

State Labor Wants OPA Extension

ASTORIA, June 14 (AP) — Extension of the OPA for at least a year without crippling amendments had the backing today of the State Federation of Labor, holding its annual convention here.

While proponents of the OPA said it was a "necessary evil" they would like to get rid of it, they decided it would be needed for 12 months. A majority of delegates turned down President J. D. McDonald's recommendation that all price controls be removed, to aid free enterprise.

The American Federation of Labor earlier took a stand similar to that of the state group. Much time at yesterday's session was spent in arguments over a constitutional amendment on election of officers. They now are nominated and chosen by referendum.

Legion Suggestion

Earlier yesterday, Neil Morfitt, department commander of the American Legion, urged the group to cooperate to insure success of veterans' apprenticeship and vocational training programs. He suggested that veterans serve on all apprenticeship councils. Unions and veterans, he said, should watch to see that this type of legislation is properly carried out.

The convention rejected a proposal favoring an expanded state liquor commission but asked that one of its three members represent labor. A suggested law to set a 65-cent-an-hour minimum wage also was dismissed.

Delegates approved: (1) a five-day week for state employees; (2) revising Oregon's wage scales to conform with those in Washington state; (3) a resolution opposing imported crabmeat and fish products without import duties; (4) a plan for the state executive board to cooperate with public employees on civil service legislation; (5) higher pay for plant and other employees at the University of Oregon; (6) funds for co-ordination and supervision of apprentice and vocational training.

Tulelake Legion Elects Rudesill

TULELAKE, June 14—Clayton Rudesill, manager of the Marshall-Wells hardware here, succeeds Olney Rudd as commander of the Tulelake post, No. 164, American Legion. New officers of the post, elected Tuesday night, will take the chairs in October.

Co-officers of Commander Rudesill will be Charles Rose, first vice president; Eldon Larsen, second vice president; Olney Rudd, service officer; Edwin Scott, sergeant at arms; S. F. Terry, chaplain, and Don Finch, historian.

The post has a peak paid membership of 282, many of whom are veterans of the late war.

New Pine Creek

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Engstrom and family of Prineville, Ore., who for the past week have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Mary Millsap and Mrs. Maxine Robnett and their families, have recently purchased a 40-acre fruit ranch near Ashland and are planning to move to their new home right away. Engstrom has been operating a planer at the Ochoco Lumber company in Prineville for the past seven years. They are anxious to get located in their new home, situated in a verdant valley where vegetation grows so abundantly.

What is to be an annual Bible school service is being conducted this week and next, from 9 to 11 a. m. at the Baptist church here.

On Friday, June 21, at 8 p. m. when the religious training course closes, there will be a program to which everyone is invited. There will be at that time a display of the work the children have been doing, with an entertaining program.

On Saturday at 9 a. m. there will be a big church picnic up the canyon for the girls and boys and older folks who want to come.

Major Bowes Dies In East

RUMSON, N. J., June 14 (AP) — Death halted today the spin of the "wheel of fortune" that brought fame and wealth to Major Edward Bowes.

The bespectacled, dry-voiced radio impresario, whose "all right, all right," became a household phrase, died last night at his estate here on the eve of his 72nd birthday.

Francis Cardinal Spellman administered the last rites of the Catholic church. There was no announcement of the immediate cause of death.

Bowes, who came here in failing health three weeks ago from his apartment in the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City, had been the subject of many death rumors in recent months. Last November the rumors became so persistent that he released a statement declaring he was very much alive and would like everyone to know it.

Born in San Francisco, where he had made and lost a fortune in the real estate business, Bowes rose to his greatest fame conducting a radio amateur hour which in 1935 was voted the most popular radio hour program, with an estimated 20,000,000 listeners a week.

The program attracted tens of thousands of tyro entertainers to New York City. So great was the pilgrimage that in 1935 the emergency relief bureau disclosed that 300 would-be entertainers were stranded each week in New York.

Bowes—who owed his military title to his membership in the officers reserve corps and service during World War I in the adjutant general's office—stemmed the trek by establishing quarter-annual auditions throughout the country, bringing the winners to New York.

The amateur show, with Bowes ringing a gong and spinning his "wheel of fortune" while he chanted "where it stops, nobody knows," began as a sideline to his older "Capitol Family" program from the Capitol theatre in New York. This feature was the oldest continuous program on the air until it closed May 25, 1941.

Bowes retired about 13 months ago on the advice of his doctor although he still served as a radio consultant for the Chrysler corporation.

The body was to be brought to the Coughlin Funeral home in New York City today. Cardinal Spellman will celebrate a solemn pontifical requiem mass at St. Patrick's cathedral at 10:30 a. m. (EDT) Monday.

Interment will be in the Bowes family plot at Sleepy Hollow cemetery, Tarrytown, N. Y., Monday afternoon.

Fort Klamath

FORT KLAMATH, June 13—Fred Bishop was released last Tuesday from the Hillside hospital in Klamath Falls where he had been receiving treatment for a week for a serious heart ailment.

Edgar Lumkin, who was injured last Wednesday when a log rolled over his left leg while falling timber for J. W. Fisher Logging company, returned Monday to his home at George Denton's park. He escaped with severe bruises and will have to get around on crutches for a time. He was taken to Klamath Falls Wednesday for medical care by Richard Nelson, also employed by Fisher.

Alfred B. Castel Jr. is able to be around again this week after being confined to bed with a siege of virus pneumonia. His father, Alfred B. Castel Sr., has been pinch-hitting for him during his illness by doing his work as meat-cutter for the West Side grocery and meat market in Chiloquin.

Mrs. Eldon Kookken and children returned Saturday from a week's visit in Portland with relatives. Mrs. Kookken's daughter, Johnita, has returned to her parents home in Fort Klamath after visiting her father in Georgia for the past few months.

Mrs. Bert Albert of Chiloquin is hospitalized in Klamath Falls, also suffering from pneumonia, and is reported to be still quite ill with no visitors allowed.

Mrs. Margaret Watson underwent minor surgery at the Hillside hospital in Klamath Falls this week, and expects to be able to return home after a few days' stay there.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Page returned this week to Fort Klamath from Stockton, Calif., where they have both been employed for the past several years. They intend to make their permanent home here now.

No trace has as yet been found of the two chain power saws stolen last week from the logging operation site of the Big Lakes Box company in the Seven Mile area west of here. The

Steelman Gets OWMR Post

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) — President Truman today announced he was appointing John R. Steelman as director of the office of war mobilization and reconversion.

Steelman, a special assistant to the president, will succeed John W. Snyder, who has been nominated for secretary of the treasury.

Mr. Truman told his news conference that he had decided to continue the OWMR on the advice of practically all members of his cabinet as well as the OWMR advisory committee. He previously had said that OWMR would be gradually liquidated since he believed most of the country's reconversion problems had been solved.

Today the president said that Steelman not only would take over Snyder's old job but that he would also continue in his present capacity as labor advisor to the president, at the request of Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach.

The president was asked if O. Max Gardner was going to resign as chairman of the OWMR advisory board.

He replied that Gardner had been trying to resign from that post ever since his appointment as undersecretary of the treasury but that he had been persuaded so far to stay on. He did not elaborate.

Atami Geisha Girls Attain New Freedom

TOKYO, June 14 (AP) — The geisha girls of Atami, a city southwest of here, were officially liberated yesterday, but to the same as usual.

The government notified the geisha house owners that the girls' debts to the houses—totaling 660,000 yen ($44,000)—were cancelled.

The girls had run up the bills for various reasons and otherwise they would have to keep on working until they were paid.

As the newspaper Yomiuri put it, "the bonds which had chained those girls were immediately burned and reduced to ashes."

Then the girls realized with this democratic boon from a government abolishing all manner of bondage they owed no further allegiance to the houses. But that meant they had no jobs. They held a quick consultation, and voted to return to the same houses—as their own bosses.
