'Hold Your Horses' It's an Arrest

Grim, this law business, when it must interfere with the pursuit of happiness. Here a Detroit, Mich., policeman puts the pinch on a stylish carriage, used by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blanchard for their marriage, when drivers sped the vehicle through a red light (NEA Telephoto)

Legion To Aid In July Rodeo

Full cooperation with and help to the Klamath Fourth of July rodeo was advocated by the American Legion at their Tuesday night business meeting, and details of the Legion's participation were turned over to the Buckaroo Days committee. Present plans call for a float entered by the Legion, and for cooperation with the Klamath Rodeo association in both the parade and the four-day show.

William Ward, exalted ruler of the Elks lodge, appointed a committee at last night's lodge meeting to take charge of entering a float in the Fourth of July parade. Headquarters for the rodeo opened today at 424 South Sixth street, and will remain open up until the time of the show.

Pea Dusting Pilots Recover From Crash

LA RANDE, Ore., June 21 (AP)—Pilots of two pea dusting planes, which crashed near here yesterday, were getting along well today.

Cliff Oakletree, Yakima Feed company pilot of a plane which ground-looped when landing to pick up dust, went through engine, clipped off a telephone pole and ended in a ditch, was unhurt.

E. N. Pearsall, Wenatchee, suffered a broken nose and possible internal injuries when his plane developed engine trouble and crashed from low altitude.

At Lake—Mr. and Mrs. William Wales, 1209 Lincoln, were among visitors at Crater lake on Thursday.

Fire Program Drawn At Keno

Fire protection for the Keno area is being organized by interested members of that community and plans are already underway to purchase fire fighting equipment.

At a meeting held last night in the Keno schoolhouse it was decided to buy a portable four-inch pump with a 500-gallon per minute capacity mounted on a trailer. Additional equipment will cost approximately $1500 and is being paid for through subscriptions made by the residents.

Everything within a two or three miles radius of Keno will be protected by the fire equipment, which should be ready to function within a month.

Members hope to eventually organize a rural fire fighting district under the state fire marshal.

Chairman of the group is Richard Morgan and other committee members are L. A. Smith, Fred Barnes and Doug Puckett.

Sportsmen Hold Confab At Tulelake

TULELAKE, Calif., June 21—A meeting of the Tulelake-Butte Valley Sportsmen's association was held on Wednesday night, June 19, in the Tulelake Growers office in the Golden hotel, Tulelake, for election of new officers.

Although the attendance was low the meeting was a success. Ben Schultz, operator of the Tulelake Boat club on the west side of the lake, and president of the association for the past five years, was in charge of the meeting.

Schultz mentioned many interesting facts, and told of the 179 Mongolian pheasants which were planted in the Tulelake area this season. This is a good average as there are about 40,000 acres in this area that are suitable for pheasant raising.

The first pheasant plantings were private. The state soon took the job over when it was proved by some of the old-timers that pheasant raising would be successful.

Statistics were given in regard to the number of hunters and the number of birds killed the first day of duck season last year.

Of the first 200 hunters checked, the average ran one goose to every three hunters and four ducks per hunter. The check on the second day on the first 200 hunters revealed one goose to every 12 hunters and three ducks per hunter.

Third Trip Planned
The clubhouse, with two traps installed, is located near the highway about seven miles south of Camp Newell. Plans are being made to install the third trap.

Due to an increase of the cost of ammunition and clay birds, a vote was taken and carried unanimously to increase slightly the cost of shells and clay birds at the club house.

The results of the election were that the following men were nominated for the offices, but announcing of the names was held over for the next meeting which is to be held on July 3, same place, as many members were away to the Oregon state trap shoot.

Nominees: President, Neal Ferguson, Tulelake; Frank Adams, Merrill; Roy Morosco, Tulelake.

Vice president: Al Brotherton, Tulelake; William Tripp, Tulelake.
