

Dr. Oswaldo Aranha Of Brazil Named President Of Holy Land Probe Of UN

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, former foreign minister of Brazil, was elected president of the special Palestine session of the United Nations assembly today.

The tall, silver-haired Brazilian received 45 votes. Prince Faisal Al Saud of Saudi Arabia, Andrei A. Gromyko of Russia, Hernan Santa Cruz of Chile, Lester B. Eriksson of Canada and Herman G. Eriksson of Sweden each received one vote.

The official Jewish agency declared itself absent unless it is formally recognized.

A spokesman said the Jewish agency felt it "inappropriate to attend" until the delegates of the 53 member nations had acted on the agency's request for official recognition as a non-voting participant.

The U. N. previously had set aside 20 seats for representatives of the agency in the observers' section, but these were left vacant.

This was the position of the parties directly concerned.

A British spokesman said Great Britain, which holds a League of Nations mandate over the Holy Land, is ready to accept any decision the United Nations makes on the Palestine question, but will insist that the world organization enforce all of its own recommendations.

The Arab league, which is represented by five Arab states in the U. N., announced after a caucus that it would stand firm on its demand that Britain end her mandate and that Palestine be declared an independent country at this special session.

The Jewish agency, official representative of Palestine Jews under terms of the mandate, called upon the United States delegation to take the lead in advancing its demand for a Jewish national home in the Holy Land.
