

N. Y. To K. F. In 2 Hours Prophesied

The time will come when airplanes from New York to Klamath Falls will arrive in this city "an hour before they left New York," George Hatch, district traffic manager of United Airlines, said here last night.

Hatch was the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Klamath County chamber of commerce held in the high school auditorium.

The New York-Klamath Falls time phenomenon he mentioned was explained by the speaker on the basis of the difference between standard time in New York and Klamath Falls. A plane leaving New York at 4 p. m. would cross the continent in two hours, and arrive in Klamath Falls at 3 p. m.

Hatch said that wasn't any immediate prospect, but he believes the time will come when planes will travel that fast.

Hatch said that his company is anxious to serve Klamath Falls and is eagerly awaiting the results of the west coast airlines cases, which include United's applications for Klamath service. He said that local businessmen had told him that Klamath Falls needs main line service first of all to serve its greatest needs.

Houston Replaces Sisemore L. Orin Sisemore, retiring president of the chamber, presided at the meeting—the first auditorium type of meeting attempted by the chamber. He reviewed the year's work and introduced his successor, John Houston.

Houston praised Sisemore's work as head of the chamber, and pledged an active year. In introducing Hatch, Houston said that he, Houston, had left Chicago at 10 p. m. Monday, and arrived in Klamath Falls at 4 p. m. Tuesday, yesterday, to be here for the meeting. He made the trip on Hatch's airline.

Hatch was one of a group of Portlanders here on a good-will trip. Three sacks of Klamath potatoes were given to the visitors, with Manager Charles Stark of the chamber in charge of this feature.

Attendance at the meeting was disappointing, chamber officials said, and no further effort at auditorium type meetings is planned.

Potato Grower Sues Neighbor

In an equity suit filed with the circuit clerk, Alvin E. Macartney, local potato rancher, asks $1000 for damage assertedly done to his young spud crop by overflowing water from an irrigation ditch.

Macartney names R. V. Ess, who operates an adjoining spud farm on the Keno highway, as defendant, and charges that Ess cut through a 10-foot board fence separating their property and cut a ditch from the Ess property across the property line and connected it with a ditch on Macartney's land.

Water coming down Ess' ditch, Macartney claims, has run into his ditch and overflowed onto his spud land, damaging the young potato plants.

Macartney, represented by Paul Farrens, has asked an injunction restraining Ess from allowing the water to flow through the ditch until the suit is decided.

Poe Valley

The Watkins dealer was in the valley selling his goods Monday. Joyce and Judy, small daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Roberts, are on the sick list with the measles.

Warren Roberts hurt himself while lifting grain sacks recently. He is some better now.

A bunch of young people were callers at the Hallie Hainer ranch Saturday.

Arbee and Warren Roberts and John York were callers in Klamath Falls from here Saturday night.

Chet Barton is having land leveled on his ranch for a landing field and is learning to fly a plane.

Mrs. Jim Alexander is on the sick list this week.

Lorenzo Holzhauser is stationed at Okinawa, according to word received here by relatives. He now has the rank of corporal and has been in the service many months.
