

Theresa Murphy Is Bride Of Monday

A pretty spring wedding was that of Theresa Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry C. Murphy of 432 North Tenth street, and Edward Calhoun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Calhoun, also of this city, which took place on Monday morning, April 7, at 9 o'clock.

The Rev. Father T. P. Casey read the ceremony at Sacred Heart Catholic church, which was lighted by many tall tapers. The altar was banked with woodwardia fern, Easter lilies, calla lilies and other spring blooms.

Elaine Abbott played the traditional wedding music, as the bridal party entered the church, and she accompanied Patricia O'Leary who sang "Ave Maria," and Ellen O'Keefe, singing "Psalms Angelicus."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of imported French eyelet marquisette over satin. The full skirt ended in a long train. Sleeves were fitted at the wrist and at the gown's sweetheart neckline was an insert of Irish lace, given to the bride by a close friend, Mrs. Patrick Quinn, of this city. Her illusion net veil fell from a halo of orange blossoms and lace. A single strand of pearls was her only jewelry. She carried a white missal topped with a cluster of white gardenias and long white ribbon streamers.

"Something new" was her gown, "something old," the lace insert on her gown, "something borrowed," her veil, loaned by Mrs. Jack Conlon, and for "something blue" she wore the traditional blue garter.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Nancy. Her white marquisette gown was trimmed with pearls and silver braid. A halo of white ribbon and net with a crown of white carnations formed her headpiece. Her arm bouquet was of white carnations.

The three bridesmaids were sisters of the bride, Mary, home from Mount St. Mary's college for the occasion, Joan and Julianne. All wore floor-length gowns. Headresses identical to that of the maid of honor were worn. Their bouquets were of white carnations and wide white ribbon.

Best man was Lauren Calhoun, brother of the groom, and ushers were Elden Baker, the groom's brother-in-law, and Dean Abbott.

A wedding breakfast was held immediately after the ceremony in the Pelican party room, attended by the families and close friends of the couple. Mrs. Jack S. Wilson later served the pretty wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun left on their wedding trip and will be at home at 441 Trinity street. For traveling, Mrs. Calhoun selected a gray suit of gabardine with matching accessories and hat. The center cluster from her bouquet was pinned at the lapel of her navy top coat.

"IN THE HEART OF THE CITY"

THE PREACHER WONDERS

Sweet scent of lilies lingered in the building—The lights are dimmed. The throngs their annual search For God too easily satisfied—their ways Have gaily taken from the house of praise. With joy the story of the risen Christ was heard; With glorious music burdened hearts are stirred; With high resolve, new courage for life's tasks To thwarted lives has come, and gloom is lifted. The preacher wonders— If on this day of days worship is sweet; And Christ's good news in stirring word and song Gains glad response; and needy lives so long Harassed by cares, find victory in defeat— Why in their need will these permit a year To pass before again they gather here.

The above poem is printed because it contains a truth which we all recognize. If Easter Sunday, or better yet, Resurrection anniversary brings so many to the house of God, why not every Lord'sday? We pray that we may be able to help keep your interest in spiritual values throughout the year.

To every person in the entire community we extend an earnest and sincere invitation to worship with us. In the heart of Klamath Falls, at Ninth and Pine Sts., the Christian Church desires to be of real help in building spiritual values in the lives of all.
