Tea Plans

Mrs. Errol Harner, a member of the national staff of the League of Women Voters in Washington, D. C., will be in Klamath Falls on Tuesday, March 4, and at that time Mrs. Harner will be honored at a tea to be given at the home of Mrs. Harlan P. Bosworth Jr., 544 Conger avenue. Tea hours are from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Harner expects to discuss informally legislative problems in Washington where she is a league observer. Anyone interested in the league program is cordially invited to drop in for tea next Tuesday afternoon.

On Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, the board and all committee members will meet at the home of Mrs. Edward Geary for potluck luncheon. This session, designated as a "recognition conference," will determine how well the local league meets national standards.

A few reservations are open to the general membership and arrangements may be made by calling Mrs. John Yaden, 6888.

Wedding Date

More romantic news of interest to Klamath folk was made known this week. March 29 has been set as the date for the wedding of Ione Staly of Portland to Lt. Robert N. Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Evans of 2181 Gary. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Staly of Portland.

The nuptials will be read at Fort Benning, Georgia, where Lt. Evans is stationed.

The young couple met at Oregon State college in Corvallis where both studied. Lt. Evans later went to West Point military academy, graduating last June. Miss Staly also attended the University of Southern California where she was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

March Event

Members of Reames Golf and Country club are soon to receive announcements of the festive early March dance which will feature the green and white theme of St. Patrick's Day.

Scheduled for Saturday, March 8, the affair will be for country club members and their guests. Morrison and McDonald will furnish music, and Carl Hagel will sing special vocal numbers during the evening.

The party will get under way at 8 o'clock with dancing from 10 to 2. A buffet supper will be served. The event will be formal for women.

Planning the social affair are Mr. and Mrs. Greer Drew, chairman, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Peak and Mr. and Mrs. J. Truman Runyan.

Benefit Tea

Returns were reported as most satisfactory following the benefit bridge tea given last Saturday at the Willard hotel by the Klamath Falls Woman's Library club. Up to Saturday, approximately $200 had been turned in and all moneys will be placed in a fund for the benefit of Klamath county children, the specific purpose to be announced later.

The club wishes to express sincere thanks to Mrs. Ray Oldenburg, bridge chairman, and Mrs. K. A. Moore, tea chairman, and to all members and townspeople for the reservations made, as well as all donations. Fifty tables were in play with 28 prizes awarded.

Fourteen young maids in formal frocks assisted about the room and served refreshments from the lovely tea table decorated in the Washington birthday motif.

GROUP MOTORS TO GRANTS PASS

Mrs. Paul O. Landry motored to Grants Pass Friday accompanied by her daughter, Ruth, and Jean Hilton, Marilyn McLeellan and Connie Hunt, and the five will spend the week-end in the valley. They also attended the Grants Pass-Pelican basketball game.

Captain Hunt Takes Bride In Ceremony

A beautiful bride of last Saturday, February 22, was Martha Corinne Coleman, who exchanged vows in the First Presbyterian church at Battle Creek, Michigan, in an afternoon ceremony with Captain Calvin Lawson Hunt, son of Dr. and Mrs. Warren Coe Hunt of Klamath Falls.

Capt. Hunt and his bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Corwin Coleman of Battle Creek, will be greeted here within a month following a wedding trip through the deep south. Following is the wedding story as it appeared in the Battle Creek newspaper society section.

"The First Presbyterian church was the setting Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Martha Corinne Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Corwin Coleman of 114 College, to Capt. Calvin Lawson Hunt, son of Dr. and Mrs. Warren Coe Hunt of Klamath Falls, Ore.

Three hundred and fifty guests were present for the service, which the Rev. N. Dan Braby read by the light of tall white tapers burning in branched candelabra.

White snapdragons and stock stood before a background of green woodwardia.

While the guests were assembling, Mrs. John E. Wilde played a prelude of light classical selections on the organ, including "Cantabile Nuptiale," Dubois; "On Wings of Song," Mendelssohn; and Chopin's "Nocturne in C-Sharp." Escorting the guests to their seats were Capt. Carl Stolberg of Washington, Capt. William Cassel of Chicago, Lieut. James Hurd of Evanston, Ill., and Lieut. Francis Henderson of Indianapolis, Ind., all members of the medical staff at Percy Jones General hospital.

As the wedding party came down the aisle, the bride on the arm of her father, Mrs. Wilde played the "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's "Lohengrin," and as the newlyweds left the church, she played the "Wedding March" from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Miss Joyce Redner was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Marion Steele of Grand Rapids, Miss Annette Budd of Royal Oak, Miss Muriel Fisher of Ann Arbor and Miss Betty Fleming of Chicago.

James M. Hunt came from Klamath Falls to be his brother's best man. The flowergirl and ringbearer were the niece and nephew of the bride, Betsy Marie and Corwin Coleman Hale, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hale of Flint, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were among the guests. Mrs. Hale is the former Miss Juanita Coleman.

The bride wore a gown of candlelight satin, fashioned with a high, round neckline trimmed with seed pearls, long dolman sleeves and a full sweeping train. Her full-length veil was caught to a seed-pearl-embroidered headpiece. She carried a puff of white tulle.

Then there was another service station attendant who, looking at our Oregon license plates, was moved to inquire, "Is your part of Canada near Bridgeport?" We were caught so off guard we said yes!

Our office associates have hinted that had we wired from Reno or Las Vegas or some other western playground that we'd been delayed by car difficulties they might have been suspicious. Seems that the wire from Winnemucca, Nevada, was the only thing that saved our skins.

While in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, we visited one of the lovely old homes in the district where the Carnegies and the Mellons once lived. The bedroom which belonged to the mistress of the house caught our eye, and small wonder! The ceiling was a network of solid mahogany frames with magnolia blossoms in yellow and white against a blue background within each block. Walls were of pale blue with hand carved woodwork, and on one wall was a blue tile brick fireplace with the same flowers fired onto the hearth. All of the beautiful old homes in that section have become private clubs and apartment houses. It seems rather sad to hear orchestras beating out "Open the Door, Richard" in homes that once were the last word in gracious living.

Vacationing at the Del Mar Turf and Surf hotel at Del Mar, California, this week are Mr. and Mrs. Loren Palmerton of 840 Pacific Terrace.

Home after a delightful trip to the east coast which included stays in New England, New York and other points of interest, are Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Brumbaugh and young son Alex.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank V. Prime Sr., well known Salem residents, spent several days here this week with Dr. and Mrs. Leslie W. Peate as their houseguests. Dr. Prime is president of the Oregon State Dental society. The Salem visitors continued to southern California for an extended stay.

Luncheon

Another affair this week honored Mrs. E. Webb Staunton, who will leave soon to be present for the wedding of her daughter, Florence, to Aubrey Josiah Peck Jr. at Charleston, W. Va., March 22.

Mrs. George A. Meyers entertained at luncheon for Mrs. Staunton at the Pelican party room Friday afternoon. Bouquets of daffodils added a bright touch of spring to the party.

Honoring Mrs. Staunton were Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. E. L. Bentley and Mrs. Theodore Fish, all of Tulelake, and Mrs. Percy Murray, Mrs. V. E. O'Neill, Mrs. E. A. Thomas, Mrs. George McIntyre, Mrs. Andrew Collier, Mrs. Frank Z. Howard and the hostess, Mrs. Myers, all of Klamath Falls.

Date Set

Wednesday, March 16, has been set as the date for the Sojourners' spring tea, the group's outstanding social event of this season. At the last meeting on Wednesday, tea chairman, Mrs. C. G. Hooper appointed on her committee Mrs. Arthur Rinehart, Mrs. R. E. Craney, Mrs. A. M. Compton, Mrs. A. Kusler and Mrs. C. Fyock.

Mrs. Ben Gibson and Mrs. A. E. Oines were hostesses at this week's meeting when Mary House and Mrs. J. R. Beeber were welcomed as new members.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. F. A. Murphy and Mrs. W. R. Petty who are leaving to reside in Dunsmuir, Calif.

Mrs. James Pinniger of the Girl Scout council explained the Scout program and extended an invitation to members interested in assisting. Nine tables of bridge and pinocle were played. Honors in bridge went to Mrs. Lin Miles, Mrs. A. Kusler and Mrs. Carl Steinsiefer.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. C. Bane, Lois E. Smith, Mrs. L. E. Hawke, Mrs. W. Coons, Mrs. Carl Steinsiefer, Mrs. E. Long, Wilma Lindberg, Georgia Love and Mrs. Ashley, an associate member.

Betrothal

Announced at Corvallis this week was the betrothal of Patricia Lee Schupp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Schupp of 530 North Tenth street, who will wed Francis S. Landrum, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Landrum of 2734 Derby street. No date has been set for the nuptials.

A student at Oregon State college, Miss Schupp is affiliated with Sigma Kappa sorority, and the news was told at dinner at the Sigma Kappa house Monday evening.

Mr. Landrum, an air corps veteran, is also studying at OSC. Both are graduates of Klamath Union high school.

Miss Schupp and Mr. Landrum visited their families and friends in Klamath Falls over the week-end.

Bridge Party

Mrs. William Petty and Mrs. F. A. Murphy were honored with a dessert bridge party at the Elks party room on Tuesday evening, February 25. Both are leaving soon to reside in Dunsmuir, California. Hostesses were Mrs. C. B. Larkin, Mrs. Lloyd Young, Mrs. E. F. Hobart, and Mrs. D. W. Rice.

Bridge awards were received by Mrs. Howard Kirchan, Mrs. John Rice, Mrs. Jack Insley and Mrs. M. E. Ingles. A gift from the group was given to Mrs. Petty and Mrs. Murphy.

Other guests were Mrs. Harry Watson, Mrs. Arthur Reinhardt, Mrs. William Yates, Mrs. A. M. Compton, Mrs. R. E. Craney, Mrs. C. G. Hopper, Mrs. Jack Kluhn, Mrs. A. G. Kusler, Mrs. Eric Major, Mrs. C. J. Cox, Mrs. Roy Fremo, Mrs. Lin Miles, Mrs. C. L. Svendsgaard, Mrs. W. D. Miller, Mrs. John Lister, Mrs. S. B. Hopkins, Mrs. George Gates, Mrs. A. H. Flesman of Grants Pass and Mrs. Mel Bakke of Fort Jones, California.

James Ivory, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ivory of Manzanita street, is among the Daily Emerald staff members at the University of Oregon.

AFTER THEIR MARRIAGE on Sunday, February 23, are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Alan Otterbein. Mrs. Otterbein is the former Dorothy Daily. Rites were solemnized at Sacred Heart church in a late afternoon ceremony. They will make their home in Klamath Falls.

Dorothy Daily Is Bride Of Sunday

Pink and white carnations and lighted tapers decked the altar of Sacred Heart Catholic church on Sunday, February 23, when Dorothy Daily, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Daily of this city, became the bride of Ted Alan Otterbein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Otterbein, also of Klamath Falls.

The Rev. Father John Delahunty read the double ring rites at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Bouquets of pink and white snapdragons marked pews and were used about the church.

Before the ceremony Donna Powers, accompanied by Elaine Abbott sang "Ave Maria." Miss Abbott played the traditional professional and recessional.

Miss Daily, given in marriage by her father, wore the bridal dress worn by Mrs. Jack Otterbein at her wedding. The white satin gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, leg o'mutton sleeves and a full court train. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a starched lace cap trimmed in seed pearl orange blossoms. On her white prayer book she carried a single white orchid with stephanotis and ribbon streamers of white.

The bride followed tradition with a penny for good fortune in her slipper. For something new she wore a wrist watch, a gift of the groom. A blue garter was "something blue" and her wedding gown was "something borrowed."

Donna Bobenmoyer, close friend of the bride, was her only attendant. Miss Bobenmoyer wore a gown of blue taffets with a net overskirt. On her hair was a Juliet cap of blue net with white carnations. She carried an arrangement of carnations and blue iris.

Mrs. Daily, mother of the bride, chose a black suit with pink accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of pink roses and stephanotis. Mrs. Otterbein, the groom's mother, was attired in an afternoon dress of black and gray with a corsage of Talisman roses and stephanotis pinned at the shoulder.

Best man was Leonard Scott, and ushers were Jack Otterbein, brother of the groom, and Coy Wilos, brother-in-law of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the parish house. Center of interest was the tiered white wedding cake. At the bride's table was a lovely centerpiece of baby roses and tapers in a mirrored arrangement.

Mrs. Coy Wilos served the cake after the bride and groom cut the first piece. She was assisted by Mrs. Francis Hall and Lida Nida. Mrs. Jack Otterbein was in charge of the guest book.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Rosalin Crump of Portland, Mrs. Anna Laacke of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and Donald Otterbein, brother of the groom, of Los Angeles.

For her wedding trip, Mrs. Otterbein chose a suit of Oxford gray with blue accessories and her orchid pinned at her suit lapel. Mr. and Mrs. Otterbein are expected to return this week-end from a honeymoon spent in the bay area. They will be at home in Klamath Falls.

Mrs. Otterbein is a graduate of Sacred Heart academy, and Mr. Otterbein was graduated from Klamath Union high school. He was discharged from the navy last year.

BIRTHDAYS OBSERVED

Frederick Roenicke, son of Dr. and Mrs. Albert O. Roenicke, shared birthday cake with Mr. George Knoll on Thursday evening at the Knoll home, February 27 being the natal day of both honored guests. The families had dinner at 7 o'clock.

SPRING FLOWERS, PALMS AND TAPERS decorated the First Covenant church on Sunday afternoon when Darlene M. Gehrman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Gehrman of Alturas, formerly of this city, became the bride of Erik C. Carlson, son of Mrs. Karin Carlson of Klamath Falls. Following the wedding and reception, the young couple left by plane for a honeymoon in San Francisco and the bay area.

Vows Exchanged In Afternoon Service

Deep rose and white stock in white baskets adorned the altar of the First Covenant church on Sunday, February 23, when Darlene M. Gehrman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Gehrman of Alturas, formerly of Klamath Falls, exchanged vows with Erik C. Carlson, son of Mrs. Karin Carlson of this city. The Rev. Selmer Jacobson read the ceremony at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Before the service, Mrs. Mark Johnson played incidental music, and Nell Lindbergh sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because." Mrs. Johnson played traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white satin with long sleeves and a yoke of net trimmed with silver applique. Her veil, of lace-bordered net, was held in place with a halo of net. She carried an arm bouquet of shattered pink carnations and white gardenias with white ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Carl Harris was matron of honor and wore a long gown of blue net with short puffed sleeves and bouffant skirt. Her colonial bouquet was trimmed with pink ribbons. Lois Cada and Effie Botens, bridesmaids, wore similar frocks of pink net, fashioned with peplums of blue trim. They carried colonial bouquets.

Yvonne Baillie, niece of the bridegroom, wore a short white satin frock with a net overskirt. In her hair she wore a ruffle of net with pink flowers. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Best man was Franklin Michaelson, and ushers were Lloyd Norseth and Eugene Baillie.

Mrs. Gehrman, mother of the bride, chose a pastel blue dress with matching hat and black accessories. Mrs. Carlson, mother of the groom, wore a black afternoon dress with black sequined hat. Both had corsages of gardenias and freesias.

Immediately afterward, a reception was held in the church parlors, attended by 150 guests. The bride and groom cut their wedding cake, which was served by Mrs. Harold Gourley and Mrs. Charles Heaton. Mrs. Fred Gehrman and Mrs. Peter Bliss presided at the coffee service, and Mrs. Joseph Fedder had charge of the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlson left by plane Monday morning for a week in San Francisco. For traveling the bride selected a three-piece suit of yellow with brown accessories and hat, and wore the gardenias from her bouquet as a corsage. On their return they will make their home at 927 Jefferson.

Recent visitors in Klamath Falls were Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Browne of Seattle who spent a few days here this week visiting friends. They left Thursday morning for Eugene to spend several days on business before going back north.

ROMANCE IS IN THE NEWS THIS WEEK. These three pretty lasses are the latest to join the ranks of the brides-elect. At right is Patricia Lee Schupp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Schupp, whose betrothal to Francis S. Landrum was announced this week. Above is Gloria Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Olson of Adams, North Dakota, who will wed William C. Canton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Canton of Klamath Falls, in June. At right is Ione Staly of Portland who will become the bride of Lt. Robert N. Evans at Ft. Benning, Georgia, in late March.
