Klamath Frozen Foods Industry Grows In Scope

One of Klamath Falls newer industries is rapidly becoming of world-wide importance, especially to pear lovers the world over. Starting last August the ice warehouse of the Klamath Ice and Storage company, has been a central depot for perishable frozen food products en route from northwest producers to consumers all over the world, according to A. M. Collier, head of the company.

Since August, Collier said, nearly 80 carloads of perishable foods have passed through the large plant, Klamath Falls, he explained, is strategically located between the producers and the consumers, on a good shipping route, with two large railroads running through it, and is a natural place for the storage of goods by producers before their sale to the distributors.

At the present time, Collier said, the warehouses are filled with D'Anjou pears from Medford awaiting shipment to overseas destinations. Already between 40 and 50 carloads of pears have been ordered out of the warehouses for Canadian ports and then on to England. Most of the pears are being shipped to New Brunswick and then trans-shipped on British boats. Once in Britain they will be sold on the open market to British consumers.

During the next week a large number of pears will be shipped out for Egypt and Palestine, Collier stated, and orders for even more out-of-the-way countries are expected.

Daughter Born — Mr. and Mrs. William W. Layton of Dorris, Calif., are parents of a daughter born at Siskiyou County General hospital, Yreka, Calif., on January 6. The child weighed 9 pounds 6 ounces at birth.

Book Review — Kedron club of the First Presbyterian church will hold its regular meeting Thursday in the church parlors at 7:30 p. m. Fernie Shoop and Lelia Ayer will be hostesses and Mae Pigney will review the "Character of Abigail" from "Famous Women of the Bible," by Dr. Clarence McCartney.

Foresters Meeting — At 6:15 p. m. Friday the Shasta-Cascade subsection, Columbia River section, Society of American Foresters will meet in the Pelican party room for dinner and discussion.

Returned — Mina K. Anderson, clerk at LaPointe's, is home again and back on the job after spending a vacation in San Francisco where she attended the New Year's Day game at Kezar stadium.

HIGH SCHOOL News Notes and Comment

By MARY O'BRIEN

All music students were treated today to the showing of three activity period.

The first was a sound reel on Igor Corin, the noted baritone, who at one time appeared in Klamath Falls on the Community Concert series.

The second movie featured Ignace Faderewski, famed pianist, playing Liszt's "Second Hungarian Rhapsody." The last was a filming of the Paris Conservatory Orchestra as they played Der Freischutz by Von Weber.

"Mickey's Minstrels," a comedy, was the title of the noon movie sponsored by T and I to day. Admission price was 5 cents. The T and I also held a meeting in activity period today and several of its members are scheduled to appear on tonight's Pelicana broadcast.

The first matinee dance of the new year is scheduled tomorrow afternoon by the Boys' Ski club.

Pelicana tonight, edited by Rosemary Bigbie, is on a vocational slant and centers around an informal discussion with T and I members. After starting with a little of "Whistle While You Work" the two T and I presidents, Don Stroud and John Childers will be introduced. Also participating in the discussions are adviser Robert Craig, Roy Swedin and Chuck Smith. Re-
