

A Few Of The Old Time Shop Mechanics Still Left

By HAL BOYLE
 HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 8 (AP)—Old Henry Cudworth is a time-clock philosopher. He is a machine plant patriarch—and every plant has one: the work-loving old men who serve as living links between the old and new in American industry. They put up with all the efficiency changes because they had to, but they still in their worn, still-eager hearts prefer the age of the craftsman that has gone to the age of the specialist that took its place. But old Henry, spry and blue-eyed at 78, is modern enough to admit women have their place in a machine factory. "Some of the women who flocked in during the war are better than the men," he said. "It doesn't make any real difference whether they are men or women. What's important is whether they're mechanically inclined." High praise, ladies, from an oldtimer.

learned to work every machine in the shop. "He was a craftsman. He started with the raw material and when he finished with it, it was completed and ready to be used." "Nowadays a man may work ten years on one operation, and not know what the next step is. They don't have the all-around training we had." Cudworth remembers he used to inspect the raw metal by hand. Machine Age "Now they just put it through a machine that picks out defects we can't even see," he said. Henry isn't completely sold on the new technique. "Whether all this specialization is a good thing or a bad thing," he said, "is hard to say—but that's the way the world has changed. We've progressed, I guess you'd have to say." Henry said, however, that change didn't make so much difference really if a man had been happy in his work and his home life—as he had. "If you can't enjoy your work, you're in a bad way in this world." He recalled that when he first went to work he could holler "hey Jack" and call a fellow worker from across the room. He looked around the present vast plant—a hammer-noised jungle of pipes, conveyors, machines, vats, and test rooms where mail is delivered on bicycles—and asked: "Now how the hell do I get out of here?" That operation took a specialized man, too.

Texas in its war for independence from Mexico used a navy of four small vessels. LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF EXCHANGE OF LAND FOR TIMBER
 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE SHEVLIN-HIXON COMPANY, a corporation of 800 First National-Soo Line Building, Minneapolis, Minnesota, with an office at Bend, Oregon, made application No. 101721 dated December 29, 1946 and filed in the office of the Acting Manager of the United States Bureau of Land Management, District Land Office, Lakeview, Oregon, on December 29, 1946, under the Act of February 20, 1923 (43 Stat. 1080) to exchange lands within the Deschutes National Forest in Oregon, for timber within the Fremont and Deschutes National Forests in Oregon.

However, that if conditions beyond the applicant's control make it impracticable for it to cut and remove the reserved timber within the time limits above mentioned, the same may be extended for such periods, not beyond December 31, 1955, as may be necessary; all in accordance with and subject to the terms of a Land Exchange Agreement between the applicant and the Regional Forester, Portland, Oregon, dated August 14th, 1946.

In exchange for an equal value of timber from portions of the following described lands in Klamath County, Oregon, within the boundaries of the Deschutes and Fremont National Forests in Oregon:

In TWP. 23 S., RGE. 8 E., W.M. Sec. 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.
