

Fort Klamath Pioneer Dies

FORT KLAMATH, July 18—The ranks of long-time Wood River valley residents were thinned once again last week with the passing on Tuesday, July 9, of Winfred Charles Bishop, for 25 years a resident of Fort Klamath. Death came in a Klamath Falls hospital, following an illness of a year, which became critical a short time ago. Mr. Bishop was taken to Klamath Falls Monday evening and succumbed at shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday morning. He was a native of Vermont, and was 62 years old at the time of his passing.

Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the local church by Rev. H. James Zeller of the Chiloquin Methodist church. The church was filled with old friends and neighbors of the deceased, many coming from outside points to pay their last respects. A profusion of lovely floral tributes were banked about the interior of the church.

During the services, the following two soprano solos were sung: Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," and "Going Home." Pallbearers included Guss A. Page, William Page, Ord Pritchett, Robert E. Gordon, Jess Vanderpool and Thomas J. Hawkins.

A short graveside service concluded the final rites, interment being made in the Fort Klamath cemetery.

In addition to three sisters living in the east, Bishop is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nettie J. Bishop of Fort Klamath, a son, daughter-in-law and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bishop and Susan Bishop, of Pasco, Wash., who were called here by his death.

Graduates
S 1/c Charles W. Deer has been graduated from the navy fire control school in Great Lakes, Ill. Deer, who is the son of Mrs. C. H. Kelly, route 1, box 550, entered the navy in December. He has been transferred to Norfolk, Va., where he will ship out on a destroyer tender.

Banks Anxious To Train Vets

Banks in a number of Oregon cities are anxious to hire World War II veterans under the job-training program, department of veterans affairs officials were advised today by A. A. Rogers, state superintendent of banks.

Rogers said all bank managers are acquainted with details of the GI apprenticeship program, and that a number of them throughout the state have told him they are seeking promising veterans to employ under the program.

The state division of vocational education, the state apprenticeship council and the Oregon Bankers association have cooperated to set up the four-year training program, paying veterans subsistence allowances from federal GI funds to augment their salaries while learning to become commercial tellers, it was explained.

Rogers said that while the program sets $200 as the four-year objective wage, in many cases veterans will reach this salary in much less than four years' time, and may go beyond commercial tellers to become junior officers, depending upon initiative and interest shown.

The majority of cities in Oregon have at least one bank employing veteran job trainees, he said.

Veterans were advised to interview bank officers or managers for jobs, and to contact the local vocational coordinator or veterans administration training officer in their localities to complete the details of the apprenticeship.

To test pure silk, burn it. The flame should not smoulder after it is out, it should have an odor of burning feathers and have a round black bead ash that will pulverize.

Snell Tells Of Boom In New Businesses

SALEM, July 18 (AP)—About 1200 new business enterprises have been started in Oregon in the past 11 months, Governor Earl Snell said today in saying that "prospects of a postwar let-down in business missed their guess in Oregon."

The governor said many national concerns have established branches in Oregon, and that the state's economy is on a "sound and solid foundation."

Camp Fire News

Culminating weeks of preparation, Camp Fire girls from Klamath Falls, Chiloquin, Dorris and Merrill settled for a week's work and play at Camp Esther Applegate on Lake o' the Woods.

Beginning the camping period with the traditional song and story fest around the camp fire Sunday evening, campers are participating in a well-planned program including instruction in swimming, handcraft and outdoor crafts, and in evening programs of masquerades, a treasure hunt, stunt nights, talent shows, and cook out.

Girls will have the opportunity to ride horseback and Thursday they will make a boat trip around the lake. Archery and other active sports with quiet-hobby periods complete the schedule. The week's activities will end at the Saturday evening council fire, when awards will be made and camp activities renewed.

The camp this year is under the direction of Mrs. Charles Bremer, Camp Fire girls' executive secretary for the Klamath area. Her staff includes Dorothy Riggs, assistant camp director, and Mrs. Mike Howry, camp nurse.

Handicraft classes are under the direction of Mrs. J. E. Lovell, who directed handicraft classes at the camp last summer. Outdoor crafts are under the direction of Mrs. Larry French, who has recently returned to Klamath Falls and is resuming her camp fire work here.

Mrs. Cyril Cook of Chiloquin will supervise archery and active sports and assist with outdoor craft classes. The waterfront is under the direction of Dorothy Thomas, Red Cross water front instructor.

Camp cook is Mrs. V. A. Heath, who has been cooking at the high school. Assisting in the kitchen and supervising KP's is Beverly Keesee, and Nancy Humble, Red Cross junior lifesaver, is assistant on the water front.

Girls in camp for the first week beginning July 14 and ending July 21 are Elizabeth Abernethie, Jean Adams, Marilyn Altman, Thelma Bell, Diane Binkley, Coralee Blumenstaf, Arlene Merrill, Mary Ann Bush, Beverly Gibson and Diane Carlson.
