Law of arrests and city ordinances will be the first topics of discussion taken up at the school. Police Judge Harold Franey will hold classes on city ordinances.

Ackerman said that this is the first step toward eventual establishment of a regional police school, and that all law officers in the county are invited to attend the weekly sessions.

On Friday Ackerman will go to Salem for a meeting of the training committee of the Oregon Association of City Police Officers at the state vocational education office to discuss regional police schools.

Child Dies From Shock, Cut Hand

DETROIT, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Road Bruland family returned home Sunday from Christmas tree shopping and three-year-old son Ronald was sent to a grocery for milk.

The boy fell on the driveway of his home and cut his hand badly on an empty milk bottle he was carrying. Taken to a hospital, he died of a heart seizure as his hand was treated. Physicians said the heart seizure was traceable to excitement and shock.
