Today's Roundup

NEW YORK, N. Y.—(Travel Correspondence) There's a story going around that the legs of homo sapiens, because of disuse, are simply going to shorten up and disappear in the age of mechanical transportation ahead.

Occasionally, a subway spills you out right at the door of the place you're going, as it did us when we went to the Polo Grounds last night to see the Giants and the Dodgers.

There were about 45,000 at the game, which the Giants won by breaking a tie in the last half of the ninth. It was a rousing game, but the picture was worth it if there had been no play.

Most of that big crowd went home in subways. We waited until the first rush was over, but there were still jam-packed station platforms when we got out of the stadium.

Yesterday, we "did" the Bronx zoo, which accounts in part for that piece about walking. They said it was a light day at the zoo, but it looked to us as if all New York kids and their mammas and papas were there.

Front And Center

REPRESENTATIVE NORBLAD'S recent attack on the continued existence of the United States Spruce corporation, a World War I agency, is an example of cheap, publicity-seeking political quackery at its worst.

That the corporation has ample reason for being is shown in the very plausible explanation offered by its counsel, G. R. Sweetser in a recent interview. Sweetser stated that, not only has the government's $21,000,000 investment been paid back in full, but an additional $2,000,000, over and above all liquidation expenses, has been turned in to the federal treasury.
