Stastny Named VF Commander

Walter Stastny of Malin has been elected commander of district No. 8, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for the coming year. Other officers are: J. H. Copeland, Clifton, senior vice commander; H. G. Ruda, Lakeview, junior vice commander; E. V. Zell, Klamath Falls, quartermaster; G. E. Burris, Malin, judge advocate; J. D. Clark, Malin, surgeon; Doug Ambers, Klamath Falls, chaplain. Delegations from posts at Malin, Merrill, Lakeview and Clifton were here last week-end for the VFW meeting at which the election was held. Special guests included Francis E. Gates, senior vice commander of the Oregon department, and G. O. Pike, Portland, department service officer. Pike said he had handled 22,500 claims for Oregon veterans.

Coney Island Fire Destroys Buildings

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—Fire at Coney Island destroyed five buildings and smudged a dozen more last night. Firemen fought the wind-fanned flames for four hours. Doctors said they treated 22 persons, mostly firemen, for smoke poisoning, but none were injured seriously. Fire officials estimated the loss at $125,000. The amusement park is scheduled to open this week-end for the summer season.

Dorris Man Fined For Two Licenses

Carl David Williams of Dorris was fined $25 and $7.50 costs in justice court here yesterday on a charge of making false statements to get resident Oregon fishing and hunting licenses. He had in his possession when arrested Sunday resident licenses for both California and Oregon. The investigation was made by California game wardens, state police and a federal game officer.

Council Okays Eight Permits

A total of $14,150 worth of building permits was okayed by the city council last night. Of the eight permits issued the largest was to Delos Mills for a new residence at Elorado and LeRoy for a cost of $9500. Mills' request for a permit had been sent to the appeal board for consideration before the permit was granted, due to the house plans which called for a variance in the set-back line of the block where the house is to be constructed. The council finally granted the building inspector the right to issue the permit after it had already granted the permit to Mills.

Other permits were granted to: G. C. Tatman, repair building, 427 Main, $3500; H. M. Lewis, remodel residence, 625 High, $450; R. B. Hadley, new foundation, 203 Michigan, $300; F. Mahan, repair roof, 420 N. 5th, $200; Reuben Lundberg, reshingle residence, 2340 Applegate, $100; Lila G. Wells, replace windows, 341 Hillside, $50; Don P. Nolan, repair porch, 754 California, $50.

Camp Fire News

An evening of fun and merriment was enjoyed by the Mah-Kah-Wee group of Fairhaven school recently. The girls started the evening with a skating party at the roller rink, chaperoned by Mrs. Jamieson, their leader. Mrs. William Kaufs, and Mrs. W. Lehman. Following the skating, they adjourned to Mrs. Jamieson's home, where they had refreshments and were shown slides of the great national parks and scenes from Arizona, California, and Oregon.

The Business and Professional Women's club has sent the Camp Fire Girls a note of thanks for their excellent performance at its recent dinner. Besides making favors for all the members present, the girls had a display of hand craft, and a three-part program for the entertainment of the association. The Blue Birds in Mrs. McCann's group from Fairhaven school sang three of their Blue Bird songs, followed by a "Better Breakfast" skit given by the Ohampy group of Fairhaven, whose acting leader is Mrs. Egan. To complete the program, a member of Alpha Horizon club, Marcella Murray, displayed the ceremonial gown of Camp Fire, and described various honors and symbols with which her gown is designed.

The leader's association held its monthly meeting last week, with outdoor craft as its theme. After the regular business meeting, the leaders discussed various aspects of outdoors craft and how they might increase their own knowledge in order to guide the girls. They planned to have an all-day hike for leaders on May 21, and hope to design.

College Patter Follows A Pattern, But With Changes

By HAL BOYLE
 COLUMBIA, Mo., May 13 (AP)—Here is a sample of modern co-ed campus slang at the University of Missouri:

"I'm bushed! One of the Yo-Yo boys sitting next to me in a basket course tried to pass me his growl in a whizz quiz. 'Shoot a bear,' I told him because I didn't think it was a good lick.

"He was a four-wheeled personality but I would only go out with him strictly from hunger. Yeah, one of those get me boys. Told me he had been breaking in a new ulcer and had the clanks from purple passions.

"Personally, I just thought he had rocks in his head—zero gizmo. You should have heard his snow job! Could be bolivate! Said he liked my lipmack. Asked me to put my feet in the trough but I knew he just wanted to play kiss on the mouth.

"I gave him the fluff but he tried to twist my arm. Finally I had to tell him to drink his beer. What kind of a bimbo did he think I am? I've got my own swatty. I'd never get the deep undying hots for that rah rah collicth."

Quick Changes
 Slang changes quickly. Here is the way a co-ed might have started off on the same thing when I was learning the King's English on this same campus fifteen years ago:

"I'm beaten down to the ankles! A wise guy sitting next to me in a tough course wanted to pass me his crib notes during a snap quiz. 'Nuts,' I told him because I thought it was a bad go."

A nice lady of the class of 1890 would probably have written her mother of the incident as follows:

"I am so worried, mother dear. A fresh young man seated next to me in a difficult course attempted to smuggle me his 'pony'—a translation of those Latin text he had no right to have—during an examination on which I found easy to pass. 'Certainly not,' I informed him as I did not approve of any such improper action.

"He owns a horse and surgy."

mother, but I would hesitate to go out in his company even to get a cup of tea. Yes, he is fearfully conceited. He explained that he was highly nervous from overindulgence in a beverage called the 'purple passion,' which I believe is a shocking mixture of grapejuice and alcohol. Our authorities, of course, do not approve of such conduct, nor, you may be sure, do I.

Eccentric Individual
 "I am convinced he is an eccentric individual with no quality of character. Mother dear, you should have heard the halitery he addressed me. It was so ludicrously exaggerated! He praised the natural color of my lips, comparing them to ripened cherries. He invited me to accompany him to dinner, but I realized that his true motive was a desire to shower his unwelcome attentions upon my person.

"I rejected his proposals but he renewed them more insistently. At length I found it necessary to request him to be silent. What nature of girl do you think he thought your daughter? As you know, I have already pledged by affections to another. But even were this not so, I should never be able to give my heart into the keeping of that brash and pompous young man."

"Oh, you kid. Twenty-three, skidoo!"
