

2835 Oregon War Deaths Tabulated By U. S. Army

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The army today placed the human price it paid for World War II victory at 28,354 dead and missing.

This total meant a fatality rate of 2.98 per cent among the more than 10,000,000 men and women who saw army service during the conflict.

The war department released the figures in its first consolidated postwar casualty list which covers the period from May 27, 1941—the date a national emergency was declared—through January 31, 1946.

The roll carries 307,354 as killed in action, died of other causes or officially declared dead after having been missing a year. There are an additional 1424 still listed as missing, although scant hope now remains that they will be found alive.

Type of casualties by states:

Idaho—Killed in action 800; died of wounds 111; died of injuries 3; died (non-battle) 409; missing 17; total 1419.

Oregon—Killed in action 1501; died of wounds 212; died of injuries 11; died (non-battle) 890; finding of death under public law 490, 77th congress 207; missing 14; total 2835.

Washington—Killed in action 2084; died of wounds 292; died of injuries 15; died (non-battle) 1239; finding of death under public law 490, 77th congress 294; missing 17; total 3941.

Territories—Killed in action 543; died of wounds 89; died of injuries 1; died (non-battle) 523; finding of death under public law 490, 77th congress 27; missing 31; total 1214.

District Asks Bids On Canal

The board of supervisors, Klamath Drainage District, is now advertising for bids for the reconstruction of the "New North Canal" running from the Klamath river back into the Midland area to be used for irrigation in that section.

The proposed canal, part of the extensive Midland irrigation project, would be eight miles long and the estimated cost is about $100,000. A bond sale to raise money for the job will be held at the board's office in the Melman building, July 27, and sealed proposals for bond purchases are now being received.

Bids for the construction work will be received until August 10. All bids must be accompanied by a bond or certified check for five per cent of the amount bid and the successful bidder will be required to post a performance and payment bond of 50 per cent of the contract price.

The board of supervisors, including Dick Henzel, chairman; C. A. Dunn and John Liskey, reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Morse Pledges Self To GOP

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Senator Morse (R-Ore.) stated today that he will support the republican candidate for president in 1948.

"It is my position that no public official can make an ethical justification of running as a republican and then bolting his party because he may not find himself in full agreement with the nominee of this party," Morse said. "I feel that the only way to strengthen the republican party and fight for the general principles in which I believe is to do it within the republican party."

He expressed surprise at the suggestion that if he should not completely agree with the presidential candidate chosen by the republicans he would bolt. Without specifying who made such a suggestion, he declared: "Such a suggestion cannot be reconciled with my conception of political ethics and loyalty to the liberal cause. I am no quitter."

The Alters have another boy, David Warren, 2. The new arrival is named for two paternal uncles.
