Final Awards Close Annual Spring Fair

Final awards for demonstrations and exhibits at the 4-H club annual spring fair, Saturday, brought the 1947 three-day affair to a close.

At 3 p. m. Saturday Mrs. Earl Mack presented awards in special contests, according to Francis Skinner, 4-H club agent.

Of special interest to the Home Economics club members was the awarding of four pieces of stainless steel cooking utensils presented by Rickys Jewelers to four outstanding club members. Girl Scout News

The regular meeting of the Girl Scout council was held at the Willard Monday, April 21. Mrs. James Pinniger, commissioner, asked for reports from several committees. Mrs. Vern Owens, out-of-doors chairman, gave her report on camp plans for the Girl Scout camp, Camp Applegate, Lake o' the Woods. The camp committee with the aid of the program and public relation committees are working to make this year's camp the best ever. Complete details will be announced after our executive director returns from a training course which she is attending. Mrs. Parker will be at Four Seasons lodge, Isaquah, Wash., from April 12 to May 7 for special training in camping and out-of-doors programs. The office here will be open, with Betty Adams in charge.

Neighborhood Meet

Neighborhood chairmen from six neighborhoods met at the chamber of commerce April 23 at 1:30. Neighborhoods represented were Mills, Pelican, Conger, Fremont, Riverside and Malin. A point emphasized during the meeting was the duty of each neighborhood to be responsible for leaders, troop committee members and standards of programs in their own neighborhood. The neighborhood chairmen should act as a channel to pass policies and information from the council to the leaders and troop committee members and also to pass problems of the neighborhood to the council, through the office.

Malin

A neighborhood meeting was held in Malin Tuesday, April 22, with 20 adults and 40 Girl Scouts present, representing three new troops registered in April. Mrs. James Pinniger, commissioner, and Mrs. Gertrude Pruitt, organization chairman, and Mrs. Izola Parker, executive secretary, were visitors from Klamath Falls. Mrs. Elzie Roberts, neighborhood chairman, called the meeting for adults to order at 1:30. Mrs. Parker with the assistance of Mrs. Pinniger and Mrs. Pruitt worked out a "conversation piece," a new method used at the professional orientation course for discussing problems and answering questions.

At 3 p.m. two Brownie troops met and at 4 p.m. the intermediate troop met. The troops shifted their meeting dates so that all the girls might meet the visitors from Klamath Falls. Refreshments were served.

Troop Activities

Wednesday, April 23, Intermediate troop 2 met with Mrs. James Pinniger and Mrs. R. W. Rockholt. The regular business meeting was held and a budget was planned. The troop played games called "Ice Breaker" and "Observation Test," and a nature game. This meeting was adjourned until April 30.

At the meeting of troop 18 the second class girls finished work on their child care badge and will start soon on the reader's badge. Plans were made for a hike this coming Saturday, and it was announced that members will take their own lunches. Marva Swerington, a member of this troop, is in the hospital, so the troop bought stationery and flowers for her.

Brownie troop 22 visited the Lost River creamery at its recent meeting and observed the process of drying, filling and capping milk bottles and the making of ice cream. Each girl present was presented with two cups of ice cream.

Men 17 to 40—you can join the volunteer inactive naval reserve and still remain a 100% civilian. All active part that you may take in this organization is entirely on a voluntary basis.

FUNNY BUSINESS

"And don't think for a minute that I didn't argue back!"

Klamath Flying News

Visibility was poor for flying Monday due to a haze and dust in the atmosphere, and this condition plus a high wind grounded light aircraft for the better part of the day.

Due to inclement weather only one student was soloed by Shasta-Cascade flying service over the past week-end. He is Chester Stuart of KFJI, operator of the Midland radio service at the airport, and he was checked out in an Aeronca.

Hops and Landings

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Derby were among Sunday fliers taking off from Klamath airport. They breakfasted in Roseburg, 110 air miles from here, making the trip over in their BT-13 in 55 minutes and the return trip the same day in 50 minutes.

Mike Houser made a trip to Lakeview in his Ercoupe Wednesday on company business with G. R. Silverthorne as passenger, and flew over to Medford Friday.

Joe Hicks has been up in the air practically the entire past week-end. Saturday he took his Luscombe, fitted with pontoons by Klamath Aircraft service recently, to Lake o' the Woods to his summer home there, and Sunday took off in his Stinson Voyager for Boise, Ida., with George Davis as passenger, returning Monday afternoon to Klamath Falls.

R. A. Wordell, owner of several P-38's, stopped in Klamath Falls Sunday en route home to Portland, flying an AT-6.

C. C. Walker of Eugene, put his Stinson Voyager down at the Klamath airport Sunday, en route home from a week-end hop.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Coats of Tillamook, with another couple, made a brief stop Sunday at the local airport on the way to Reno Sunday in a Stinson. Coats is Tillamook dealer for this aircraft.

Several Klamath Falls private aircraft owners are making tentative plans around the hangar coffee shop to take in the crab feed and festival at Newport, May 2, 3 and 4.

Minor Mishaps

Weather Monday held up a flight scheduled from Tacoma, Wash., to San Jose, Calif., for Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Richmond, who landed at Klamath airport Monday afternoon and stayed overnight in town, planning to continue Tuesday, weather permitting.

Jerry Rajnus' Cessna is at the Klamath Aircraft service for repairs after Bud Arnold, taxiing it around the Rajnus ranch in Malin Sunday, turned it over, injuring a vertical fin, the rudder and the front end of the motor cowling. Max Menti is making the repairs.

Byron Caldwell is sowing his rice paddies near Maxwell from a Piper cub, using a seeding apparatus built by Max Menti who completed 10 such agricultural devices last year and sold them all.

Personal Items

Angling pilots Ray Royse and Pete Newbill and student Don Miller found a spot where the fish bite (they aren't telling where) and came back Sunday with a limit catch apiece.

Mrs. Mike Houser, Lakeshore drive, fell down the steps of her home Monday morning and is suffering from shock and a severely sprained left foot as a result. X-rays taken immediately after the fall showed no bone fractures.

A new prospective pilot has come to make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mocabee Jr., Homoja housing. He arrived Thursday, weighing six pounds, two ounces, and answers to the name Stafford Allen. His big brother is Norman Wayne, just 22 months his senior.

Two squatty little Funks put down at the local airport and were hangared there Sunday. They were privately owned and on a cross country flight from Tacoma. One of the pilots was named Gordon and the other's name was not obtained.

Besides giving a warning when a plane is about to go into a stall, the Safe Flight indicators, now available at the Cascade Aero Repair service, will reduce the cost of plane insurance about $7 per $1000.

Vincent Hurlihy has the first one in Klamath Falls, installed on his Luscombe.

Elton Alt and Wilton Rainwater of CAR explained the instrument as an indicator that, when set on the leading edge of the wing, is raised when the plane approaches a stall and sends a warning into the cockpit by sounding a horn in the daytime or flashing a red light at night.

This occurs in light craft at a reduced speed of about 45 MPH and is especially useful in making a landing, as the pilot can tell whether he is too high or too low when the landing stall approaches.
