ably lived up to their reputation of "thoroughly" enjoying themselves.

Margaret and Nelson Reed are leaving Sunday for a three weeks' journey which will take them to the east coast and a visit with son Scott who is in his first year at Princeton. The three plan to include a whirl in New York and Margaret will visit for a brief time with her family in Pittsburgh before returning by way of Chicago. Scott hopes to make it home during spring vacation.

Home Wednesday from a four-day stay in San Francisco and seeing all the places of interest in the Bay district, Mrs. Marvin Nerseith and son Marvin and daughter Gail.

In case you parents of school children are yearning for a little trip, spring vacation starts Friday, March 28, and the youngsters don't have to be back in class until April 8. This vacation period also includes Easter Sunday!

Another lucky threesome Arizona bound. Mr. and Mrs. George Stevenson and son Stevie took off by motor Wednesday for Phoenix where they will enjoy the sun for at least three weeks. They planned to drive south down the coast highway and when they reach Phoenix will be guests of George's sister, Mrs. C. D. Hoatson.

Home from a five-week stay in southern California are the Howard R. Perrins who arrived back Tuesday. Three weeks of their vacation was spent at Rancho Santa Fe near San Diego and they reported much fun with the rest of the Klamath delegation. Dr. and Mrs. George H. Merryman and Henry N. Moe are still south. Mr. and Mrs. John Martin are home. Mr. and Mrs. J. Royal Shaw have continued on to Arizona and New Orleans where they will enjoy the Mardi Gras, and from there—on to Florida. Home much later.

Other Klamath folks staying south for all of February are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rogers of Pacific Terrace, who are enjoying the sun at Chandler, Arizona, right now.

When Dr. J. Hardin Carter flies home Sunday afternoon from Eugene, he, Mrs. Carter and Jimmy, are taking off by motor for a several weeks' holiday in southern California, Arizona and Old Mexico. In Tucson, they will be the guest of Mabel Carter's brother, George W. Martin.

Mrs. Harlan P. Bosworth Jr. and son Robert took off early today for Eugene where they will pick up June at the University of Oregon and continue on to Portland for several days. One of the real reasons for the trip is to attend the judging of state wide competition in Oregon children's art which is now being shown at the Portland art museum. Young Bob has several competitive pieces entered including an oil painting showing skaters on the ice in his back yard—the rink created when the Bosworths flooded their tennis court this winter. Bob is a Fremont junior high school student and has been drawing ever since his first pack of crayons.

The three plan to remain in Portland until Wednesday when Marie joins the Portland caravan of League of Women Voters who are descending on the state legislature for the full day. A number are going up from here. The Bosworths are expected home Thursday after leaving June at the Chi Omega house where she is a pledge.

Mrs. Richard Jones, the former Madge McLellan, left on the SS Breckenridge from San Francisco, sailing Friday morning to join her husband who is stationed at the old Japanese naval base of Yokosuka. Mrs. Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McLellan, 719 Alameda, and her marriage was an event of last October. Mr. Jones left immediately for overseas duty with the United States navy as radioman and this will be their first meeting since his departure. Living accommodations for navy men's wives have been arranged by the service and an interesting stay abroad is planned by Mrs. Jones.

Congratulations going to Corvallis to Mr. and Mrs. Don Mast on the arrival of a daughter Tuesday morning at the Corvallis General hospital. The maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chesleigh O. Moore, were northbound at 5:30 that morning to greet the new arrival who tipped scales at 6 pounds 4 ounces. Mrs. Mast is the former Barbara Moore. Don is attending Oregon State college and is a navy veteran.

Richard Thomas is the name of the Roy Whittlatch baby born 10 days ago at Klamath Valley hospital. Mrs. Whittlatch and son are now at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Waters on Pacific Terrace.

An interesting young man who is going places in more ways than one is Frank A. Yett of Portland, son of the Porter Yetts who are frequent visitors here at the Marion Barnes home. Frank has received a fellowship awarded by the national commission of culture of the Argentine government for the study of Argentina's industrial development during 1947 and is the first United States citizen to receive such an honor. The young Yetts will leave shortly for Buenos Aires to settle down for his work. Shortly after the war, when Frank Yett wanted to continue his studies in Washington, D. C., he and his wife found housing conditions so difficult that they accepted positions of butler and maid in a lady author's home in Washington. He "battled" and attended classes at the School of Advanced International studies to receive the degree of master of arts in economics—and in the meantime their story made Reader's Digest!

A thrilling trip is being planned by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Tschirky and two young children, Josephine and Tony, who have set their hearts on a trip abroad in April. The Tulielake residents are going to drive to New York in April and ship their car to Switzerland where they will spend the summer with members of their family. Mrs. Tschirky has lived in the United States for the past 10 years. They'll be home about four months from the time they leave.

Listeners last Monday night to the Telephone Hour heard the lovely voice of the Brazilian songbird, Bidu Sayao. She's Klamath-bound for a concert here April 18. The name is pronounced Bee-doo Sigh-Ow with the accent on the Ow.

No help in sight for parents of teen-agers! Seems "Open the Door Richard" is now slipping in popularity bowing to a trumpet number, "Steamroller," waxed by Billy Butterfield. Complete with chugs and zzzzzz (steamroller noises).

Good time was had by all! Mike Sullivan, Bill Hickey, John D. Murphy and Dave H. O'Connor have returned from Reno where they accompanied Tim Sullivan on the first lap of his trip to Ireland. At Alturas they missed the stage and had to charter a plane to get Tim safely off from Reno on his way east.—Lakeview Examiner.
