

SOCE Plans Educational Conference

Final plans are being made for the southern Oregon educational conference and institute which is to be held in Ashland from September 9 to 12, inclusive. Some 800 teachers from five southern Oregon counties will participate. These counties are Klamath, Lake, Josephine, Jackson and Curry.

The nature of the conference and institute this year is wholly different from the one usually held in November. Teachers and administrators will be given a four-day training session fitting them for the year's tasks ahead of them. Teachers will work over the material to be covered in their classes making unit and lesson plans.

Many prominent leaders in education and news commentators have been invited to contribute. Leaders in 22 successful teachers assisted by college staff members of SOCE will direct the workshop groups.

Preceding the conference and running with it will be a two-week workshop for teachers who are planning to review or take out emergency certificates to teach in the elementary schools of the state. An upper division and graduate course designed for secondary teachers will be taught during the same period. Dr. Hugh Wool of the University of Oregon will be in charge of this workshop which is put on by the extension division of the state system of higher education.

I am in Cham, by the Czech border. The team has five camps and my work is in the Jewish infiltration camp.
