

LEAVING THE CHURCH after their wedding on Saturday, February 22, are Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Lawson Hunt. Mrs. Hunt is the former Martha Corinne Coleman. Following an extended trip across the country they are at home at 515 Alameda street. Dr. Hunt is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Warren Coe Hunt of this city.

Vows Exchanged On Saturday Evening

In a simple ceremony read at All Saints Episcopal church in Portland on Saturday evening, March 22, Dorothy Drus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl John Drus of that city, exchanged vows with Leo Molatore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Molatore Sr., of Klamath Falls.

A setting of tall white tapers in candelabra amid bouquets of spring blossoms decked the altar. The Rev. Louis Keiter solemnized the rites.

The bridal party entered to the traditional wedding procession. Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a soft dressmaker suit of aqua with accessories of a cinnamon shade. Her wheat colored hat was trimmed in cinnamon. She carried a prayer book topped with a single lavender orchid and white stephanotis.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. W. W. Williams of Los Angeles who came north for the nuptials. Her suit was of rose with accessories of "stocking pink." A corsage of pink carnations was pinned at the shoulder.

Best man was Tony Molatore Jr., brother of the bridegroom, of Eugene.

A small reception, attended by the families and close friends of the young couple, was held soon after the ceremony at the home (Continued on Page Six)

Bridal Shower

On Tuesday, April 1, Mrs. Clayton Sweasy entertained at the Elks pine room for Jacqueline McLellan, who became the bride of Kenneth Larson this afternoon. Deep red tulips and narcissus were arranged about the party room.

High in bridge went to the guest of honor, Miss McLellan, and low to Mrs. Van Thome.

Invited to the bridal shower were Miss McLellan, Mrs. Elsie Sweasy, Mrs. William Owens, Mrs. Louis Meyer, Mrs. Wayne Chase, Lois Coty, Mrs. William Milne, Mrs. Thome, Mrs. John Martin, Betty Zirkle, Kay Thair, June Donaldson, Phyllis Smith, Eleanora Weatherford, Marilyn McLellan, Mrs. Art Moore and Mrs. J. R. McLellan.

Mrs. Arthur Reinhart of 553 Eldorado street plans to leave by plane Tuesday for a visit in the bay region with her sister Charlotte Curtis of San Francisco. She will be gone about a week.

VISITING IN KLAMATH FALLS on their wedding trip this week were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Molatore. Before her marriage on Saturday, March 22, Mrs. Molatore was Dorothy Drus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl John Drus of Portland.

Florence Staunton Is March Bride

Among the most beautiful of recent weddings was that of Florence Buffington Staunton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Webb Staunton of Tulelake, Calif., and Aubrey Josiah Peck Jr., only son of Mrs. A. J. Peck of Charleston, West Virginia. Rites were solemnized on Saturday evening, March 22, at Kanawha Presbyterian church in Charleston.

Baskets of white snapdragons, stock and calla lilies with tall tapers in candelabra were placed on each side of the altar, banked with fern, Smilax and huckleberry foliage with satin bows marked new. As guests gathered, J. Henry Francis, uncle of the groom, played a group of organ selections and J. M. Craig sang, accompanied by Mr. Francis, just before the ceremony.

Dr. Curtis K. Jones read the rites.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown, of cream colored satin with full skirt and court train, short sleeves trimmed in a tiny ruffle, and shoulder inset of princess lace. Her full length veil of tulle was held in place with a small crown of orange blossoms. For jewelry she wore a gold and seed pearl necklace worn by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. R. H. Merrill, at her wedding. Her bouquet was centered with two white orchids, encircled with Joanna Hill roses and lilies of the valley.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Buckner Clay, who was attired in a gown of rose faille with full skirt and gold trim. Mrs. John Mason of Lincoln, Neb., Joan Bopp of Decatur, Ill., and Juliet Lyell Clark, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids in identical frocks of turquoise faille. Katherine Staunton, sister of the bride, and Mary Louise Merrill, her cousin, were flower girls, and wore dresses of rose faille. The attendants carried old-fashioned nosegays of small spring flowers and wore bandeaux of the same blossoms in their hair.

Best man for his cousin was H. Rummel Anderson of Tucson, Ariz. Ushers were J. Henry Francis Jr., Charles E. Anderson, Buckner Clay, Bertram C. Payne, Thomas W. Murphy Jr. and Spencer D. Wright III.

Mother of the bride, Mrs. Staunton, chose a dinner gown of blue crepe with rose accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink camellias. Mrs. Peck was attired in magnolia crepe, with green orchids pinned at the shoulder.

The Edgewood Country club was the scene of the reception which followed. Bouquets of white snapdragons, stock, and freesia were arranged about the rooms, and the bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake surrounded by gardenias, with smilax completing the arrangement.

The young couple left soon after the reception for a motor trip through the south. For traveling the new Mrs. Peck selected a dressmaker suit of navy sheer wool, with navy topcoat and matching accessories. The orchids from the center of her bridal bouquet were pinned at the lapel of her coat. Mr. and Mrs. Peck will make their home at 1052 Circle road in Charleston.

Spring Theme

Spring blossoms set the theme for the first spring luncheon meeting of the women of Reames Golf and Country club Friday afternoon. Mrs. Jack Webber was in charge, and hostesses were Mrs. Fred Farley, Mrs. Martin Swanson, Mrs. R. O. Sproat, Mrs. Paul Farrera, Mrs. Robert Sproat and Mrs. John Shaw.

Following the business meeting, bridge was played. Golf will start next Friday at 9 a. m. with a low putts tournament.

Hostesses for next week's session will be Mrs. H. E. Hauger, Mrs. John Martin and Mrs. Oscar Shive.

Dinner Party

Complimenting her houseguest, Mrs. Lydia Melland of Heidelberg, Germany, Mrs. Fred Goeller was hostess to several long-time friends of Mrs. Melland at a prettily appointed dinner party at her home on South Riverside on Friday evening.

Following the dinner hour, Mrs. Melland related many incidents during the war years in Germany and, an accomplished pianist, entertained with several piano numbers.

Besides the honor guest, covers were laid for Mrs. Wallace Uerlings, Mrs. Innis Roberts, Mrs. Arthur Moore, Mrs. Eugene Bailey, Mrs. Joy Rolph and the hostess.

Mrs. Melland, accompanied by her son Richard, arrived in Klamath Falls, her former home, in February for a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. von Berthelsdorf of Swan Falls, with her many friends. She plans to leave early in April for Stockton, Calif., but will reappear here again during the summer.

Phyllis Honzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Honzel of Lakeshore drive, is home for spring vacation from Marylhurst college near Portland. With her are two guests, also Marylhurst students, Carla Packerham of Tacoma and Mary Neville of Chehalis.

ATTRACTIVE FLORENCE BUFFINGTON STAUNTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Webb Staunton of Tulelake, California, became the bride of Aubrey Josiah Peck Jr. in a recent ceremony in Charleston, West Virginia.

Church Wedding Is Event Of Saturday

One of the prettiest of the spring's nuptials was the wedding of Sharon Lee Willits, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Craver of Oakland, California, and Ralph Thomas Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sumner Hopkins of Klamath Falls, which took place last Saturday afternoon, March 23, at 4 o'clock in the First Methodist church.

The Rev. Godfrey Matthews of the Community Congregational church, read the ceremony before an altar banked with woodwardia fern and irises, with tall candles lighting the church. The wedding party walked to the strains of the processional from "Loengrin," down an aisle decked with bouquets of blue iris and acacia caught with white streamers.

Just before the service, Sherman Carter sang "O Promise Me," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Carter who also played the wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Craver, was lovely in a white organza gown fashioned with lace medallion trim on the very full, sweeping skirt and the snug fitting bodice which had a deep neckline and tiny puffed sleeves. The bride's two-tier net veil fell from a halo of seed pearls and lace medallions. Lace mitts completed her ensemble. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and sweet peas with a center cluster of white gardenias, all caught by long white ribbon streamers.

Carrying out the tradition of "something old and something new," Sharon wore her new gown, for something "old," a strand of pearls given her on a birthday a number of years ago by her father, Leland F. Willits (Continued on Page Six)

CUTTING THEIR PRETTY CAKE are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas Hopkins. Mrs. Hopkins is the former Sharon Lee Willits. The couple exchanged vows in a ceremony read at the First Methodist church last Saturday afternoon.

Klamath Man Takes Bride In Portland

A pretty bride of early spring was Jane McCollom, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Wallace McCollom of Portland. She became Mrs. Owen Patrick Moses in a ceremony read at the First Presbyterian church in that city at 8 o'clock, Friday evening, March 23. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Moses of Klamath Falls.

Tall white tapers in candelabra lighted the church. Vows were exchanged before an altar banked with baskets of white carnations and calla lilies.

The traditional wedding marches were played as the bridal party entered and left the church, and as guests assembled, organ selections were played. Dr. Paul S. Wright read the ceremony.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage. Her gown was of heavy white slipper, with a scalloped neckline and fitted sleeves. A single strand of pearls was her only jewelry. Her illusion veil was in lace and fell from a dainty headress of orange blossoms and net. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis, centered with white orchids.

Matron of honor for her sister-in-law was Mrs. W. McCollom Jr. of Portland. Her frock was of light blue eyelet embroidery. In her hair she wore a cluster of dark pink carnations and carried a nosegay of the same flowers.

Best man was Tony Molatore Jr. of Eugene, and ushers were John A. McCollom Jr., Donald P. McCollom, Stewart F. McCollom, brothers of the bride, and George Brockhaus of Klamath Falls.

Bride and groom and their parents received at the McCollom home with 150 guests present. The bride wore a dress of lavender crepe, and Mrs. Moses was attired in aqua crepe. Both had corsages of pale pink baby orchids.

After Mr. and Mrs. Moses cut the first piece of their silver and white tiered wedding cake, the confection was served by Mrs. R. R. Cooke of Portland, aunt of the bride. Assisting at the punch bowl and coffee service were Mrs. Phillip Patterson, Mrs. Andrew Chrystal, C. W. Ruzginitz, Jean Maris and Geraldine Lesher.

Soon after, the new Mr. and Mrs. Moses left by plane for Victoria, B. C., for a week's stay. For traveling Mrs. Moses chose a three-piece suit of navy with matching accessories. The orchids from her bridal bouquet were pinned at her lapel. They came south this week-end to Klamath Falls, where they will make their home.

Birthdays

Call and Sue Reinhart, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reinhart, celebrated their birthdays last week with parties at the family home on Eldorado street.

Call had her party, observing her 11th birthday, on Sunday, March 20, when a number of friends enjoyed refreshments and later attended a movie. Guests were Sylvia Hillis, Carol Jean Elliott, Nancy Kellogg, Beverly Lassett, Rhonda Lambie, Kay Angstead, Ann Henderson, Beverly Hunt, Marilyn Brandt, Sara Stewart, Susan Schofield, Sue Reinhart, Annette Jacobs and Betty Lou Tripp.

Sue was seven years old on Monday, and present at her party were Judy Woodruff, Linda Hunt, Carolyn Newcom, Sally Soukup, Jane Larkin, Ulyssa Balentine, Sue Thompson, Frances Cox and Sarah Porter.

MRS. OWEN PATRICK MOSES is the former Jane McCollom of Portland. The couple exchanged vows in that city Friday, March 21. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Moses of Klamath Falls.
