

Oregon's William Hayward Established As Cinderpath Dean Of U. S. Tracksters

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (NEA)—Athletic Director Ralph H. Young of Michigan State listing the nation's veteran track coaches, and establishing William L. Hayward as the dean, takes a lot of us back a long way.

Bill Hayward was a big man at Oregon when I was a kid running around in mud puddles out there. In the business 52 years, Hayward, weather-beaten part Indian, is still in fine shape. Hayward, weather-beaten Oregon football teams, including two that appeared in the Rose Bowl, one of which employed no more than 15 players during the entire campaign. He could take an ailing athlete and get him ready to go in a hurry. Under him, the slogan of Oregon football players was "Don't be the first to get hurt." The result was mighty few injuries.

In recent years, Hayward has devoted full time to track, having been relieved of heavy training duties.

Hayward, an old-time professional quarter-miler, never received an academic degree from any college, yet has always been a cultured, polished, soft-spoken man who made and kept many friends, a grand companion with a keen sense of humor.

An ingenious sort, Hayward devised many types of special athletic gear.

His first job was as assistant to Walter Christie, another former professional runner, at California. There followed two years at Pacific university, Forest Grove, Ore.; two more at Albany, Ore.; College, and then Oregon, where he has been for 43 years.

At Pacific University, it was Hayward's good fortune to have A. C. Gilbert and vice versa, Gilbert, destined to become a New Haven manufacturer, went on to be the daddy of Yale's pole vaulters.

Under Hayward at Oregon, June 23, 1906, Dan Kelly was first to run 100 yards in 9.6. The then world record was questioned, but recognized. Kelly was an even better broad-jumper, credited with 23 feet, remarkable in those days.

Hayward greets include Boyd Brown, former NCAA javelin record-holder despite a crippled right hand, which forced him to toss the spear between his index and middle finger. Others were vaulter George Varoff and Ralph Hill, who ran the disputed 5000-meter race in the 1932 Olympic Games in Los Angeles. Lester Steers' 6 feet, 11 inches remains the world record in the high jump.

Little wonder athletes of other institutions and those affiliated with none long since have sought Bill Hayward's advice.

Vaughan To Try For Spot Again

BROOKLYN, Feb. 14 (AP)—Arky Vaughan, a California rancher the past three seasons, is back in the Dodger fold and will be battling it out for his old third-base post when the Brooks open spring training at Havana next Tuesday.

Arky, who hit 305 in 1949 games for the Dodgers in 1943, sent in his signed contract yesterday and at the same time the Dodger office announced Cookie Lavagetto, another third baseman, and outfielders Joe Tepsie and Walter Sessa had penned their documents.

Superior Court Judge To Hear Durocher Case

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14 (AP)—One of George A. Dockweiler's fellow jurists in the superior court, Edward T. Bishop, will decide next Monday whether Dockweiler is prejudiced in his move to set aside the divorce he granted Film Actress Laraine Day.

Presiding Judge Caryl M. Sheldon assigned Judge Bishop to the hearing, and in so doing automatically delayed Miss Day's appearance, scheduled the same day, to show cause why her divorce from Airport Executive J. Ray Hendricks should not be vacated.

Miss Day, who married Brooklyn Baseball Manager Leo (The Lip) Durocher, in El Paso, Tex., the day after her divorce, instituted the disqualification proceedings. Judge Bishop was selected to hear her accusation of prejudice from among five jurists agreed upon by her counsel and a group of lawyers designated by Judge Dockweiler as friends of the court.

Durocher won't be around for any more legal maneuvers over his whirlwind courtship of Miss Day. He is en route to Brooklyn and will go from there to Florida, then to Cuba to supervise the spring training of Brooklyn's beloved buns.

Splash Meets

MOSCOW, Idaho, Feb. 14 (AP)—University of Idaho swimmers will tackle two Oregon opponents over the week-end. The Vandal swimmers meet Oregon tonight and Oregon State Saturday.

Two Million Trout

PORTLAND, Feb. 14 (AP)—The state game commission said today it would begin releasing 2,000,000 legal-sized rainbow and cutthroat trout in Oregon this month.

First releases will be in coastal streams. The commission said the major plantings would be made in late summer and fall.

Direct Menace . . . Gambling Viewed As Sport's Big Threat

By The Associated Press

The new presidents of Washington's two largest institutions of learning see eye to eye on the value of athletics and the threat that gambling holds for amateur sports.

In interviews with sports writers in Seattle and Spokane, Dr. Wilson Compton, president of Washington State, and Dr. Raymond B. Allen, president of the university, viewed gambling as a direct menace to collegiate athletics.

"If the structure of intercollegiate sports falls down," Dr. Compton told Herb Ashlock of the Spokane Chronicle, "it will be because of gambling and not because of subsidizing and recruiting."

To check the threat, Dr. Allen told Leo H. Lassen of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer he would like to see a strong supervisory code adopted by the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

"I do not consider it necessary to set up a police authority such as a commissioner of national college sports, but I do believe that a strict set of regulations will go far toward controlling campus sports," the university president said.

He suggested that independent colleges join the NCAA to take advantage of such regulatory action and "protect their opponents as well as themselves."

Dr. Compton told Ashlock he believed "young men of great athletic talent should not be disqualified merely on that account from financial aids to their education and training. There is a vast difference between that and the type of subsidizing and recruiting which is complained of, and often justly so."

"There will always be in matters of this kind a twilight zone between principle and practice, between the blueprint and the performance. If that were not so there would be little need for regulatory and disciplinary functions of our various athletic conferences."

He saw "great hazards to intercollegiate athletics in the present growing dominance of the gate receipts complex."

Buffalo Targets Get Break

RAWLINS, Wyo., Feb. 14 (AP)—Cries of "brutality" aimed at Wyoming's first one-shot buffalo hunt resulted today in a last-minute rule change which the assembly archers declared would guarantee "clean kills" of the three bulls slated for bow-and-arrow deaths.

Under the original rules, the archers, armed with 60-pound bows and standard broad-head arrows, would have lined up at 75 yards distance and fired one shot each until the bulls were brought down.

At a mass meeting last night, called in response to newspaper charges that the hunt would be "nothing short of murder," the archers voted to stalk the bulls and fire at point-blank range if possible to assure quick executions.

The vote was taken after Roy Hoff of Los Angeles, editor of Archery magazine and 1945 national bow champion, asserted that "I cannot call my shots at 75 yards."

One of the latest organizations to take up the cudgel in behalf of the buffalo was the Victoria, B. C., branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The group sent wires to the Wyoming governor, president of the Rawlins chamber of commerce and Eric H. Hansen, president of the SPCA, in Boston, asking the hunt be stopped.

Rodeo Head Resigns

ELLENBURG, Feb. 14 (AP)—Clifton Kaynor, editor-publisher of the Ellensburg Daily Record, will resign as president and director of the Ellensburg rodeo. Kaynor told the show's executive committee yesterday he had been advised by physicians to drop all major activities outside his business.

He has been the rodeo's president since 1940.

Yankees Said Ready To Buy Unhappy Hank

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—Hank Greenberg, who only last Sunday announced he was "considering" retirement from baseball, may yet be an active player this season—with the New York Yankees.

This was learned today from a reliable source, who claimed he "knew" that President Larry McPhail of the Yankees had sounded out Frank McKinney, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, via telephone to ask if Greenberg was for sale.

The informant said McPhail offered the Pirates more money than they paid to the Detroit club for Greenberg's release. Neither McPhail nor McKinney could be reached immediately for comment.

Henley Clinches Second Place

In Basin league basketball play last night at Henley, the Henley Town team clinched second place in the county division standings by defeating Tulelake Merchants 51 to 37 in the play-off of a postponed game.

Monday night's Basin league basketball game between Malin and Bonanza ended in a 45-37 win for Malin, not for Bonanza as previously reported.

Million Homes Slated For '47

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The bureau of labor statistics estimated today that if all goes well nearly a million new homes will be built this year, at a cost of $6,000,000,000.

New home construction hit a fast pace in December, with 58,000 homes completed—more than in any month in 1946. This brought the total for the year to 454,000, the bureau said.

Hawkins In Ring

PORTLAND, Feb. 14 (AP)—Heavyweights George Millich, Sacramento, and Roy Hawkins, Portland, meet here tonight in the scheduled 10-round main event of a boxing card. Three six-rounders and a four-round bout also are scheduled.

Sportsmen Oppose Move To Divert State Game Money

The Klamath Sportsmen's association, pioneer conservation group of this area, last night passed a resolution to inform all members of Klamath county's legislative delegation that the sportsmen are strongly opposed to any move to divert any of the game commission's funds to the state's general fund.

A bill is to be introduced in the house of representatives for that purpose, and the sportsmen are organizing against such a diversion.

Win Southwell was chosen president of the sportsmen last night, Frank McCormack, vice president; James Stillwell, secretary, and W. J. Kessler, treasurer. Six newly-elected directors are Paul Winter, Rex Hiatt, Dr. G. I. Wright, John Raffeto, Ray Shearer and L. A. Smith. The sportsmen have been carrying on a program of feeding pheasant and quail during the winter season and expect that activity to pay dividends in birds next season. Also a number of magpie traps have been built and set out.

Last night Bert Rohu showed wildlife movies to about 150 sportsmen members, and a dutch lunch was served. The meeting was held in the Willard hotel.

Orange trees are believed to have been first introduced into Florida when Spanish explorers ate imported fruit and threw the seeds away.
