to take a vote among their members on whether they should strike.

Two-Way Radios In Portland Taxis

PORTLAND, May 18 (AP)—Broadway Cab company service here will be speeded through installation of two-way radios, which will eliminate telephone calls, President Stanley S. Ross said today.

He said the radios, approved by the federal communication commission, would be operating within 30 days.

Baker Write-Ins Elect New Mayor

BAKER, May 18 (AP)—In an unprecedented write-in vote, Menzie McKin, local foundry owner, was elected mayor here yesterday defeating Henry McKinney, incumbent, by more than three to one. Complete unofficial returns gave McKin 1473 votes to 463 for McKinney.

Why does it take the railroad unions almost a year to strike after they've first made their demands while John L. Lewis' miners make their demands in March and quit in April?

Back in 1926 congress passed the railway labor act—which sets up a lot of machinery, like

THE PROPOSED KLAMATH Starch and Glucose Potato Factory needs the help of every grower—
Every grower needs a local factory to buy the low grade potatoes of the crop!

The Klamath starch plant, to be constructed by Northwest Chemurgy Co-operative as soon as $100,000 stock is sold, will have the capacity to process 200 tons of potatoes daily. (An additional glucose unit is planned, but it will not be possible to get it in operation this year.)

We believe that the plant, with this capacity, will be invaluable in low price years in providing a market for No. 2 potatoes . . . as well as providing a market for culls every year. A 60x120 factory, to be located at Merrill or Hattfield, can be constructed for operation this fall.

It will take $100,000 by June 1 to get construction under way in time to handle this fall's crop.

Assure yourself a market for your low-grade potatoes by buying stock NOW. The funds will be held in escrow until the full amount is raised, and then disbursed by a local trustee as construction gets under way by Northwest Chemurgy Co-op.

Stock is for sale to any agricultural land owner or lessee . . . at any bank.
