Kiwanians Meet Here

Kiwanis club officers, directors and their wives from five Oregon cities were guests of the Klamath Falls club Tuesday for a meeting of division 13, of which Joe Hicks of this city is lieutenant-governor.

Delegates from Eugene, Roseburg, North Bend, Bend, and Redmond, as well as Klamath Falls were present. Governor of the Pacific northwest district, Don Engdahl of Spokane, was an official visitor.

A business meeting was held in the afternoon dealing with activities of the various clubs. The wives of the local Kiwanis club entertained for visiting women at tea in the Elks party room.

Climaxing the day was a dinner dance at the Willard hotel last night. In the morning the visitors were taken on an airplane tour of Crater Lake National park.

Chairman of the committee arranging the day-long activities was Glenn Inman, assisted by Ted Reeves, Spec Murray and Russ Marshall. Mrs. Inman was chairman of the tea committee, and working with her were Mrs. Joe Hicks, Mrs. Charles Mack, Mrs. Phil Hitchcock, Mrs. Ted Reeves, and Mrs. Jack Schulze.

Children Set Minor Blaze

An entire clothes closet was burned out and the house blackened with smoke when fire broke out in the Jack Hemelwright residence in Stewart addition Monday evening.

Klamath county fire department answered the call received at 5 p. m. Monday but when the crew and engine arrived Hemelwright had the fire under control. Children playing with matches was given as cause of the blaze. Damage was estimated at $200.
