

Party Committee Posts Attract 50 Candidates

Filing time past, the republican party has advanced 30 candidates for places on the county central committee, and the democrats have put forth 20 aspirants for membership in the democratic organization.

Legally, 152 members are allowed for each committee, a man and a woman representative from each precinct in the county. No contests have arisen for any of the posts.

The persons who filed for precinct committees will have their names on a special precinct committee ballot in the November 5 general election, and all will be elected except for the possibility of write-in votes for persons not filing.

Within 90 days after the election a meeting of each newly-elected group must be called and officers elected. Then the new chairman, with recommendations by the organization, can appoint persons to the committee in the wards where vacancies occur.

Automatic Membership

The chairman and vice chairman of each group automatically becomes a member of the state central organizations.

Democrats filing candidacies yesterday were: J. Z. Smith, Malin, West Malin precinct; Hale Scarbrough, 412 Oak, precinct 8; Mrs. Doris Smith, Malin, West Malin precinct; Herman J. Laux, 119 Washington, precinct 3, and R. A. LaLonde, 623 Upham, precinct 30.

FOR more than a decade and a half, it has been politically popular to deride and sneer at everything that Herbert Hoover says.

But, just offhand, can you think of a BETTER program for America than this one Hoover outlines at Salt Lake City today—in a casual talk with a reporter?

Name Please?

TACOMA, Aug. 13 (AP)—College of Puget Sound Registrar Richard Smith faced a long line of would-be students when the first man in line said:

"I'm D. A. Erspamer. Do you have my application?"

"Yes," replied Smith as he handed the applicant a file under that name. "I see you came from Lincoln high school."

"That's right," was the reply, followed by a long pause, "but this file is for Donald A. Erspamer of Tacoma, I'm Douglas Erspamer of Bremerton. He graduated from Lincoln high school in Tacoma and I from Lincoln high school in Manitowoc, Wis."

The file was replaced and Smith said "next."

"I'm Richard Smith," the next man said.

Richard Smith, the registrar, took time out.

T. C. Griggs To Open New Grocery And Meat Market

Griggs' Superior Food store, Klamath's newest modern grocery and meat market, is being completed this week at the corner of S. 8th and Shasta way and will open formally Friday morning, August 16. Owner and manager is T. C. Griggs, resident of Klamath Falls for 20 years and an employe of Safeway Stores, Inc., in Oregon for 20 years. For 10 years of that time he was manager of the Safeway store on S. 8th.

The new store is of hollow tile and concrete construction, has a floor space of 5600 square feet, wide shopping aisles, is air-conditioned and has plenty of parking space for shoppers.

The grocery department is arranged for a complete line of staples, vegetables and fruits, utilizing modern, easily accessible fixtures. The building is fluorescent lighted.

Shelves and interior trim are in green and white and plate glass windows open on both streets. A staff of 10 people will be employed. The store is a self service institution and is entirely home owned.

Carl Woods, manager of the meat department, a former resident of Salem and Seattle, has been more recently employed by Weyerhaeuser Timber company as a saw filer. Meat cases and coolers in this department are equipped with plenty of glass for customer observation.

The building was designed by Howard Perrin, Klamath Falls architect and Griggs, and the contractor was Francis Ellis, also of Klamath Falls.

The cornerstone was laid six months ago by J. Lawrence Horton, Poe valley Hereford cattleman.

The public is cordially invited to attend the opening, meet the personnel and view the new business.

Good Publicity Stunt

WARRENTON, Ore., Aug. 13 (AP)—Mayor F. M. Wilson is Warrenton's man of the year—not because of his civic virtues, however.

He is the man who, taking his driver's license examination, roared clear through the front of a building. The ensuing publicity so pleased the chamber of commerce that it named him for the year's top honors.

P.S.—He tried again and left today on his vacation with a driver's license in his wallet and the city's store fronts undamaged.

Jesting Remark Leads To Death

ELDORADO, Ill., Aug. 13 (AP)—A mother's accidental death today was attributed by Coroner Rees Turner to her off-hand remark made in jest.

Coroner Turner gave this version of the death, by-play: "I'm so tired that if I had a gun I would shoot myself," laughed Mrs. Florence McCreary, 49, as she talked with a neighbor in her nearby New Haven home. Her son, Wilmer Lucien, 8, overheard, brought a shotgun from another room and, as he handed her the weapon, remarked jokingly: "Here's the gun, mother; go ahead and shoot yourself."

In handing her the weapon, his hammer accidentally hit a radio and the resultant charge entered her left side at close range.

Mrs. McCreary died in an Eldorado hospital last night.

Morse Praises Solons' Work

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Appropriations for rivers and harbor projects, flood control, irrigation and power development were listed by Senator Morse (R-Ore.), today as among acts of the 79th congress of high importance to Oregon.

Total appropriations for these activities in this state were $34,614,712, Morse said in a statement issued at his office, adding: "The entire Oregon delegation worked as a united team on this matter, as it did throughout the session on all issues affecting the state. Members of the Oregon delegation appeared before the appropriations committees of both the house and senate in support of these appropriations."

Morse said that Oregon received "another very important financial gain" through passage of amendments to the Lanham act which authorized continuation for the next fiscal year of federal education funds for Oregon schools.

Social Security To Help States

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The government estimated today that states will get $132,208,000 more a year from the treasury for public help programs under the newly broadened social security act.

This will swell the annual federal contribution to about $360,000,000, the federal security agency announced.

The federal security agency said its estimates of increased contributions are based on state operations in the last half of 1945 and are figured on the assumption that states will change their laws, if necessary, and amend their procedures to take advantage of the expanded programs.

Truman OK's Indian Claim Commission

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Representatives of Indian tribes today watched President Truman sign into law legislation creating an Indian claims commission.

Four of the Indians were dressed in tribal costumes. They stood behind the president along with other tribal representatives and government officials. Boyd Jackson of the Snake Indians of Klamath Falls, was among the witnesses.

To the redman it was a step which he believes will give him a day "in court" on hundreds of claims against the United States for alleged unlawful taking of lands for alleged treaty violations.

After the signing ceremony, the president was presented with a pipe of peace by former Senator Robert L. Owen of Muskogee, Okla. Owen said the pipe was smoked by Chief Sitting Bull for 15 years.

To Pass on Claims

The new law creates a commission to pass on all tribal claims. The claims must be filed within five years or be barred from consideration thereafter.

The commission will be required to approve or disapprove the claims within 10 years and congress then will consider appropriations to pay them.

Under previous procedure, the tribes having claims first had to get congress to pass legislation permitting them to file suit in the court of claims. In many instances a single objection by a congress member has prevented passage.

President Truman said in a statement he was glad to sign the measure, "which removes a lingering discrimination against our first Americans."

Road Accident Hurts 2 Boys

Both are in Klamath Valley hospital. Herb suffering from a fractured right leg and cuts, and Douglas with a cracked collar bone and cuts, according to hospital attendants.

The boys were en route to join their father, W. M. Raymond, a logging contractor in that area. The car hit the roadside, and turned over three times before landing in the ditch.

They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Raymond of 1431 Avalon.

No Winter Yet For Portlanders

Hop Pickers To Draw Same Maximum Pay

PORTLAND, Aug. 13 (AP)—Hop pickers in Marion and Polk counties will be paid a maximum of 34 cents a pound, the same established last year by the labor branch of the U. S. department of agriculture, Alden E. Orr of the USDA wage board, said today.

The rate is the same in the principal hop producing counties of California, he reported. Local conditions creating unusual difficulties for workers, however, may qualify for a wage adjustment, Orr said.

Training Course Held For Motor Fleet Men

PORTLAND, Aug. 13 (AP)—A training course for motor fleet supervisors continued here today after hearing an appeal for driver training in high schools.

Amos E. Neyhart, Pennsylvania State college public safety institute head, urged school courses for teen agers because the traffic death rate is nine times greater among the youngsters than in the 45-50 year group, whose accident rate is lowest.

'Lady Of Mazama' To Rule Over Centennial Pageant

As no celebration would be complete without a court, a group of girls has been selected from Klamath communities to reign during the Centennial pageant and festivities. Carrying out the theme of Mt. Mazama, now known as Crater lake, the Lady of Mazama and her maids will be present at all Centennial affairs.

Pointing out the suitability of the title, "Lady of Mazama," for the girl who will preside over the court, Mrs. Geneva Duncan, Centennial chairman, said that the girl will rule over the Centennial even as the spirit of Mt. Mazama has predominated over the Klamath region since early time. According to legend, Crater lake was formed after the explosion of the mythical Mt. Mazama.

Girls already selected for the court are Nan Goeller, Klamath Falls; Bonnie Mae Giesler Chiloquin; Virginia Thomas, Fort Klamath; Lillian Decker, Butte Valley; Fanny Adams, Tulelake; Lois Maupin, Merrill; Dorothy Loosley, Malin; Dolores Maxwell, Bonanza; Helen Sullivan, Poe valley; June Orem, Henley, and Donna Kinney, Oleno. These will probably also be representatives from Klamath Agency, Bly, Gresham and Sprague River. From this group, the girls, themselves, will select one to serve as the Lady of Mazama.

The court will be entertained at luncheon by the chamber of commerce Wednesday and will later gather for a business meeting at Fremont school at 2 p. m. They will be introduced at the street dance Wednesday evening and formally presented at the Centennial ball, August 19. The girls will ride in the Centennial parade, August 22, on a float prepared for them by the Junior chamber of commerce. They will make a grand entry at each showing of the pageant, August 22, 23 and 24, at 8:30.

Silence Veils Downed Fliers

BELGRADE, Aug. 13 (AP)—U. S. state department officials encountered a veil of silence today in their attempts to learn the whereabouts of the occupants of an American C-47 army transport plane who have been held incommunicado by Yugoslav authorities since their ship was forced down near Ljubljana by Yugoslav fighters last Friday.

Harold A. Shantz, charge d'affaires in the U. S. embassy, said that a Yugoslav officer in charge at the scene of the crash landing had refused to tell the American consul at Zagreb, where the occupants of the plane had been interned.

"We have been given no indication as to when they will be released," said Shantz.

Mystery still surrounded the circumstances under which the plane was grounded. There was no authoritative information today as to whether the transport was forced down by aerial maneuvering by Yugoslav fighter planes or by actual gunfire.

The consul from Zagreb was refused permission yesterday to see the interned passengers or crew members, or view the plane at close range.
