

Letters Received By Klamath Club

Letters received from British Soroptimists indicate that vacation season is as welcome there as in America. Audrey Farrant, retiring secretary of the Brighton and Hove club, writes of the restfulness of a time spent at Tunbridge Wells with her aunt, Margaret Bondfield. The name of Margaret Bondfield is one held in the highest regard by English women since she is the only woman ever to have been privy councillor, and has been minister of labor and is recognized as one of the great British women of the time.
