

Bright Future In Alaska Fades Into Empty Dream

SEATTLE, June 11 (AP)—Paul Satko's decade of dreaming of carving a home and a bright future for his big brood of children in "Alaska, the land of opportunity," is at an end.

The onetime unemployed Richmond, Va., machinist and his family are due here tomorrow aboard the steamship North Sea. Friends at Ketchikan, where the steamer touched Sunday, said Satko has abandoned his dream because of the difficulty of obtaining title to sufficient land, after five years of grueling labor, clearing timber, raising vegetables for sale and doing all the odd jobs a husband and father, driven by a dream, is glad to do until the dream comes true.

It was in the mid '30's that Paul Satko began his dream. Along in September, 1938, the Satkos—papa, mamma and eight girls and boys—crossed the continent in the steel framework of a home-designed 40-foot boat. It was mounted on the chassis of a truck, and was covered with boards and canvas against wind and weather, and was steered along highway 10 by a ship's wheel, and it bore a bell instead of an automobile horn.

Gilmore Rites Held June 8th

YREKA, June 11—Funeral services were held Saturday, June 8, at 2 p. m. from the Methodist church in Hornbrook, Calif., for Floyd Gilmore, 33, of Klamath Falls, who died June 2 in Tucson, Arizona.

Interment was in the family plot in Henley-Hornbrook cemetery with the Girdner Funeral chapel of Yreka in charge of arrangements.

Born in Cottonwood, Calif., on August 27, 1912, Mr. Gilmore, with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gilmore, later moved to Hornbrook, the family residing there for many years.

Twenty years ago, Mr. Gilmore moved to Klamath Falls, where he was employed by the Southern Pacific company. He had continued making his home there until two months ago when he was sent to Tucson because of his health.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Thelma Gilmore of Klamath Falls; two small sons, James and David, of Klamath Falls; three brothers, Elmer and Joseph Gilmore of Klamath Falls and Henry Gilmore of Redding; his grandmother, Mrs. Rose Amter of Hornbrook, and an aunt, Mrs. Lena Burgess of Hornbrook.

Supreme Court Upholds Judge

The state supreme court today affirmed Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg in the case of T. S. Lawrence vs. H. W. Gladitsch, a personal injury suit in which Lawrence was awarded $5,800 damages.

Suit was brought by Lawrence after he broke his leg while working on a truck for Gladitsch, a mover of heavy objects. The damages were awarded, and Gladitsch appealed. Chief Justice Belt wrote the opinion, upholding Judge Vandenberg in the case.

U. S. Balentine was attorney for Lawrence, a local laborer.

The expression tying the knot, in reference to a wedding ceremony, is derived from the fact that priests used to tie the ends of their stoles around the joined hands of bride and groom.

Police Blame Kid Prowlers

Two more local business establishments were entered by prowlers last night, bringing to five the total of buildings burglarized in the past three nights. Police believe juveniles are responsible for the break-ins.

Last night the Specialized Service building, 1434 Main, was entered and the only thing reported missing this morning was 50 pennies from the cash register.

A small hole was broken in the glass of the front door and the thief or thieves reached in, unlocked the door and went in. A small rock and probably a slingshot were used to break the glass.

Then some time early this morning the Klamath Medical clinic building, 1435 Esplanade, was entered through the back door, and nothing was reported taken. The office was apparently the only room in the building entered.

In this break-in also a small rock was used to smash the glass of the rear door. Police found the rock inside the building in the hall.

Over the weekend, Hicks' Grocery service, Sixth Street Auto Wrecking company, and Samson Implement company were similarly burglarized. Over $900 in checks and currency was taken from the grocery service but the loss was negligible in the other places.

City Plans Crack Down On Permits

After July 1 the city will enforce a strict ruling on the matter of applications for permits, electrical and similar permits. Discussing the subject of permits and licenses, the city council Monday night decided that since people have been negligent about applying for permits before completing work it will be necessary to clamp down.

The penalty for doing work without the proper permit or license according to law is double the amount of the initial permit fee.

Permits are required for curb and pavement cutting, building and repairs, electrical work, plumbing, house moving, trash burning, to hang signs and to hold parades. Licenses for most kinds of businesses are also required. Anytime there is doubt regarding the need of a permit, the police judge's office should be called.

William Canton appeared before the council to request that parking be prohibited on the lower side of N. 9th away from the hill between Rose and Mt.

The council agreed to have no ban parking in the area. A request for a street light on the corner in front of his house at Mt. Whitney and 9th was received from Glen Bowen. It was referred to the traffic safety commission.

Committee Favors Reversion of USES

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The house appropriations committee today recommended turning back the United States employment service to state control next October 1.

This is directly counter to President Truman's request for continuation of USES as a federal agency at least until July 1, 1947.

The committee's recommendation, still subject to approval of congress, was made in passing along to the house for consideration a $31,131,403,126 appropriation bill for the labor department and the federal security agency during fiscal year beginning July 1.
