are all the rage this season... and while shopping around this week, Martha found LAPOINTE'S plentifully supplied with this type of playwear... including jaunty three-piece numbers of pastel strutter cloth... highlighted by vivid jersey halters and short boleros.

Other pedal pushers available in LAPOINTE'S sportswear department are fashioned of strutter cloth in green, navy, coral, aqua, brown and black... neat checked rayons... and gray wool flannels that you can match up with separate jackets... or there are the lightweight wool jersey Eisenhower's... in shades of melon, aqua, brown, gray and kelly green... to form intricate matched or contrasting pedal outfits.

Youthfully trim are the white shirtdress shorts... with their vivid rayon checked blouses that tie into a midriff... but for all around practicality and coolness, I liked best the one-piece jersey playsuits... and matching skirts... of splashy flowered prints.

There's a black and white linen three-piece that is extremely different... having white stitched trim... and all sorts of simple cotton shorts... including a suspender style... in white, red, chaireuse, aqua, navy, champagne and coral... and a good size and color range of comfortable T-shirts to wear with them...
