Airline Asks Klamath Via Reno Route

Klamath Falls air travelers would have an important short-cut to eastern cities via Reno, as well as direct service to numerous Northern California cities, under an application just filed with the civil aeronautics board by Southwest Airways.

Local officials were notified today by Southwest, which presently is flying to 25 cities between Medford and Los Angeles on its government-authorized feeder airline system, of the carrier's new application.

Outstanding feature is the proposed new route from Medford to Reno, via Klamath Falls, Alturas, Susanville and Portola. By connecting with transcontinental flights at Reno, local passengers would save nearly 200 miles over their present routing east via Sacramento or San Francisco, the airline said.

Alternate Flights

The application also petitions the CAB for the right to alternate flights over Southwest's present Sacramento valley route between Medford and San Francisco, via Redding, Yreka and Dunsmuir, with a proposed new routing from Medford to Klamath Falls to Redding, then south.

All told, Southwest's application would provide Klamath Falls with direct air service for the first time to 12 California, Oregon and Nevada cities.

Airline officials said that the application would be heard as a part of the new California case, which they estimated would come before a CAB examiner for hearing in August or September. Meanwhile, it will be necessary to prepare economic and statistical data supporting the need for the proposed Klamath Falls - Reno and Klamath Falls - Sacramento valley services, they said.

New Pine Creek

The biggest event on the social docket this week-end is the big Youth club cotton and cord dance given by the newly-organized club to raise funds for transporting its members en masse to attend the state grange meet in Bend next month. Although the group has not yet got its orchestra polished down to the fine point they hope to have it in the future, they promise good music for the occasion.

The club is rapidly growing and from present indications promises to be one of the most active groups of its kind in the valley. Nearly 40 members were present at the weekly meeting held last Tuesday evening. The club is planning to give some plays in the near future and assist its sponsoring institution, the East Side grange in whatever way possible with the talent it attracts, and at the same time provide a social stimulus for the younger set that will be wholesome and constructive. A large attendance is anticipated to turn out in support of this initial undertaking of the new active club.

Mr. and Mrs. "Babe" Blurton returned Sunday from San Francisco, where they have been spending the winter visiting relatives and undergoing medical care. Both are feeling fine now and expect to enjoy the summer here.

There was a good turnout for the Girl Scout party held last Saturday afternoon with Barbara and Anne Hammersley serving as hostesses. The girls are having a series of parties so each Scout can earn her hostess badge. Refreshments of light and dark home-made cake and ice cream were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Otman Vincent and family of Loftus, Calif., visited over the week-end with their daughter Mrs. Jim Cooper and family and also with Mr. and Mrs. Charley Vincent and family.

Five of the local Boy Scouts attended the Scout Jamboree held at Quartz mountain over the week-end. Those attending were Kenneth Butler, Eugene Ross, Eugene Lawson, Bob Cook and Harvey McLain, and the scoutmaster, Pearl Stewart. They reported having a big time and learned something about cooking and camping and other Scouting pointers on the trip.

East Side grange members were to have a "Pixit Party," all day Thursday, April 24, at which anyone interested was to come with their hammers, paper hanging equipment, paint brushes and plenty of pep to revamp the Modern Woodman hall for a cozier meeting place for all those who use and appreciate the hall. A potluck dinner will be served at noon for the workers and their families.

School in the lower classroom has been dismissed this week owing to the illness of its teacher, Mrs. Katie Dick, who had a relapse with the flu. Mrs. Ella Dawson from Alturas is helping Mrs. Dick with her housework during her illness.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Riggs took their one year and a half old baby to Klamath Falls to have an eye weakness treated which has just recently developed in the infant.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ross and family left last Saturday for Redding, where they will make their home. Ross will be body and fender repairman in the Chevrolet garage there.

PTA Notes

Shasta

On Wednesday, April 23, at 2 o'clock the Shasta PTA was called to order by Mrs. C. V. Golden. The fifth grades presented a play, "Musical Spring Fever," and several folk dances. Mrs. Winnifred Clawson, Mrs. Ethel Buckingham and Mrs. Lois Carpenter were responsible for the delightful program.

The history of the Shasta PTA was read by Mrs. Ivan Crumpacker, historian.

The members passed a resolution favoring the building of parks and playgrounds in the south suburban area.

Principal Elton Fishback announced the county bookmobile van would not run this summer as in the past. He offered a room in the school to the PTA to use as a library if the PTA members would donate time once or twice a week to check books in and out. There will be books for adults as well as for children. Enough members volunteered to keep the library going at Shasta school this summer. The days and time will be announced later by the chairman, Mrs. Bud Lyons.

Refreshments were served from beautifully decorated tables by the second grade room mothers. Mrs. C. V. Directions Given To Help In Finding Brighter Stars

By J. HUGH PRUETT
Astronomer, Extension Division, Oregon Higher Education System

How interesting it is to know by name the brighter stars in the sky. With proper directions, only a little initial effort is necessary. Such directions are attempted below, and are for April 27 around 8 p. m. A week later, due to the earth's movement around the sun, the stars will come to these same positions half an hour earlier. Pronunciations may be found in dictionaries.

Let us first look toward the southwest. A long, straight line of three bright objects extends from somewhat above the horizon up well toward the zenith. These three in order upwards are: Sirius, the Dog Star, the brightest star in the entire heavens; Procyon, the principal star of the Little Dog; and Saturn, the planet. Procyon and Saturn are of about the same brightness. Saturn, the only planet visible at 8 p. m. does not twinkle as do the stars. The half moon will be only a little east of Saturn on April 27.

To the right of Saturn, almost lined up with it and of lesser brightness, we find the Twins; orange Pollux and white Caster. Far beyond the Twins and considerably northwest of the zenith, yellow Capella shines in slightly greater brilliance than Saturn.

Orion's Belt

Toward the horizon a little south of due west, we see the three stars of Orion's Belt extending in a short horizontal line. They are of about the brightness of the Big Dipper stars. Somewhat above this line, bright Betelgeuse, reddish in color, marks Orion's shoulder. Sparkling Rigel, his shoe buckle, is very close to the horizon. A month from now this splendid group will be gone from the evening sky.

At about the height of Orion's Belt, but a little north of west, orange Aldebaran twinkles at the top of the left branch of the V of small stars known as the Hyades. If the sky is quite clear, we can see to the right of the Hyades the little stars of the tiny Pleiades cluster.

Considerably south of the zenith, white Regulus scintillates in the end of the Sickle's handle. The moon will appear near the Sickle, April 28. Well up in the southeast, white Spica glitters. Somewhat to its right there is a conspicuous quadrilateral of small stars known as the Crow. High in the east, orange Arcturus marks the right end of the large figure of the Kite, now lying on its side.

Almost overhead we find the famous Big Dipper, upside down. Low in the north northwest, the five stars of the W of Cassiopeia are prominent. And we must not miss the brilliant star flashing over the northeastern horizon, Vega, the gem of the mythical Harp of Orpheus.

Around 9 p. m. the planet Jupiter, slightly brighter than Sirius, will be rising in the southeast.

Poe Valley

Steve Relling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Relling, was taken to the hospital seriously ill. He is now reported better and has gone home.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Breithaupt have a new car.

Emil Wells and H. M. Tucker surprised their wives recently with gifts of new electric ranges.

Mrs. Buck Rogers and daughter spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Brown of Takilma, Ore. Mrs. Rogers flew back in her father's new plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Barnett had as their dinner guests Sunday, April 20, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burkhard, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Schortgen. Frank and Ronnie Schortgen and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lee and daughter from Klamath Falls.

Delmar Kelley is working for Emil Wells this summer. Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Brown have started their new home. They took a trip to Kerby and brought back a load of lumber.

ROTC

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—New reserve officers training corps units will be established July 1 at the University of Washington, Gonzaga university and Oregon State college, Gen. Jacob L. Tussy Deodorant should be jotted down on your shopping list for the coming week . . . because it's a warm weather necessity for the entire family . . . and because the annual half-price special on this item is under way at CURRIN'S . . . an event many have been awaiting to stock up on another year's supply.

The recipe for fastidiousness is to apply Tussy's Cream Deodorant wherever perspiration bothers . . . on the feet and palms of the hands, between the shoulders, at the nape of the neck or around the waist, as well as under the arms . . . and the nice thing about Tussy's is that it dries immediately and doesn't have to be washed off . . . for it vanishes.

This white cream is safely pleasant to use . . . and much too subtly scented to interfere with your other favorite fragrances. During the limited time of the half-price special, the regular dollar size jar of Tussy Deodorant is selling for 50 cents . . . at CURRIN'S FOR DRUGS . . . corner of Ninth and Main.

A Regular Party

atmosphere . . . not one whit diminished by the uniformed guard at the door . . . prevailed at RICKYS this week . . . during the three-day showing of the famous Harry Winston gem collection . . . in a setting of effective flower arrangements and fresh, cool backgrounds recently installed . . . adding to the attractive interior of the store . . . at 700 Main.

Klamath people who flocked to Rickys were voluble in their appreciation of this unusual opportunity to view at close range some of the world's most precious stones . . . while lots of us practically drooled over the exquisite platinum and diamond plume clip, the 60-carat star sapphire ring . . . to say nothing of better known jewels in the display!

A gratified "thank you" was expressed by RICKYS JEWELERS for the extreme interest of the public . . . which they feel is a tribute for their efforts in bringing such a worthwhile exhibit to this city.

Classic Briefers

by "Sportleigh" were presented this week by LaPOINTE'S . . . and without doubt they're the niftiest coats in fingertip lengths Martha's viewed this season . . . besides being most inexpensively priced at $25.00 for either of the two styles . . . the Cardigan or the Double Breasted.

Fashioned of quality soft Fiesta wool and lined in lovely Rayon Earl-Glo . . . the Sportleighs were featured in recent issues of Mademoiselle and Seventeen.

The Double Breasted Briefer . . . with its lapel collar and two rows of buttons for dash . . . will win the fancy of Junior Misses, to my notion . . . and it comes in four shades . . . smart white, gorgeous shamrock, adaptable sand beige or practical navy.

The gracefully full, collarless Cardigan is available in white, black or sunburst . . . and both of these new models being displayed in LaPOINTE'S ready-to-wear . . . 507 Main . . . have the front slit pockets for added swagger effect.

Cleaning Aids

at PINE STREET MARKET have a new product looming up among the big variety of items that help with the annual freshening-up job at home . . . "New Life for Rugs" . . . a cleaning, demothing compound put out by W. E. McCracken at Medford. With this it's unnecessary to remove the rug from the floor . . . one package being sufficient for two 9 by 12's . . . and it's fine for upholstery, too.

Even the garbage pail has come in for more attention with "San-A-Lizer" . . . a deodorizing gadget to suspend inside the lid to repel dogs, cats, flies and ants.

To get back to more appetizing shopping . . . have you tried Vitamized Ruskets yet? This is one of the famed Loma Linda foods . . . a whole wheat ovensweet, flaked, toasted cereal that'll add a bit of variety to breakfast menus . . . or it can be served as a crisp shortcake with strawberries.

Del Monte Whole Onions . . . already cooked in jars . . . found in the canned vegetables section of PINE STREET MARKET, corner of Seventh and Pine . . . are wonderfully good and so easy to serve creamed or buttered. Back again after a long absence is Lynden's Chicken Fricassee with "half a chicken in a can" . . . that you'll want to order for the emergency cupboard.

to lawns and shrubs are the powerful hormone weed-dandelion treatments if not used properly . . . and Martha has heard that some so-called expert gardeners are doing more harm than benefit by flagrant use of herbicides . . . but you can be assured of a satisfactory and guaranteed job from ED GREENE'S Pest Control operators . . . all licensed experts!

In quizzing a few of the homeowners who've already tried the Ed Greene Service . . . I received highly pleased comments on results obtained at a moderate cost . . . which, after all, is the best recommendation.

As important to a lush, healthy lawn as destruction of dandelions and other pesky weeds, is correct fertilization . . . and ED GREENE'S operators have had thorough training in yard needs for the Klamath area.

Phone numbers of the Pest Control Service for appointments or estimates are 3266 Klamath Falls . . . or 2013 Tulelake.
