

Today's Roundup

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(Travel Correspondence) This small-city westerner experienced a wave of relief upon leaving noisy, seething, impersonal New York City today.

After a day or two of trying just after our arrival in New York, we gave up operating our automobile. Bumping that traffic was making an old man out of us.

Today, we got it back, intact, right at the front door of the Commodore, our New York home.

"I had some sheep out there. They all died," he recounted. After that his brother left Lakeview for San Francisco and he came back to New York.

AFTER a late start, we crossed New Jersey quickly today, and then sped on west through the lovely Pennsylvania countryside to Harrisburg—our seventh state capital on this jaunt.

The beauty of the Pennsylvania farm country, which we saw today for the first time, is all they say about it. It is rolling country, with carefully kept fields almost ready now for the harvest of a bumper crop.

WE came into Harrisburg in the evening, got quarters without difficulty at the Hotel Harrisburger, and went downstairs seeking food.

The dining room was closed and the cafe lounge was serving only inadequate sandwiches. In New York, that's what we would have taken.

Honest to goodness sirloins, a wonderful change from the diet of poultry, fish and hamburger we have been eating for the last couple of weeks.

much discussed, because we were not at war with her, and Russia left many blank spaces in it which her drafters will fill in later.

All these things and more we gave, for what? For Russia allowing us to have a twenty-one nation conference to approve the points agreed upon, and ratify gifts to Russia—a conference which will be limited by Russia's insistence upon a two-thirds majority for action in committees.

Silence Explained

THIS explains why our people have been rather silent about the profits of Paris. Mr. Bevin walking away without a word of praise for his own work, and Mr. Byrnes so restrained in his claims his position may be described as "semi-silence."

Thus discussion is futile. Until the texts are available no one can sensibly discuss what kind of peace those five nations will get out of Paris—dying Hungary, dead Italy, possessed Rumania, Bulgaria and Finland.

Russian Strategy

THE "discussion" will be shortlived. We will have to keep an occupation force in Germany indefinitely to hold even what we got when our armies sat down and waited for the Russians to take Berlin in accordance with Mr. Roosevelt's agreement with Stalin.

These considerations have struck deep on the inside here. Joint efforts for peace so far have resulted in stultification of UNO in a series of Russian vetoes, and adoption of our plan to get world approval for a Russian peace along the Danube and in Finland, together with $100,000,000 of reparations from Italy, in which she never set a war foot, and a denial of peace to Austria or Germany, as Russia wants. Who is making the peace? Russia. She cannot lose on the present basis of negotiations, because in every conference she retains the right of veto in one way or another, over our peace hopes and plans.

Now Mr. Byrnes threatens wildly to go ahead and make the best kind of a peace with Germany he can (an occupied military peace without Russia) which was recently forecast in this column. Eventually he will come to making his own Anglo-American peace with the others also, because there simply is no other way, unless we wish to continue this foolish business of first providing and then rallying world support for whatever Mr. Byrnes whittles Russian demands down to. This is simply a new method of appeasement.
