

Red Paper Hits Blandly Statements

MOSCOW, Feb. 6 (AP)—The navy newspaper Red Fleet asserted today that recent speeches of Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandly and Maj. Gen. George C. Kenney were war-mongering support by U. S. "claims" on Greenland and Pacific bases.

The newspaper said Blandly, commander of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, spoke to a woman's patriotic conference and "did not spare color in describing the mortal danger which is threatening the USA."

The Soviet navy organ continued: "Describing a fantastic picture of future attack on America by the shortest air route through the north pole basin," Gen. Kenney stated: "This attack may involve 25,000,000 American victims in the course of 24 hours."

"From which actual direction such an invasion was expected Kenney, of course, did not say because it was clear to him, as to everyone, that no danger threatens the USA."

"The aims of frightening the average American by mythical invasion is entirely clear. It is exactly that way by which certain circles in the USA depend upon receiving public support for their claims of Greenland and Pacific bases."

Red Fleet, commenting on Blandly, asserted that "from further words of the vice admiral, it is clear that he is not at all opposed to the dependency of small countries on American military might."

Finnish Christmas Seals Available To Collectors

Christmas seals from Finland for the year 1939 and 1940 are now available free of charge to collectors at the Klamath County Public Health association, office, room 5, courthouse.

Mrs. Thirza DeCew, executive secretary of the association, announced that two sheets of 100 seals each were bought from the National Tuberculosis association in New York. The money was sent to Finland to assist in tuberculosis research work there.

These stamps are collector's items, Mrs. DeCew said, and one seal will be given to each interested collector.

The public health office has sent out 5800 reminder cards to Klamath county residents who have not been heard from. These persons are requested to return the seals or to please make their contribution right away so that the books may be closed.

Contributions for the seals are used in work for the general health of the county, in social hygiene, case finding and for the mobile X-ray unit which visits the county every summer to make free chest X-rays. The mobile unit will be in Klamath Falls this year in the latter part of June.

Anyone desiring information on any health question is invited to call the office. Information and leaflets on health subjects are free.
