U. S. Chamber Official Fears Lower Prices May Bring Recession Soon

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—An official of the U. S. chamber of commerce suggested today that President Truman's plea for lower prices may produce joblessness and recession instead of preventing them.

William S. Street, chairman of the chamber's economic policy committee, cautioned business to be watchful lest the White House call "result in wholesale cancellations of commitments both by business and the consumer."

"The Seattle merchant suggested that unemployment might be caused by the action now taken to prevent it."

"Such can be the result of failing to give our economy time to work out of its wartime dislocation by the free enterprise method," he said in a speech prepared for a luncheon gathering at the chamber's 35th annual convention.

"Sound Policy

"The consumers, prior to the president's announcement, had already indicated their dissatisfaction with some of the values represented in some markets. It seems to me that a sound price adjustment was on its way to be worked out."

Street said he is "not hopeful" that industry generally will cut prices "unless the same time there is a commitment on the part of labor that they will hold the line during the period such price cutting will require before stability is achieved." He explained:

"Until wages and prices stop chasing each other up a ladder of inflation, our hope that we can merchandise ourselves into an adjusted period while maintaining full employment becomes dimmer."

If wages and prices now can be brought into "reasonable relationship," he said, the adjustment can be healthy instead of a "very unhealthy, demoralizing one."

The chamber late yesterday adopted a formal policy statement approving price reductions "where and when business costs permit."

Strawberry Crop Early

SALEM, April 30 (AP)—Strawberry picking, which will begin in a few days, will be two weeks earlier than any year since 1941, the last early season, a survey of Willamette valley growers showed today.

Picking of all fruit crops will begin early because of the early spring, but fruit growers said their crops will be much lighter than those of last year, because of frost and cold rains during blossoming time.

Prune and cherry crops will be especially light, with many prune growers saying they won't have enough prunes to pick.

Processors said all fruit prices will be down considerably.
