

Lewis Decision Delay Granted

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP) Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today postponed for two weeks a decision on whether to refund to the United Mine Workers $2,800,000 of the $3,100,000 fine he imposed on the union for contempt.

In doing so, the judge said "I regret exceedingly that there hasn't been good faith" on the part of the union and its president, John L. Lewis, in complying with a supreme court mandate.

The supreme court had ordered the $2,800,000 refund provided Lewis cancelled a notice terminating the UMW contract with the government. Lewis had done that.

Goldsborough said he thought the matter of returning the $2,800,000 should be put off until July 1, the date on which the soft coal mines will be back in private possession.

But he granted a government request for the two-week delay with this comment: "This court doesn't see that good faith can be established in two weeks."

Power Failures Slow Plants

Failure of the city of Eugene hydro plant on the McKenzie river to the north Wednesday made it necessary to transmit power from the Klamath Falls plant to the California Oregon Power company, it was learned late yesterday from Sam Ritchey, district manager. It was assumed today that the Eugene plant was back in operation.

Box factory operations at Ewauna Box company were threatened today when one of Ewauna's generators went out of commission. The factory was down yesterday and Copco advised that it could not supply power but arrangements were made and the plant resumed operations today.

At 2:30 a. m. Wednesday the eastside generator of the Copco plant went out and within 11 hours replacement was made. As a result of delivery north, power voltage was low here Wednesday morning.

Budget Talk Slated Friday

The city budget committee will meet Friday afternoon to continue discussion of the budget for the new fiscal year. One position on the committee, a one-year term held last year by A. H. Bussman, remains to be filled.

Members serve for staggered terms, two for three years, two for two years and two for one year. Members are Mitchell Tilton, L. L. Lombard, three years; George McIntyre, H. E. Getz, two years; and Merle West, who served a one-year term last year and was recently reappointed for three years.

Roy Park Jr. Reenlists in Navy

Roy Leland Park Jr., coxswain, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Park of Tulelake, has reenlisted in the navy through the Klamath Falls recruiting office. Park was sworn in at the Portland recruiting office on March 30, and has been sent to the naval station in Seattle where he will be assigned to a ship for permanent duty.

Parachute Rescue

In this spectacular rescue scene, which the army said occurred near Fairbanks, Alaska, Pfc. Raymond G. Kenyon (center figure) of East Greenwich, R. I., grasps shroud lines of collapsed parachute of Cpl. Charles A. Harris (lower figure) of Waterville, Ill., while Kenyon's chute (large chute, upper center) brings both men to earth safely. Harris' chute collapsed when a crosswind blew the two men close together about 100 feet above the ground while paratroopers were making a routine jump as part of Task Force Frigid two miles north of Fairbanks. The Fairbanks Daily News Miner, from which this picture was received in Seattle, explained that the parachute at top belonged to another jumper and had no connection with the rescue pictured.—AP wirephoto.

Farm Subjects Talked Here

Three subjects of active interest to members of the Oregon Farm bureau were discussed by Lowell Steen, bureau president, at the annual meeting of the Klamath Basin cooperative, held Wednesday in the Tulelake Legion hall.

Farm bureau activities, Steen said, are establishing wholesale fertilizer, experimental work throughout the United States to determine the kinds of fertilizer best adapted to all farm areas and counties of the U. S., from a standpoint of a major soil conservation program to be carried out under the auspices of extension services through county agents.

Certain government controls and manufacture of fertilizers were also discussed by Steen, as well as the farm cooperative organization, pointing out its operation and growth of movement.

C. A. Henderson, Klamath county agriculture agent, attended the meeting with other representatives from this county.

Vaughn Taken To State Pen

Carl Edgar Vaughn was taken to the Oregon state penitentiary at Salem this morning in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Marion Barnes to begin a two-year sentence for taking and using a motor vehicle without the permission of the owner.

Vaughn was arrested March 30 while he was on parole for a similar offense which occurred last December, when he took a car from the Lombard Motor company while employed there. He told Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg when arraigned that he had taken the car while under the influence of alcohol. Judge Vandenberg didn't feel that that was any excuse for breaking his parole, as one of the parole conditions was that he was not to touch any alcohol.

Education Only Way To Prevent War

SPOKANE, April 10 (AP) — Stressing that education is the only means of preventing "another global war," Mrs. Pearl A. Wamamaker, Washington state superintendent of public instruction, told delegates to the Inland Empire Education convention yesterday that "education occupies the most important spot it has ever occupied in the history of the world."
