MEMORIAL
MURT, Michigan (To the Editor) I would like to have this poem printed on May 14, in memory of my grandmother, Mrs. V. M. Meyers, who passed away on that date one year ago. The writer of the poem is unknown to me. Thanks, Mrs. Dorothy Driehck, route 1, box 288-A, Murt, Mich., formerly of Klamath Falls.

Dear Grandma
In this hour of meditation My thoughts are, dear, of you; And I picture you there in an Old rocking chair, Way up where the skies are blue. You left your old sewing basket When goodbye to this world you bid But I'll bet you've got one, Grandma, One with a golden lid.

Are you knitting socks for the angels, Mending snowy linen tears, Mittens for tiny cherubs Who climb those golden stairs?

Your old wool shawl is folded away, Do you have a cookie jar? You must be proud in your angel shroud And a crown made just for you.

And Grandma, up in heaven Do you have a cookie jar? Angels meet, to nibble things sweet After they cross the bar?

Well, that's the way I see you In your greater glory there.
