

Nimitz Sees Strong Navy

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 5 (AP)—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz declared today it was "reasonable to expect that no matter what kind of an international organization survives, . . . we will maintain a strong navy to insure not only our own protection, but also to aid in the cause of world peace."

Addressing the 809 graduates of the U. S. naval academy at commencement exercises, the chief of naval operations said that "as to the stability and permanence of the navy itself, you can be sure that never, since the early days of our country's history, have our citizens been so conscious of the part played by sea power as in the winning of the last war."

He said the navy "with its aviation and its submarines, was the cutting edge of that sea power."

"You can be sure," he added, however, "that so long as our

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Eleven Protestant church leaders urged President Truman today to sever all diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

Mr. Truman was presented resolutions from seven denominations terminating assignment of Myron C. Taylor as the president's personal representative to the Vatican "unauthorized" and "unconstitutional."

Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, said the 11 leaders calling on the president representing Protestant churches have signed 30,000,000 members.

"Our mission," said Dr. Cavert, "is to express the united judgment that any form of diplomatic relation between the government of the United States and the Vatican is contrary to the historic American principle of the separation of church and state."

The seven denominations submitting resolutions, were the General Assembly, Presbyterian church in the U. S. A.; Southern Baptist Convention; General Synod of the Reformed Church in America; General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. (South); Northern Baptist Convention; General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America; and General Assembly of the Universalist Church.

Dr. Cavert said after the conference he could not disclose what the president's reply had been. Dr. Newton told reporters the reception had been "very good."

easily reelected as state senator from Siskiyou and Del Norte counties, getting a landslide vote over Julius Becker of Yreka.

Fred Burton Sr., father of the new Siskiyou district attorney, was defeated by Felice Groppi of Weed for supervisor, third district. The last count: Burton, 1746; Groppi, 856.

A close race has developed in the fifth supervisorial district. Fred Wolford, whose name was on the ballot, holds 279 votes against 218 for Ernest Hayden, write-in candidate. More votes were to be counted but Wolford's lead is probably safe.

Mrs. Sloss Ahead

From Alturas it was reported that Mrs. Ella Sloss, incumbent, has apparently won over Melle Miller for county clerk. A. A. Rachford leads Dennis McHugh, incumbent, for constable of the Alturas-Canby township, and Ralph Doolittle and Archie Close are running a close race for justice of the peace.

Undecided this afternoon was the hot race between Dan Crawford, Tulelake, and Clint Fulcher, Lookout, for Modoc county supervisor, district 5.

Only about 30 votes separated them at the latest count, and returns were still to come in, chiefly from Tionesta, which would probably decide that tone. In the Tulelake voting, Crawford led Fulcher, 136 to 33, but voting in other districts put Fulcher up in the running.

Russia Now Ranks Stalin With Great Heroes Of History

tain minister, appears to rank next to Stalin for he holds, in addition to what here would be the secretary of states' job, the post of first assistant chairman of the council of ministers. This makes him vice premier.

Molotov is also a high ranking member of the Politburo and a deputy to the supreme Soviet, a party man of great drive, ability and devotion to its country and its causes.

Although a member of the vital central committee of the party, Molotov is not one of its secretaries, nor is he on the organizational committee of the party. The fact may or may not figure in his future.

There are three relatively young men who have risen rapidly with the end of the war: Marshal L. P. Beria, General A. A. Zhdanov, G. M. Malenkov.

They are all younger than Stalin, Molotov or Nikolai Shvernik, the new president of the presidium of the supreme Soviet—Russia's president.

Taking them individually and probably in order of their importance at the moment—and I stress, at the moment—

Zhdanov Has Important Positions

Zhdanov, 50 years old, chairman of the supreme Soviet's council of the Union—one of Russia's two legislative chambers. (The council of nationalities is the other). He is a full member of the Politburo, a secretary of the party's central committee and member of the organizational committee of the party, deputy to the supreme Soviet, head of the party organization in the great city of Leningrad and chairman of the allied control commission of Finland.

He is one of the most intelligent and well educated men among the Russian leaders and one can appreciate his important party connections which mean a great deal.

Malenkov is 44, a member of the presidium of the supreme Soviet, a full member of the Politburo, a secretary of the central committee of the party and deputy to the supreme Soviet. Like Stalin and Molotov, he is a Georgian by birth.

Other Important Figures

There are three other Russians who have taken on added importance since the war. They are Alexei N. Kosygin, Vasily V. Kuznetsov and General Nikolai A. Bulganin.

Alexei N. Kosygin is the youngest. He is an alternate member of the Politburo, vice chairman of the council of ministers, chairman of the council of ministers of the Russian Soviet Federation Socialist Republic and deputy to the supreme Soviet.

Bulganin at 51 is an alternate member of the Politburo, member of the organizational committee of the party and deputy to the supreme Soviet.

Kuznetsov, whose broad education includes colleges in the United States, is 45. He is a secretary of the central committee of the party and member of the organizational committee. He is also chairman of the supreme Soviet's council of nationalities as well as being chief of Russia's trade unions.

From this list Stalin's successor is almost surely to be chosen.

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of four articles by Gilmore, who has represented the Associated Press in Moscow for the past five years. Another article in which Gilmore says that Russia is far behind in the development of atomic power, but working desperately to catch up, will be published tomorrow.

GOP Discusses Precinct Jobs

Filling approximately 100 vacancies in precinct offices was the topic of discussion at Monday night's meeting of the GOP executive committee, held for discussion of the coming year's problems and plans.

Precinct offices will be filled by appointment at present, and aspirants for the positions will run on the November ballot.

Plans were formulated for the Republican Women's council meeting to be held Friday. The women's council will hold a lunch at the Willard hotel at 12:30 Friday afternoon, followed by a meeting in the Pelican cafe rooms from 3 to 4 and an evening rally at the Legion hall at 7:45.

The central committee plans a meeting with C. C. Crow, financial director of the state central committee, here sometime within the next month.
