Athletics Want Out Of American Celler

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13 (AP)—The word was out today that the Philadelphia Athletics are going to join their National League cousins, the Phillies, in vacating their role of league doormat "no matter what it costs."

Arthur Ehlers, newly-named manager of the Athletics farm system, said 83-year-old Connie Mack, who has piloted the A's since 1901, wants to build another winning ball club, "that he wants a strong organization with no thought of the cost."

Mack, who is vacationing in California, has often been criticized for failing to spend large sums of money to purchase players for his club and for selling top-flight stars.

Ehlers said Mack feels he has the nucleus of a strong club, particularly in pitching and in the outfield and that the veteran manager is anxious to build up his farm system.

The A's are eight to ten years behind the other clubs in the majors, Ehlers declared, but added that "I feel sure that we can produce something worthwhile in the next few years."

"Money will be no object" in rebuilding the club, Ehlers said, explaining that he hopes to purchase at least seven new farm clubs to give the A's the material to climb from the American League cellar.

Pot O' Gold Staked Sunday

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Chicago Bears and the New York Giants have reason to believe Santa Claus will hit town early.

The Windy City whizbang and Stout Steve Owens' touchdowns probably will be pitching at the fanciest pot of gold in all pro football history when they play for the National League championship Sunday.

Tickets are still going like the melted butter at a clam bake. League Commissioner Bert Bell's office figure if sales continue at the present rate there'll be 50,000 fans on hand and $185,000 in the pot when the stew comes to a boil at the Polo grounds.

The Australian death rate is one of the lowest in the world.

K-Men Face Stiff Test With Chiefs

The high-scoring Pelicans come into a stiffer phase of early-season basketball tonight, with a varsity game with the Roseburg Umpqua Chiefs on the Klamath Union high school gym floor.

Two games will be played tonight, a junior varsity tilt at 7 p. m., and the main event starting about 8:15.

The Pelicans have the experience of two games behind already, having trounced Weed 71-15 and Lakeview 90-15. Coach Wayne Scott is ankle deep in basketball talent this season, with a full complement of players left over from last year.

Games tonight and tomorrow night with Roseburg do not count toward the Peis conference record. Play in the Southern Oregon conference, with Ashland, Central Point, Medford and Grants Pass, does not begin until after the holidays.

3-Team Playoff To Set Entry

PORTLAND, Dec. 13 (AP)—A three-team play-off is scheduled for Portland the first week of March to determine Oregon's entry in the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball tournament at Kansas City, Mo.

College coaches yesterday voted to match the leading northwest conference team in the state against the leading teacher college quintet. The winner then will play a representative of independent colleges for the right to represent Oregon.

No Winners Yet

LAWRENCE, Kas., Dec. 12 (AP)—University of Idaho cagers, defending titlists in the northern division Pacific Coast conference, have yet to win a game on their current eastern road trip.

The Vandals dropped a 42-28 decision to the University of Kansas last night.

Muscleman Carnera Packs 'Em In

Primo Carnera, all 6-foot-6 and 268 pounds of him shown here with a head scissors on Bobby Burns, is packing the crowds weekly at New York's St. Nicholas arena and making more dough than he ever did as a boxer, even though he once was the world's champ, supposedly. He was also once a carnival strongman grappler.

Job For United Nations---

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13 (AP)—Baseball moved into the field of international diplomatic relations today.

Luis Orlando Rodriguez, Cuban national director of sports, said he intended to leave for Washington and protest to the Cuban ambassador what he called "the commercial, imperialistic monopoly that is organized baseball in the United States."

He said further his personal reaction to a three-hour conference yesterday with Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler was that "the attitude expressed is a severe blow to harmonious relations between our nations."

Chandler said he had no comment on this and considerably more that Rodriguez told an interviewer after the conference, enee.

Portland May Revamp Turf On Ostracized Multnomah

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 13 (AP)—Reconstruction of Multnomah stadium's swampy football field will be started next spring, the Oregon Journal said yesterday.

The Stadium association had been known to have plans under consideration for draining, possibly elevating, and re-turfing the field but there had been no indication when the work would be done. The newspaper said details would not be released until James J. Richardson, stadium manager, returned to the city.

The stadium field was sharply criticized this fall after heavy rains had turned it into a soggy mixture of mud and grass.

It is assumed that plans contemplate early completion of the work since the University of Texas is billed to meet the University of Oregon in the stadium next September 27.

The wave of protest against Multnomah field came out into the open late in November when

Ducks Win Seven, Ready To Trek East

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 13 (AP)—The University of Oregon cage squad was ready today to embark on an eastern road trip after sweeping to its seventh successive pre-season victory last night. The ducks dropped Portland University 56-33.

The eastern invasion will pit Oregon against Niagara university, New York university and City college of New York.

Gains Support

WALLACE, Ida., Dec. 12 (AP)—The Wallace chamber of commerce was on the "Mel Ingram to Idaho" band wagon today.

The chamber approved a resolution yesterday urging appointment of the former Wallace high school football mentor as head grid coach at the University of Idaho. Ingram now coaches at Roseburg, Ore.

Cal Coach Not Happy

Wickhorst Gets $28,500 Settlement With Heave

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 13 (AP)—Frank Wickhorst, until Wednesday head football coach at the University of California, wasn't satisfied today with the financial settlement on the two years remaining in his three-year contract.

But satisfied or not, he had a reported $28,500 in his jeans to tide him over until he lands another job.

Wickhorst announced last night a financial settlement had been made but added: "It is not satisfactory to me." He also said he intended to continue coaching football and declared, "I still contend this was all instigated by a very few people, and, in some cases, disgruntled ex-football players."

The $28,500 figure included pay for the two years remaining in the contract signed about February 1, 1945. Wickhorst's salary was reported in the $10,000 area.

Of the remainder approximately $7,500 was said to represent compensation to Wickhorst for damages to his coaching reputation through adverse publicity attendant upon his discharge.

It was the last of a number of special seasons in the state designed to control specific problems. The commission reported that where local deer were the problem, the seasons were held early, while where migrants were causing trouble the season was later.

The total kill in all seven special seasons was 942 deer. The state's total deer herd is estimated at 200,000.

Grey Mask Flips Cazell Two Falls In Short Time

The main event raffle match at the armory last night was a short-lived affair, with most of the action outside the ring, and the bout went to the redoubtable Grey Mask in two straight falls over Ike Cazell.

The working agreement was that Referee Wally Moss stay outside the ring to do his arbitrating, but the grapplers spent as much time outside the ropes as did Wally.

Grey Mask's durable dome proved a more potent and lasting weapon than big Ike's feet and fists, and Mr. Stoneface caught the first fall by headbutts and a half crab then immediately duplicated the butts and added a stepover takeoff for the clincher, winner take all.

A decidedly clean opener was fought between Billy Fox and Billy Weidner, both boys doing a fast job of wrestling, characterized by clean breaks.

The ex-marine Fox took the first fall in the second round, using a straight body press after a drop kick, and Weidner evened the score by getting Fox on his shoulders for a tremendous airplane spin.

The semi-windup proved a fast, colorful match, spattered by dirty work, between Sammie Cohen and Buck Davidson. Pa-
