

FRANK JENKINS Managing Editor
MALCOLM EPLEY Editor
Entered as second class matter at the postoffice of Klamath Falls, Ore., on August 20, 1902, under act of congress, March 3, 1879.

Subscription Rates:
By carrier—month $1.00, 3 months $2.50, 6 months $4.50, 1 year $8.00
By mail—month $1.00, 3 months $2.50, 6 months $4.50, 1 year $8.00

Today's Roundup
By MALCOLM EPLEY

It is an understatement to say that people of this community are keenly disappointed at the decision of the state board of higher education to give up, for the coming year at least, the plans for converting the Marine Barracks into an educational center.

EPLEY

Until we get more of the inside story, we will withhold our opinion concerning the importance of government red tape as a factor in the decision of the board.

It is true that dealings with the federal government are nearly always difficult, complicated, and exasperatingly slow.

On the other hand, it appeared that the question of state use if it wanted it had virtually come to a head, with the war assets administration regional office in control of the installation and advertising it for sale with special priorities for public agencies.

There were no doubt other practical problems that presented themselves, and there was in addition to that some opposition of questionable motive. The people at Eugene, in particular, were vigorously opposed to the project at the start; and while talk there against it appeared to subside, the work against it undoubtedly went on.

Door Left Open

The board, in announcing its decision yesterday, left the door open for further consideration of use of the Barracks "if the facility is still available" in case the load gets too great for the regular institutions.

It seems unlikely that this will work out into later use of the Barracks for this purpose. The government will not want to hang onto the property indefinitely on such an indefinite plan.

Other Possibilities

MEANWHILE, there will be community thinking as to other possible uses for the Marine Barracks. Anyone familiar with the property becomes indignant when there is talk of dismantling it at huge public loss.

There are somewhat similar situations throughout the country. Here and there, some practical use is made of former military installations, but usually they go by the board for a few cents on the dollar.

One former marine officer tells us that it is a shame the Klamath Marine Barracks is not

The World Today

By DeWitt MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Further postponement of the debate over the hot Spanish issue in the U. N. security council is symptomatic of international uneasiness as the great powers approach the zero hour for the showdown over the divergencies between Russia and the western allies.

This showdown may come in the conference of the Big Four foreign ministers which is due to reassemble in Paris at the end of the week. In any event, that conference is the focal point of the crisis. The most important aspect of the dispute in the security council over Spain lies in the fact that an explosion

RADIO PROGRAMS

- TUESDAY EVE, JUNE 11
KFLW-1450 kc.
6:30 Music of Manhattan
6:45 Salon Concert
6:50 Business & OPA ABC
6:55 Eugene Baird ABC
7:00 Sports by Wismer ABC
7:30 Your Navy Recreates!
7:35 Say It With Music
7:40 Saloon Quiz
7:45 Vincent Lopez
8:00 Lum 'n Abner ABC
8:05 Sampling Jacks
8:20 Dark Venture ABC
8:30 Bob Willis ABC
8:35 News
8:40 Richard Lebert, Organ
8:45 Cal Tinney ABC
8:50 Elmer Davis ABC
8:55 Doctors Talk It Over ABC
9:05 Ambascador Orch ABC
9:10 Sign Off
11:30
11:45

retained by the Marine Corps. He points out that there will be many troops garrisoned in the Pacific for many years, and the Klamath post would be ideal as a rest and re-conditioning center for these troops.

There may be a revival of the suggestion that a vocational school be established at the Barracks. The Klamath Lions club once made that constructive proposal.

If anything is done, it will have to be started soon.

News Behind The News
By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 11—Senate reluctance about the Vinson-Snyder shift at the top of government is somewhat difficult to explain, but it has symptoms of soundness behind it.

Mr. Truman has been searching for the best available legal mind in the judiciary to straighten out the complete tangle in the supreme court. He embarked upon this course in resistance to pressure at the death of Republican Chief Justice Stone that he elevate one of the sitting justices, all of whom are involved in factions in the strife which has confused court decisions.

Why he stopped searching for judicial talent has not been made clear. He could have afforded to appoint a non-partisan or even a republican as chief justice. The court was already 7 to 1 democratic, Justice Burton being the lone republican left.

Morgenthau

BUT he weakened himself more, by this effort to furnish the court leadership for reformation. An attack upon his treasury department is being conducted by former Treasury Secretary Morgenthau. Quite evidently the associates of Mr. Morgenthau are attempting to break Truman policy in the department, which is of utmost importance in the presence of inflationary threats, and in world finance.

Now Mr. Truman no doubt figured he would send his best available experienced man (next to State Secretary Byrnes) upstairs to try to straighten out the court, and run the treasury himself through an old friend—but what he may have done is to open up the financial policies which were being rather carefully established, to new pressures and possibilities of change.

Pressure Preparation

WHAT to do about it? Don't ask me. The above is only a report of the factors, difficult to explain precisely, which has animated the senate's reluctance to confirm the hasty step. Chairman McCarran of the senate judiciary committee immediately announced consideration of appointments would follow the usual course and be held over a week in order to give interested witnesses due notice and opportunity to be heard.

Stalin May Cooperate

Unbridled optimism of course would be equally unwise. For the situation is serious. This much can be said, however, there recently has been an under-current of hope in diplomatic quarters inspired by the belief that Moscow has about reached the end of her demands and that Premier Stalin is preparing to offer collaboration.

The Paris conference should show whether this is so, and the debate on the Spanish question in the security council might even be a straw to show how the wind lies.

Looking at the thing objectively, we can say that the chief difficulty up to this juncture has lain in the fact that Russia had been in process of expanding her zones of influence to corre-

SIDE GLANCES

"I hope we can get Junior away from that cop-and-crime stuff tonight long enough to hear the symphony concert!"

STATIC

Joan Alexander and Mary Patton, pictured above, are a couple more of the lasses who make My True Story what it is. (A program) Incidental intelligence for the week also tells us that the True Story contest is going to end this week.

Times are getting back to normal. Thursday's Town Meeting of the Air will discuss the problem "Is Big Business Getting Too Big?" It seems like a long time since anyone has mentioned business—even to jump on its neck.

The Ford Sunday Evening Hour will take a summer vacation starting next Sunday, and for an indefinite period. In its place will be heard Ford Festival of American Music.

Here is another piece of incidental intelligence that won't be of the slightest use to anyone unless they contemplate a leisurely trip to Japan. Willis Mahoney, ex-Klamath mayor, and now serving as executive assistant to the chief of counsel in Tokyo, can be reached by phone by dialing JUS 119. His room number, at the War Ministry building, in case you contemplate a visit, is WMB 332.

OPA Attorney Raps Court Meat Action

PORTLAND, Ore., June 11 (AP)—A U. S. district court denial of injunctions against five Portland meat firms charged with paying above ceiling prices for livestock will result in slaughterers paying "any price" to get meat, a district OPA attorney said here today.

Judge Claude McColloch's ruling yesterday that the OPA's maximum price regulation involving subsidy payments to slaughterers was unworkable and void was accompanied by a blunt summary.

"This decision breaches the iron wall behind which successive price administrators have ruled as administrative absolutists," McColloch declared.

It doesn't count if you're an optimist only because you're too lazy to kick.

spond with her new position of power. For this reason (if for no other) she has been mainly concerned with making demands rather than offering concessions.

"MY TRUE STORY"
10:30 A. M. 1450 on your dial KFLW
American Broadcasting Co.

MIDLAND EMPIRE NEWS

Merrill
(Editor's Note: The correspondent of The Herald and News at Merrill is Dorris Wineberger, who will be glad to receive news for forwarding to the newspaper.)

Loyal Order of Moose, Merrill No. 308, held their regular session June 4, with Governor Hilery Wineberger presiding and all officers present.

The meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock and an hour of cards was enjoyed with women of the chapter joining them for refreshments.

Lillian Thomason has returned from a trip to Caldwell, Idaho, where she spent some time with her husband, Mr. Thomason has just recently become engaged in farming in the vicinity of Caldwell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Woodward had as their weekend guests their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Woodward, of Langell Valley, Mr. Gray of Eugene, and Mr. and Mrs. William Gray of Klamath Falls.

Building permits for the week of June 4 to 10 amounted to $19,775. All of the permits were for small remodeling jobs or for the construction of private homes.

They included remodeling a residence, 535 Lincoln, H. Boyvin, $375; rebuilding chimney, 1342 Pleasant, $45, F. Van Quathem; bleacher at ball park, Pinniger and Watkins, $490; remodeling Jean's Coffee shop, 435 Main, C. Westlund, $1000; residence, lot 16 block 301, Darrow addition, Ray Dingman, $4500; re-roofing, 1932 Erie, M. E. Doty, $500; remodeling garage, 639 High, C. Dale, $400; residence, lot 15, block 30, Mills second addition, D. W. Starkey, $4000; residence, lot 14 block 300, Darrow addition, D. W. Starkey, $4000; repair shop, 1945 S. 6th, M. W. Gibson, $1000; demolish barn, 2362 White, Mark Matvich, $15; remodel duplex, lot 6 block 19, Fairview second addition, Gordon H. Smith, $800; garage, 1907 Wantland, T. D. Horner, $150; addition, 241 Hillside, W. J. Stevenson, $500; and to build foundation and addition, lot 314 block 102, Mills addition, W. McDavid, $1000.

Malin

MALIN—The Malin city council met last Monday, and the budget was drawn up for the coming year. D'Albina was again appointed to audit the city records. A petition was presented to the council for an extension to the city sewer for the east section of Malin. All councilmen voiced approval. An engineer will be contacted for estimations and plans, and an election for the proposed project will follow in the near future.

Leslie Hershfeld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hershfeld of Salem, Ore., is visiting at the home of his cousin, Kenneth Hershfeld.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Holmes left recently for Montana, where Holmes will teach in a commercial school for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rajanus spent the past week in Portland, midwest, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today.

The feed, to be sold local mills by the midwest producer cooperatives, includes five cars of gluten feed and 31 cars of oats and barley.

Son Admits Killing Big Creek Rancher

COOS BAY, June 11 (AP)—Dolph Coleman, 53, was fatally shot last night at his ranch home on Big Creek near the community of Bridge and Sheriff William F. Howell said the victim's 15-year-old son told him he fired the shot.

The sheriff said the son, Tommy, told him that Coleman was choking Mrs. Coleman and when he gave no heed to pleas to stop, the boy picked up a .22 caliber rifle and fired two shots.

Coleman died within a few minutes. Howell said the son, who was not held, would testify at a coroner's inquest today.

Feed For Livestock En Route To Oregon

PORTLAND, June 11 (AP)—Thirty-six carloads of grain and gluten meal for livestock feed are en route to Oregon from the

DR. M. C. CASSEL
Chiropractic Physician
233 So. 11th St.
PHONE 5609

Langell Valley
Mr. and Mrs. George Freeman of Santa Ana, Calif., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dearborn of Klamath Falls. On Wednesday evening they visited friends in Langell Valley and Bonanza.

Mr. and Mrs. Scotty Ross and children visited with Mr. and Mrs. Elliott House and family on Monday evening.

Matilda Clausen of Klamath Falls has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Babcock.

Mrs. Rose Dunbar of Fresno, Calif., is here visiting her niece and family, the F. W. Browns, and caring for Mrs. Brown who returned home from Klamath Valley hospital Thursday.

Jack Cochran was home on a short leave from San Diego, Calif., visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cochran.

Mrs. Mary Dearborn of Bonanza is spending a few days with her son, Wesley and family.

Mrs. Elliott House and Jean spent Tuesday with Mrs. Lester Leavitt and family.

Congratulations to Tiny and Merl Brewster who have a son, born June 2 at Hillside hospital in Klamath Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Babcock spent the weekend at Seaside, Ore. Her sister, Mrs. Dan May.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilery Wineberger, Merrill, Mrs. Delos Mills, Klamath Falls, and Walter Robinson, Mt. Hebron, returned Monday from Condon, Ore., where they attended the funeral of Betty Jo Shumate, niece of Mr. Robinson and cousin of Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Wineberger.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rajanus spent the past week in Portland, midwest, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today.

The feed, to be sold local mills by the midwest producer cooperatives, includes five cars of gluten feed and 31 cars of oats and barley.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Holmes left recently for Montana, where Holmes will teach in a commercial school for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rajanus spent the past week in Portland, midwest, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today.

The feed, to be sold local mills by the midwest producer cooperatives, includes five cars of gluten feed and 31 cars of oats and barley.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Holmes left recently for Montana, where Holmes will teach in a commercial school for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rajanus spent the past week in Portland, midwest, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today.

The feed, to be sold local mills by the midwest producer cooperatives, includes five cars of gluten feed and 31 cars of oats and barley.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Holmes left recently for Montana, where Holmes will teach in a commercial school for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rajanus spent the past week in Portland, midwest, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today.

The feed, to be sold local mills by the midwest producer cooperatives, includes five cars of gluten feed and 31 cars of oats and barley.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Holmes left recently for Montana, where Holmes will teach in a commercial school for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rajanus spent the past week in Portland, midwest, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today.

TOMORROW
WED. 12 JUNE
Clyde BEATTY IN PERSON!
3 RING CIRCUS
LARGEST Trained Wild Animal CIRCUS in the WORLD