

Storm Study Revealed By Government

ORLANDO, Fla., July 23 (AP)—The government lifted a curtain of secrecy today on a project hitherto little known, but important enough to rate a war department priority second only to the Bikini atom bomb tests.

It is a study of thunderstorms, a joint undertaking of the U. S. weather bureau and army air forces being conducted at nearby Pinecastle army air field.

Daily since June 15, a select group of air force pilots and radar observers have been taking a flight of five P-61's, the army's "Black Widow" night fighter, into the summer storm clouds of this semi-tropical area in an attempt to learn all there is to know about storms and how they can best be combatted for flying purposes.

Aiding in the quest are three civilian glider pilots provided by the Soaring Society of America—Paul Tuntland of Los Angeles, movie stunt pilot; William Dolger of New York, former chief instructor of the army's mobile glider school; and Don Pollard, former navy flier from Roanoke, Va.

STANLEY SCHOENTHALER

One of the old hands on the carrier side of the circulation department is Stanley Schoenthaler, 14, who covers route 7 which includes Sargent, St. Francis, Roseway drive, St. Francis and a few of the side streets. Stanley, who enters KUHS as a sophomore in the fall, was born October 6, 1931, at Wakeney, Kansas. He has lived here for the past five years and for two years has delivered The Herald and News six nights a week. Stanley is a little divided in his opinion on collections. Lots of times he has to go back three nights before he collects his money. Favorite excuses are—"my husband didn't leave me any money" and "wait until pay day." Stanley was graduated from Fairview grade school.

Rogue River Areas Closed

A few small areas in the Rogue River national forest have been closed to travel, Forest Supervisor Karl L. Janouch announced today. He said that the reason for the closures is to reduce the possibility of fires where hazard has been increased by logging operations, and that permits to enter will be issued only to those having business, such as logging, grazing or mining. The areas are as follows:

The Ashland creek watershed, but the Ashland loop road through the area remains open, so that it is possible to travel over the loop from Ashland to the Applegate district and back to Medford. It will not be permissible to leave the road between the city of Ashland and the summit of Ashland mountain.

An area adjoining both sides of the Crater lake highway between Prospect and Union creek. Within this area, entry will be permitted on the Crater lake highway, the Jim creek road, the Huckleberry mountain road, a strip 100 feet on each side of Rogue river, the Woodruff Meadows forest camp and summer home tracts, and the Woodruff bridge forest camp.

The Medford Corporation logging area east of Parker Meadows in the Butte Falls district.

An area adjoining Rocky Point on Upper Klamath lake.

An area just south and west of the Crater Lake national park south entrance.

Salem Extends City Boundary

SALEM, July 23 (AP)—Salem was 800 acres and 1000 persons larger today when the results of last Friday's special annexation election were declared official.

It is the first time in 25 years that the city's boundaries have been extended.

Seven of nine districts voted to come into the city, with the other two voting against. The new areas are north, east and south of the city.

London bakers formed a brotherhood as early as 1155 and were incorporated in 1307.

Tow Chain Fall Hurts Autoist

William S. Peterson of Klamath Falls was badly bruised and suffering from shock as a result of stepping on a tow chain between two moving cars near the Williamson river bridge Monday.

Peterson's car was involved in a minor collision with a car driven by Pete A. Hanlan of Chiloquin Sunday morning, and Peterson called a friend to tow him into town.

State police said that while Peterson's son drove the car the older man climbed out of the right-hand side of the automobile, on to the fender and stepped down on the tow chain which was suspended between the two moving cars. When the driver of the car ahead saw Peterson, he stopped, as did the Peterson car. The sudden slack in the chain threw Peterson to the ground. He was taken to the Klamath Indian agency with a badly bruised foot and other bodily bruises and was suffering from severe shock.

State police who investigated said that Peterson was unable to speak from shock, but the address appearing on his automobile registration card was 1807 Crescent.

Alexander Graham Bell tried to persuade Mark Twain to invest $500 in his telephone invention. Instead, the author loaned the money to a friend who went bankrupt three days later.

No New Fires Burn In State

SALEM, July 23 (AP)—Oregon's four forest fires were under control this morning and no new fires were reported, but the weather man told the state forester that expected hotter weather would make the critical situation even worse.

The four fires which were being mopped up today were a 200-acre blaze in pine slashings north of Prineville, 40 acres of cutover land northwest of Dallas, 35 acres in a logging operation on the Benton-Polk county line, and a 200-acre blaze on an old burn between Reedsport and Drain.
