

Hobbies Chosen As Topics Of Talks

The Toastmistress club met at the home of Mrs. A. P. Heup the evening of March 28. Mrs. Heup selected "Hobbies" as her topic of the evening.

"A hobby is the reflection of the personality of person who selected that particular endeavor for her leisure time," said Mrs. Leon Kitchin in speaking of her hobby, "and embroidery work is to me the perfect medium for expressing my love and appreciation of the friends to whom it is to be given."

"Music is my hobby," declared Mrs. Emmett Childester, "and to me the music of the piano is the most expressive of all. It seems to catch all the moods, expresses all the feelings and longings of the human race. It can be soothing or stimulating, stormy or peaceful to the greater or lesser degree of the person playing and the piece chosen to represent the mood."

"I was a trader in Indian handicrafts all over the western United States," said Mrs. Helen Mueller in describing her hobby, "and bought and sold and traded silver jewelry from Keams Canyon for Hopi pottery, jewelry and baskets from Phoenix, Ariz., baskets from San Diego, Calif., baskets from the Klamath, leather and bead work from Idaho and Montana, wedding jars from Santa Fe, N. M., Navajo rugs from Kayenta."

"Relaxation and exhilaration are the results of an intensely interesting hobby," said Mrs. Anne Price, "and mine is writing verses. Work and daily cares must be forgotten and complete accord of mind and sub-consciousness attained."

"When I hold a fire opal in my hand," said Dorothea Beckwith, whose hobby is the collecting of rocks and minerals, "I hold all the sunshine, the rain and the beauty of the world glowing and quivering in one tiny fragment of gorgeous rock."

Evaluation of the speeches by member critics followed. Anyone interested in visiting the meetings, should call 6695 at any time, or 4698 evenings.
