

Washington Senator Up For Renomination Today

SEATTLE, July 9 (AP)—A United States senator is seeking votes for the first time in Washington state's primary elections today, but his debut at the polls is overshadowed by a bitter first district (Seattle-Bremerton) contest in which two members of the Roosevelt family have intervened for opposing candidates. Polls remain open until 10 p. m.

The senator is Hugh D. Mitchell, whose role in previous elections was as secretary to the then senator, Mon C. Wallgren, who appointed Mitchell senator two years ago when he became governor. Mitchell's opponents in the democratic primary, State Treasurer Russell C. Fluett and

Pork Price Shows Big Jump Here

Pork prices show the most notable increase in local markets since the death of the OPA a week ago. Pork has gone up almost one third over its price during OPA control.

Beef prices show an increase of from three to five cents per pound. Butchers say that the reason for the hike in beef and pork is to replace the government subsidies which went out with the OPA.

Other meat products including chicken, fish and lunch meats have remained at the same price scale and in some cases, principally with stew meat, short ribs and at some markets, chicken and fish, the price has gone down a few cents.

Display counters in local meat markets are well supplied with meat in greater quantities than for some time. Bacon and ham remain the big buyers, still making a rare appearance and in small quantities.

Regular Navy Term 4 Years

The navy recruiting office at Klamath Falls announces that the term of enlistment in the regular navy for first enlistments is now for four years.

The following are exceptions to the above rules: Enlistments of 17-year olds will be for a minority period or until the age of 21 years. Men 18 years of age who pass the Eddy test and enter the electronic technicians' program can still enlist for two, three, four, or six years, 17-year olds for minority. Men who have served previous service with the navy or naval reserve and who served at least one year during World War II may still enlist for two, three, four, or six years.

The initial training period for recruits of the navy has been reduced to six weeks.
