Wrecked Plane To Be Moved

The wrecked Republic Seabee amphibian plane in which Tex Rankin, Cy Wallan and Jack Elie were killed Sunday, is to be trucked to Portland for repair or salvage by the Rankin Aviation Industries.

Wilbur Whitcomb, airport manager, said that the plane was now at the airport and would be turned over to representatives of Rankin's company.

Two CAA inspectors, one from Eugene and one from Seattle, investigated the fatal crash, but did not issue a statement as to possible cause of the plane's failure to gain altitude before it struck a high tension line above LaVerne street.

Debate Team To Visit Here
