

Truman Asks Extension Of Second War Powers Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (P)—President Truman today asked congress for "limited" extension of the second war powers act, including his authority to ration sugar and allocate scarce foods and a handful of materials.

Though he named only a few items, he left a big field for White House discretion by seeking the power to restrict other materials in case of "a national emergency that we do not now foresee"—such as a coal strike.

Pleading for "immediate and favorable" action on Capitol Hill, Mr. Truman asked a one-year extension beyond March 31 of three sections of the act. The major one, title III, carries the sweeping power of priority and allocation and export and import control.

Under it, Mr. Truman asked continued authority over these items:

Foods—Grain, rice, sugar and related products; export and import control only over fats and oils; import controls only over meat, dairy and meat products, peas and beans, canned fish and protein foods.

Imported materials—Rubber, tin, antimony, cinchona bark and alkaloids, manilla and agave fibre.

U. S. products—Automobiles and tractors (quota limits on export); freight cars; the drug streptomycin.

Mr. Truman did not ask extension of inventory control, the government's wartime weapon against hoarding and a reconversion weapon against the "withholding" of goods from market.

The two other "titles" of the act which should be retained, said Mr. Truman's message, are those which (1) allow the maritime commission to run shipping lines and (2) permit the operation of ships with less crew and equipment than in ordinary times of peace.

"It is unsettling, both for business and for the general public, to be obliged to wait until the last possible moment for decision by the congress on emergency legislation," Mr. Truman said.

"I urge the congress to give immediate and favorable consideration to the limited extension of the second war powers act I have requested."

Chicken Pox Leads List

Chicken pox led the communicable disease report in Klamath county for the week ending January 25, according to the Oregon Health Bulletin, but pneumonia remained the prime health scourge in the state.

There were 26 new chicken pox cases, 5 of pneumonia, 7 scarlet fever, 1 each measles, mumps, syphilis, 2 gonorrhea.

Pneumonia showed no appreciable change throughout the state and the number of cases has now accumulated to 56 per cent over last year's figures for the same period. The 398 chicken pox cases in Oregon reported during the past four weeks bring the disease to well over twice as many cases as shown in last year's similar reports.

WAA Sales To Be Published

LAKEVIEW, Ore., Feb. 3.—The war assets administration will hereafter notify each county assessor throughout the west of all sales and leases of real property that are made in his county by this federal agency, according to word received here by the Interstate Association of Public Lands Counties from Senator Guy Cordon of Oregon.

This action was taken last week by WAA on request of Senator Cordon, who is cooperating with western county officials in their efforts to take advantage of a recent U. S. supreme court ruling that all contract sales of federal real estate are subject to state and local taxation.

Army Medics Hunt Disease Source

DENVER, Feb. 3 (P)—Lowry field medical officers today were trying to determine the germ responsible for an epidemic of respiratory ailments which resulted in a post quarantine of 14,000 soldiers, but which was pronounced now under control.

Col. Robert Platt, post surgeon, reported 95 per cent of the post's personnel had been inoculated with vaccine which produced "highly favorable results."
