Poultry, Dairy Strike Looming
PORTLAND, March 13 (AP)—A warning that all Northwest Poultry and Dairy Products company plants may soon be strike-bound was issued today by S. W. Barker, secretary of the AFL Egg and Poultry Workers union.

Pickets were scheduled to appear today at the Portland plant and Barker said they will go on McMinnville, Salem, Albany, Eugene, Roseburg and Redmond plants later.

The union spokesman accused the company of failing to live up to the contract agreements, but C. N. Norton, company manager here, denied the accusation. Norton said the firm had complied with all terms of the existing contract.

BOXCAR ORDERS
PORTLAND, March 13 (AP)—Several grain traders have predicted that boxcar restrictions would go into effect shortly to provide transportation of government wheat from country elevators to ports.
