Market Quotations

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—Notably "thin" blue chips softened in today's stock market and kept the overall average in the lower bracket although modest bidding propped assorted rails and industrials on the theory selling may have been overdone. Bonds were easy.

GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—An expansion in offerings of cash oats by the country brought selling into futures today. Prices dropped as much as 2 cents at one time with all deliveries except July breaking away from ceilings. Although trading was still below normal, it was more active than in any recent session.

Cash dealers reported they purchased 300,000 bushels of oats prior to the market's close. Other factors in the price downtown included excellent crop prospects, a sharp break in rye quotations at Winnipeg and indications price ceilings would be kept on livestock and dairy products. This last development would reduce feeding demand, traders said.

Deferred oats closed 1¼-2½ cents lower. July was unchanged at 88 cents. Bid prices on corn and barley were unchanged at $1.46½ and $1.35½.
