

Farm Bureau Protests Increase in Rail Rates

Members of Klamath County farm bureau adopted a resolution protesting the proposed railroad freight increase at a meeting of the bureau at Henley Monday, August 5.

After hearing the guest speaker, H. I. Storey, executive secretary of the Oregon farm bureau, the attending members adopted a resolution authorizing E. A. Geary, legislative chairman of the Klamath organization, to prepare an affidavit in protest to the proposed freight increase. This affidavit will be presented by the Oregon farm bureau at the meeting of the interstate commerce commission to be held in Salt Lake City, Utah, August 12.

The interstate commerce commission has been petitioning for an immediate 25 per cent increase in freight rates on June 22. A temporary increase of 6 per cent on all commodities was granted with the exception of certain basic products of agriculture and livestock to which a 3 per cent increase was approved.

Declaring it would cost a farmer "50 per cent more to grow crops on weed-infested land than on weed-free soil," the bureau is setting up a program including the following:
 Construction of ditch banks so that they are accessible to weed-control equipment, and seeding of ditch banks to grasses where possible; exclusive use of seed tagged "weed free."

Crop Coverage Now On Sale

Federal crop insurance on winter wheat is now on sale at the Klamath county agricultural conservation office, Burrill Short, county agricultural conservation chairman has announced.

Wider choice in the amount of insurance he buys is offered the winter wheat grower this year, according to Short. The buyer can choose from among several different amounts of coverage, pay a corresponding premium and collect a corresponding indemnity in case of loss.

"Drought, flood, hail, insects or plant disease can ruin your wheat crop, but they won't mean financial ruin for you if you have crop insurance," Short said. "No matter what happens, you will still protect the money you invested in your crop."

Applications for insurance must be filed before planting but not later than September 28. The crop is protected against all unavoidable natural risks from planting time through harvest.

Sugar Shortage Hits Honey Bees

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 8 (P)—The Pennsylvania shortage of sugar rations has even affected the honey bees.

Instead of supplying sweets, the honey bees this year had to dip into low sugar stocks to keep alive themselves, the state department of agriculture disclosed today following a mid-summer survey of honey production possibilities.

A cool, late spring and wet weather which kept the bees from getting outside to collect nectar—were blamed. Beekeepers explained that winter food supplies in the hives were thus depleted, and that owners had to fall back on OPA for special rations to feed the bees sugar water. Many could not get sufficient sugar in time and entire colonies of bees were wiped out.

More Funds Available For Conservation Work
 PORTLAND, Aug. 8 (P)—The department of agriculture production and marketing administration announced today that an additional $140,850 will be available for Oregon soil and water conservation work in 1946.

This brings to $2,953,650 federal funds to be paid Oregon farmers for land improvement practices.

West Coast Lumber Ceilings Increased
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (P)—An increase of $3 per thousand feet in ceilings for all west coast logs, excepting No. 2 wood and cull logs was authorized by the office of price administration, effective today.

The increase meets a requirement of the new price control act that ceilings for soft wood logs be set at a level which will permit producers to cover current costs of production.

Lakeview Slates Ram Sale For Benefit Of Industry

The annual southern Oregon ram sale, scheduled for September 9, 1946, at Lakeview, Oregon, is handled by a local committee of sheepmen for the benefit of the sheep industry. The committee members donate their time and work to the sale and try to assemble rams that will be needed.

Bob Weir, sale committee chairman, has announced that rams consigned for sale September 9 include 100 Lincoln-Rambouillet crossbreds, 40 Romeldales, 24 Rambouillets, 35 Suffolks and 16 Hampshires. Sheepmen in southern Oregon and northern California will have an opportunity to buy these rams at Lakeview and save themselves time, trouble and expense.

Harry Lindgren, Oregon extension animal husbandman, will head a sitting committee to check all animals and assure buyers of good quality. Auctioneer Earl O. Walter of Filer, Idaho, will cry the sale. Rams are consigned by Cunningham Sheep company, Pendleton; Dave Waddell, Amity, Ore.; Wynn S. Hansen, Collinston, Utah; John Withers, Paisley, Ore.; Carrol Cloud, New Pine Cree, Ore.; Dr. H. W. Hermann, Grants Pass, Ore.; A. T. Spencer & Son, Gerber, Calif. and Deer Lodge Farms, Deer Lodge, Mont.

Oregon's Hops Show Progress

PORTLAND, Aug. 8 (P)—Oregon's hops are making good progress, the department of agriculture's production and marketing administration reported today, recent hot weather having halted spread of downy mildew.

Some hops are being picked in the Donald area this week and more picking will start about August 15, but the harvest is not expected to be general until September 1. Some concern over the supply of pickers is being expressed, the administration reported.

No sales have been reported in the past two weeks. Inspection and certification service will be available at Salem as last year, the administration said.

Russian Union Paper Assails U. S. Policy

MOSCOW, Aug. 8 (P)—Trud, trade union organ, commenting on the forthcoming congressional elections in the United States, said today that "American imperialism is trying to gain world rule."

"American monopoly capital," the article continued, "is trying to make satellites out of the countries of Latin America Europe and Asia and is not even stopping at fanning civil war in China to achieve its ends."
