Malaria Pay Still Open

World War II veterans who have been drawing federal compensation for malaria but whose payments have been discontinued for lack of recent medical evidence may regain their place on the rolls at any time with a doctor's certification of malarial recurrence.

This assurance was given today by Patrick W. Kilby, veterans administration contact representative for this area, in answer to numerous inquiries from ex-servicemen who have received notices that their compensation has been terminated.

Kilby explained present VA instructions as follows: Evaluations for malaria relapse shall only be for a period of one year after date of the last recurrence established by medical evidence. If a doctor's statement is not received within the 12 months, the VA notifies the veteran it must terminate compensation within 60 days unless medical evidence of a later recurrence is submitted.

Ministers Hold Secret Treaty Meet

MOSCOW, April 21 (AP)—The council of foreign ministers went into semi-secret session today in a desperate final effort to break deadlocks on the Austrian treaty. It was the second semi-secret meeting of the conference.

The action was taken on suggestion by Secretary of State Marshall. It followed a declaration by Russia's V. M. Molotov renewing his opposition to including in the Austrian treaty a clause guaranteeing Austria's integrity.

When it became apparent the Soviets were unyielding on even semi-important issues, Marshall said he saw no use in repeating discussions already made and suggested proceeding as a semi-secret committee. All advisers were ordered out of the meeting room except three to each minister.

Previously Britain's Ernest Bevin had said with a laugh, "It looks as though we could get a treaty if we could agree on articles four and five and thirty-five." These articles deal with Yugoslav claims for Carinthia and a definition of German assets in Austria, which have been blocking the treaty since the first day negotiations started.

Mrs. Beardsley To Appear Here

Phyllis Benbow Beardsley will be guest artist at the evening performance of "So's Your Old Antique," presented by Community Players, Friday and Saturday, April 25 and 26, in Fairview school auditorium.

The play will be directed by Rev. Godfrey Matthews and is sponsored by the Mariners club of the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Beardsley is back in Klamath Falls with her husband, Jack, after the winter season engagement at the Turnabout theatre in Hollywood where Beardsley is technical assistant to the star, Elsa Lancaster (Mrs. Charles Laughton.)

A distinction in dramatic circles in Los Angeles was won by Mrs. Beardsley on the production of her religious play, "If The Light Be Darkness," produced this spring, which brought outstanding notice in Variety magazine. Her play has been accepted by publishers and will be offered to the public in the fall printing of Samuel French, Inc.

Mrs. Beardsley will enact the role of one of Don Blandings characters in next week's plays. Tickets may be obtained from a booth in the First National bank, 601 Main.

Air Transport Hearing Opens

PORTLAND, Ore., April 21 (AP)—A civil aeronautics board hearing on proposals to establish regular air transport service between Portland-Seattle and Hawaii opened here today.

Testimony will be taken from 14 public agencies and the four applicants for serving the route. Two carriers, United Air Lines and Pacific Overseas Airlines corporation, which oppose the new route also will be heard during the hearing expected to require two or more weeks to complete.

Applicants are Matson Navigation company, which has been operating non-scheduled flights for months; Northwest Airlines, which has sought the route for several years; Transocean Air Lines; and Pan-American Airways, which has announced it considers the route unnecessary but if approved asks consideration as an experienced Pacific carrier.

Blast Toll Reaches 421

TEXAS CITY, Tex., April 21 (AP) Roy Wade, official of the department of public safety, announced today that the explosion-dead in this sorrowing coastal city now totals 421 and said the death list will total not less than 575.

Wade, administrative assistant to Col. Homer Garrison, chief of the Texas agency, said 295 persons still are missing and 132 victims remain unidentified.

Mayor J. C. Trahan reassured Texas City that there was no danger of new explosions from leaking naphtha gas.

Red Cross Rapped

Earlier Trahan had criticized the Red Cross for its handling of relief activities in the blast-torn town. An official of the Red Cross, however, assured him that the organization was doing everything possible to aid victims.

Thirty-five bodies were recovered yesterday, the majority from the torn steel and debris in the 70-acre blast area.

A Red Cross list posted Saturday listed 580 persons presumed dead, but at Red Cross headquarters in Galveston yesterday an official said 19 of the names listed had been found alive.

The principles of electronic science as developed and taught in the navy today will win the battles of tomorrow.
